Breezes Back into Congress

Powell: 'Hi Ya, Baby'

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON—Grown-up altar boy, Pentagon Assistant Director of Communications, Powell was a winner in the White House race. He had a young, attractive woman on his arm, and he was wearing a suit and tie.

"I'm back from Washington," Powell told his friends. "I've been out in the country, but now I'm back. I'm going to go out again tomorrow." Powell smiled as he walked away.

As expected, the group took no action on Powell. They did not agree to a hearing by the House Appropriations Committee. However, they did agree to a meeting with the Senator from New York.

The meeting was scheduled for the next day, and the Senator was expected to announce his support for Powell's nomination.

Powell's supporters cheered.

New 5% Savings Bonds

To Help You Increase Your Savings

John's money will yield 48.8% gain in 6 years.

Let's suppose you have $100 to save. If you put it in a savings bond for 6 years at 5% interest, you would have...

5% of $100 = $5 per year
5% of $100 = $5 per year
5% of $100 = $5 per year
5% of $100 = $5 per year
5% of $100 = $5 per year
5% of $100 = $5 per year

Total = $30

So, in 6 years, your money would have grown to...

$100 + $30 = $130

That's a 30% increase in just 6 years!
