FIVE YEARS AGO, our two-gallon boy was a U.S. Army Air Corps pilot. He was a very young man then. Our Pacific War might seem very old-fashioned today, but in those days, our American boys took their cameras with them and they captured the spirit of the times. In the picture, you can see how young and enthusiastic the boys were. They were so happy to be able to capture those moments on film. It was a different time, but the spirit of adventure and exploration was the same. Today, I wonder how those boys would feel if they could see how much the world has changed since then.
