GOV Chances Slim?

LBJ Ahead, Barry Says

BY ALEX ASHMAN

Still unswamped, LBJ's chances remain long, but the former Senate Majority Leader is making a lot of noise about the possibility of a third-party nomination. One of the most recent examples is his recent visit to Colorado, where he met with Governor Richard Lamm. LBJ's supporters are hoping that this trip will help to solidify his position as the favorite among the Democratic candidates for the presidency.

Crime Bureau Hung In Limbo

Crime bureau hung in limbo. Now the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which issued a statement on federal agents investigating the mystery of the missing persons in Oklahoma, announced that the bureau has suspended its investigation.

Editorials

Demons Pick Good Chairman

It was a welcome move to see the Demons pick a good chairman for the coming year. The Demons have been in the news lately, and it is hoped that this new chairman will help to improve their record.

Crime Bureau Hung In Limbo

It is a coincidence that the bureau hung in limbo at the same time that the bureau was investigating the missing persons case. It is hoped that the bureau will be able to find the missing persons soon.

State Editors Say

The state editors say that the situation in Oklahoma is quite serious. They urge the state to take immediate action to solve the problem.

APublic Deceived

A public deceiver is a person who deceives the public. In Oklahoma, there are many public deceivers who are using their power to deceive the public.
