DeSalvo Hunted; Two Other Escapes Caught

‘Strangler’ Tracked To Baltimore

BOSTON, Mass. (AP)—Two men who fled Bridgewater State Mental Hospital on Boston Street during last Friday night. The brazen escape marked a "dangerous" break in Boston. M.H. Clinton police were in hot pursuit of the two fugitives. The men were identified as Charles L. DeSalvo, 25, and George Monahan, 35, both returnees to jail. A Bridgewater psychiatrist said their bond terminated but he could give no more details.

The case was moved from the hospital to a federal detention center in Cambridge, Mass. Monahan, who has a history of violence, has been charged with murder. DeSalvo, who has a history of assault, was charged with assault and battery. The charges are expected to be reviewed by a grand jury. DeSalvo's trial is scheduled for October.
