Rivers Grabs Crew Training

Tinker To Miss C5A Job

The Air Force has decided to continue the training program for the new C5A transport plane at Tinker Air Force Base rather than at a base in California. As a result, Lt. Col. Robert Rivers, who has been at Tinker since 1972, will remain at that base.

Home Economists To Open Two-Day Convention

French ballet dancer and choreographer, Mlle. Elsa Melville, is shown here at the opening ceremonies for the 50th annual Home Economics Convention, held in New York City last week. Mlle. Melville, a native of France, is a leading exponent of the modern French style of dance and was a principal dancer in the famous Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. She has also appeared with the New York City Ballet and the Ballet Theatre. The convention, which was attended by more than 1,000 home economists from all over the country, featured a variety of lectures and demonstrations on modern trends in home economics.

Student Fears Affection For Boys

The Journal states that students at the State University of Iowa are growing more concerned about the influence of boys on their academic performance. According to a recent survey, 70% of the students believe that boys are more likely to spend time on social activities and less time studying. As a result, many girls are feeling anxious about their ability to succeed in their studies.

European Tour Adds Two Features

The Daily News reports that the European tour scheduled for next month will include two new features: a visit to the Louvre Museum in Paris and a performance at the Vienna Opera House. The tour, which will feature concerts in Berlin, Vienna, and Rome, will include some of the top classical and operatic performers in Europe.

HOLLYWOOD GADABOUT

By SHERILA CHRIAN

Don't be too surprised if Mr. James Cagney is decided to write his own version of the Western trip to the West. It's a sort of thing that Mr. Cagney is good at. He recently turned down the role of the famous cowboy and abandoned the Western he was to play. The role was written for him by the producer-director, the great Outdoor Yeller, the late S. Sylvan Simon. Now Mr. Cagney is planning to make a picture of his own - a picture that will be his own, not one that has been written for him by others.

In the meantime, Mr. Cagney is busy preparing for the role of the cowboy. He is studying the books, trying to get into the spirit of the West. He is also working on his scripts, trying to make sure that the story is well told. He is even planning to write his own dialogue, which he has always done in his previous films. He is not going to let anyone else do it for him. He is going to do it himself, just as he has always done.

MODERN PATTERNS

Black and white pattern designs in various shades of gray and black are featured in this section. The designs are complex and require precision in cutting and sewing. Each pattern is accompanied by clear instructions and detailed illustrations to guide the reader through the creation process. The patterns are suitable for intermediate to advanced sewers and are ideal for creating fashionable and modern clothing pieces.
Big Federal Spending for ETV: The Pros and Cons for Your Analysis

Opposition Viewpoint:

"Managed News and the Curiosity Gap Conspire With The Feds" Multi Million Spending Puts Cash Overhead On The Needs and Goals Of A Fourth Network ... Plus This Nation's Legitimate Classroom Teachers And Local Schools Could Better Use The Proposed $150 Million In Additional Taxes For An Unproven ETV Program"

By HENRY FRANKE

With the program, they're building up again for the second time. The new federal program will not be a good thing for the country. It will not make the schools better, but it will only make the schools worse. The federal government is trying to take over the schools and turn them into a one-size-fits-all system. This is a mistake. The federal government should not be involved in education. They should leave it to the states and local communities to decide how to educate their children.
