OCU Senate Slams Anti-Smut Bill

The Oklahoma Senate has blasted a new bill that would make it illegal to distribute obscene or immoral material on school campuses. The bill was introduced by Sen. Dan Murray and is designed to protect students from exposure to harmful content. However, the Senate has argued that the bill is too broad and would infringe on students' First Amendment rights.

U.S. Flunks In Math Teaching

The Oklahoma Board of Education has warned that Oklahoma is lagging behind in math education. A recent report showed that only 40% of Oklahoma students are proficient in math, while the national average is 50%. The board has called for increased funding and resources to improve math education in the state.

Pike Group Heirs Case

The case of the heirs of the late Charles Pike, who founded the Oklahoma City newspaper, has been the subject of much attention in recent weeks. The heirs have been fighting over control of the newspaper and its assets. A court has ruled in favor of the Pike heirs, but the case is expected to continue in court.

The New Harpaulus

William Buckley, Jr.
Who Exiled General Plaza

The New Harpaulus is a satirical column that often takes a playful jab at the political establishment. In this week's installment, Buckley takes a shot at the General Plaza, a prominent figure in the political world. Buckley writes, "General Plaza is a man of great vision and courage, and his leadership is greatly needed in these troubled times."

Blaze Kills 18 Orphans

The blaze that swept through an orphanage in Oklahoma City has killed 18 orphans. The cause of the fire is under investigation, but authorities believe it was an accident. The orphanage had been struggling to provide care for the children, who were often left to fend for themselves.

Kosygin Hits U.S. Bombing

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Kosygin has condemned the U.S. bombing of an Iranian city. Kosygin said that the bombing was a violation of international law and should be stopped immediately.

Weather

A cold front is moving through the region, bringing temperatures in the 30s and 40s. High pressure will dominate the area, bringing clear skies and calm winds. Temperatures are expected to rise into the 60s later in the week.
