Ethics Machinery Needed
The U.S. House of Representatives is taking action to clean up its act. Speaker John W. McCormack has authorized a panel of Democrats and Republicans to study the possibility of creating an ethics commission for congressional members. This is a step in the right direction. The system of self-regulation that has been in place for years is clearly inadequate. A new ethics commission could help to ensure that members of Congress are held to the same standards of conduct as are expected of other public officials.

Full Steam For Children's Zoo
The city council has taken tentative steps toward the construction of a new children's zoo. The area selected is in the heart of the city, and it is hoped that the zoo will provide an educational and recreational opportunity for children of all ages. The council has authorized a feasibility study, and it is hoped that the zoo will be operational within the next year.

That 'Generation Gap'
The generation gap is a problem that affects many industries, and the insurance industry is no exception. Older agents and customers are often at odds, with the result that many policies are cancelled. This is a problem that needs to be addressed if the industry is to continue to thrive.

State Editors Say
Takes Courage To Stand
The editors of The Oklahoma Journal applaud those who have the courage to stand up for what they believe in, even when it is unpopular. Such people are necessary to move society forward.

Billy Graham
My Answer
Billy Graham is a man of great faith and integrity. His message of love and forgiveness is one that we all need to hear.
