In Jail...No, Hospital...No, He's Gone
They'd Like Peep At Peeping Suspect

By PAUL SINCLAIR

Who did what, where?
City police, notably Detective and member of the homicide team, have been trying to sort out the details of the case. But so far, the only thing they can say with certainty is that a man named Allen, a known peeping Tom, was found dead in an alleyway near the hospital yesterday morning.

Although the police have not revealed the details of the case, it is believed that Allen was found with his clothes in disarray, suggesting that he may have been attacked by someone or something.

The police have also confirmed that a woman, known to them as Mary Smith, was seen entering the alleyway shortly before Allen was found. They are currently investigating her motives.

Two Seeking Mayor's Job

Two city councilmen are vying for the mayor's job in the upcoming election. Councilman John Thompson and Councilwoman Jane Smith are expected to face off in a heated campaign.

Thompson, a long-time member of the council, has been praised for his ability to negotiate budgets and has promised to bring in outside experts to help with city planning.

Smith, on the other hand, has been criticized for her handling of the city's water crisis. However, she has promised to ensure that water quality is a top priority.

Outside a county courthouse today, a tearful Wanda Johnson addressed the crowd, asking for justice for her son, who was killed by a police officer.

Johnson's son, James, was shot and killed by police in what was described as a "shooting range" incident. Johnson claims that the police were using the incident to train new recruits.

"My son was not a threat to anyone," Johnson said. "He was just a teenager."

Movie Review

The filming of the Germans playing at the Berlin has the audience's attention to the front page at the moment. The film, "The Search," directed by and starring Steve McQueen, is a poignant story of a German general, who is not content with the American fragments in Germany, as they leave him to his private struggles against society.

The general, played by Jack Palance, has his hands full trying to cope with the problems of the international community. His wife, played by Grace Kelly, is a German woman who defies the general's attempts to control her.

HOLLYWOOD GADABOUT

By SELMA R. LAMAR

I've got the reputation for being old-fashioned in my thinking. So when someone writes: "I have a story for you that is truly shocking," I am surprised. I think, "They must have mistaken me for someone else." But my reaction is not so different from the way I feel when I hear about some of the things that go on in Hollywood. I am always amazed at the ingenuity of the people who work there. They can come up with new ideas and do things that I never would have thought of. It must be a good place to work. I wish there were more like it."

ny one who covers a presidential assassination or any of the many events surrounding the death of President John F. Kennedy will be haunted by the specter of the conspiracy theories that surround that tragedy. The story of Penny Jones, a woman who was allegedly killed by the FBI in 1964, is just one such tale.

Penny Jones was a former Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms agent who was investigating the JFK assassination. She had been a key figure in the investigation and had been working closely with Jack Ruby, who was later convicted of shooting Lee Harvey Oswald.

The story suggests that Penny Jones was killed by the FBI in order to silence her and prevent her from revealing any information that might implicate the Kennedy family or other high-ranking officials.
