Local Leader Orders Drivers Back To Jobs

Work Anyway, Pannell Tells Teamsters

The president of the Oklahoma City Transfers union recently called the men back to work after a two-month strike, striking the truckers.

Bill Pannell, the union leader, urged members to "present their demands to their employers and fight for a fair price to live on as a result of their hard work." He also stated that the teamsters were "not to take any actions that disrupt the operation of any enterprise in any way."

The strike lasted 93 days after about 10 per cent of the over-earmarked freight shipments from Oklahoma City were carried by teamsters who continued service, mostly because the strike was non-essential to the war effort.

A last-minute offer from the世俗的 bosses offered to negotiate a new contract. If the talks ended in stalemate, the strike would probably continue.

Joe McGinniss, president of the Oklahoma City Business Men's Association, speaking on behalf of the employers said, "We have decided to offer to look at the matter."

BREWER WINS MASTERS

Early Leaders Bow Under Texan’s Rally

By NICK SEITZ

Brewer, a Texan, is quickly rising to the top of the Masters tournament. He has already defeated two of the early leaders, and is currently sitting at the top of the leaderboard.

Brewer’s play has been hailed as exceptional by many, and his strategy has been studied by other players. He is known for his precise short game and his ability to make difficult shots look easy.

His victory has come as a surprise to many, including the other players. They had not expected such a strong performance from Brewer, and they are now adjusting their strategies accordingly.

The Masters tournament is known for its challenging courses, and Brewer has proven that he is up to the task. His success is a testament to his skill and determination.

Brewer’s victory has also brought attention to the importance of preparation and practice. He has spent countless hours refining his swing and studying the courses, and this has paid off in a big way.

Brewer’s next challenge will be to defend his title, and he is already looking forward to the opportunity. He is confident in his abilities and is ready to face whatever challenges come his way.
