Conflict Rages Into Second Day

BOULDER CITY: The nation's armed forces added to the war in Europe Monday by designation of a new air base near Boulder City, a base for the U.S. Army Air Forces.

The new air base will be known as Boulder City Air Force Base. It is located near Boulder City, a town located in the Boulder Valley, a region known for its scenic beauty and recreation opportunities.

The base will be used for training and maintenance of aircraft and personnel. It is expected to be ready for operations by late summer.

The new air base was designated by the Army Air Forces to support the nation's efforts to prepare for war.
