Teenyboppers Don’t Dig ‘Dumbsville’ Council

By J. OWEN TAYLOR

Oklahoma City chamber is a bust for squares from downtown. To a small group of kids who like to mix at parties in the huge club.

The cat plays a complicated role in the popular downtown party. The boy, the girl, and the rat palace at 320 W. 5th St. and the club are the three main attractions.

Ed Lindsey, chief of the Linden division at city hall and president of the downtown business association, became its executive, Ronnie E. Wagner, WYN vice president and director, and former downtown boss, appeared at the downtown event.

Three Local Lines Stalled

Railroad, led by the SB, and the two major competitors, is starting in the city as a part of the railroad.

The bill for rail facilities was passed to affect future. Join the other lines and the two major competitors, which ship supplies and passengers as part of a railroad deal.

Three Injured At Leedy

Blast Burns Strickton Youth

By VIRGIL WILSON

A young man was injured near a hot water heater in the bathroom of his home when the explosion occurred.

Crisco and diesel fuel, and a number of other products for a total of $1 million.

The boy, who was following a home-made bomb, was taken to the hospital.

The bomb, which was found in a vehicle, exploded and caused minor injuries.

The bomb was under a car parked near the house.

The boys father said a magic gun has apparently caused the explosion. The magic gun was a toy gun near a hot water heater in the bathroom of the home when the explosion occurred.

Oil and gas, and the two major refineries, were shut down.

A Poverty War Battle Exposed

The second largest military is in the domestic sector of the American economy today. More people are living in poverty today than lived in poverty during the depression years of the 1930s. Federal statistics show that 40 million Americans are living in poverty today. This is a national crisis that needs to be addressed.

The first step in solving this problem is to increase the minimum wage. The current minimum wage of $7.25 per hour is not enough to live on. The federal government should increase the minimum wage to $15 per hour, which is the living wage in most states.

Leadership Past The Polls

One cannot overemphasize the importance of leadership in the political process. Too often, politicians are more interested in winning elections than in serving the needs of the people. The leader must be a visionary, a problem-solver, and a change agent.

Our people need leadership that is willing to tackle the tough issues, even if it means going against the grain. The leader must be willing to make tough decisions, even if it means making enemies.

The leader must also be able to work with others, even those with whom they disagree. The leader must be able to build coalitions and bring people together to solve problems.

U.N. Air Force Needed?

The United Nations is often criticized for being too slow and ineffective. However, there are times when the UN is needed to play a more active role.

One such time is when there is a threat to international peace and security. The UN has a role to play in preventing and resolving conflicts.

The UN can also be a valuable asset in promoting international cooperation. The UN can help to bring countries together to solve problems and to work towards a common goal.

The UN should be given the tools and resources it needs to perform its functions. This includes a strong, effective Secretary-General and a robust budget.

State Editors Say

Judicial Reform Work Long Out

The Oklahoma Supreme Court recently upheld a decision that struck down laws limiting the number of terms a state judge can serve. This is a victory for judicial reform and for the rule of law.

The people of Oklahoma deserve a judiciary that is fair and impartial. The courts must be independent of political pressure and must be able to function without fear or favor.

The Oklahoma Supreme Court has taken an important step in ensuring that the courts are fair and impartial. We commend the Court for its courage and its commitment to the rule of law.

Thought

It is important for everyone to be aware of the issues facing our state and our country. We must work together to find solutions to the problems we face.

We must also be mindful of the impact our actions have on others. We must be responsible and accountable for our decisions.

We must also be compassionate and caring. We must be willing to help others, even if it means sacrificing something for ourselves.

We must also be creative and innovative. We must be willing to think outside the box and to try new approaches.

We must also be realistic and pragmatic. We must be willing to accept the limitations of our resources and to make the best of what we have.

We must also be committed and persistent. We must be willing to work hard and to persevere even in the face of adversity.

We must also be humble and modest. We must be willing to learn from others and to admit our mistakes.

We must also be just and fair. We must be willing to treat others as we would like to be treated.

We must also be honest and trustworthy. We must be willing to tell the truth and to be accountable for our actions.

We must also be open-minded and tolerant. We must be willing to listen to others and to consider their viewpoints.

We must also be strong and resilient. We must be willing to stand up for what is right and to fight for our principles.

We must also be brave and courageous. We must be willing to take risks and to take a stand.

We must also be kind and compassionate. We must be willing to help others and to show empathy for those who are suffering.

We must also be wise and discerning. We must be willing to use our judgment and to make informed decisions.

A-Shape Is Still Around In Fashion World
By ELSIE L. BAKER

From the New York fashion front comes this report: "The girls are wearing a lot of a-line dresses, which is a shape that was once thought to be in the past. But the a-line just won't go away."

The a-line shape is still popular in the world of fashion. The dresses are designed to fit snugly at the waist, flaring out slightly at the hem. This cut is very flattering to many body types and can be dressed up or down depending on the occasion.

The a-line dresses come in a variety of materials, from heavy wool to light cotton. They can be worn with a blazer or sweater for a casual look, or paired with a blouse and heels for a more formal appearance.

Other shapes that are also popular include the hourglass and the pencil. The hourglass silhouette is defined by a narrow waist and full bust and hips. The pencil shape is slim and fitted from the waist down to the hem.

In addition to the a-line, other shapes that are still being worn include the wrap, the off-the-shoulder, and the high-neck. These styles are popular for their versatility and ability to flatter a wide range of body types.

As fashion moves forward, it is clear that some shapes are timeless and will continue to be popular for years to come.

Fun Things Seen In Tog Fashions

By PATRICK MACDONALD

NEW YORK (AP)—Now that spring is in the air, both boys and girls are dressing in the latest fashions. In New York's fashionable neighborhoods, children are spotted wearing knitted sweaters, boots, and the latest styles.

Yes, children. They have been spotted wearing the latest in fashion, and the trend seems to be increasing. Boys are seen in suits and dresses, while girls are wearing skirts and dresses.

What they wear is not just about fashion, but it's also about comfort. Children are wearing clothes that are comfortable and practical, making it easier for them to move around and play.

The Watercolor Exhibit Set is one of the most exciting things at Oklahoma City's Tog Fashions. Children have the opportunity to try on the latest styles and see what's available.
