Labor Leader Says So

Cash Lack Knifed Rightful Bid?

Oklahoma's "Right to Work" movement is being cited as the reason for the recent CWA picketing on the oil strike. The "Right to Work" movement is making its way into the state's labor laws and is being opposed by the CWA.

Henry's efforts to organize the workers are being met with resistance from the oil companies. However, he believes that the workers have the right to choose whether they want to join a union or not.
