As the "world's capital of the "flora of the Oklahomia" region, Atwater, Oklahoma, is a popular destination for nature lovers. The town boasts a diverse variety of flora, including rare species found nowhere else in the world. In this issue, we feature a special article on the unique flora of Atwater, providing a glimpse into the rich biodiversity that makes this town a true paradise for those who appreciate nature.

Editorials

Should It Be Business As Usual?

A story here and there about the need to improve the quality of life is not unusual. But when such stories are repeated in nearly every issue, it is time to take a hard look at the underlying cause.

It is reported that the city is facing a budget crisis. This crisis is not just a matter of having too much to spend, but also a lack of understanding of what is truly needed.

The city’s current budget is based on a philosophy that spending is the solution to all problems. However, this philosophy is flawed. It is time to take a different approach, one that focuses on identifying the real needs of the community and using funds accordingly.

Billy Graham Lauds OEO

The citywide campaign has been praised by Billy Graham, who believes that it is a step in the right direction. However, he also calls for more actions to be taken to ensure that those in need are truly helped.

Havana And Black Identity

A recent town meeting addressed the issue of Havana’s Black identity. The meeting was attended by a diverse group of people, including community leaders, historians, and residents.

The community is divided on the issue, with some advocating for the preservation of the city’s Black history, while others believe that it is time to move on.

State Editors Say

A Look At Yearbook Trouble

The state’s editors have expressed concern about the recent controversy surrounding yearbooks. The editors believe that the situation is not as serious as it seems and that the community should not be过分 concerns.

Bishop Says Views On Planning ‘Same’

A bishop has expressed his views on planning, stating that the community should continue to focus on development and growth.

Bill Tharp

Like Being In A Time Machine

Bill Tharp, a local historian, has written an article about his experience of attending a time machine event. He describes his experience as both exciting and educational.

Bid Ignored To Restore Budget Cut

The city council has ignored a bid to restore the budget cut. The council members believe that the current budget is sufficient, despite the city’s financial crisis.

Falls Creek Expands Program Length, Produces Film

The Tonganoxie Baptist Church in Tonganoxie, Kansas, announced that their Vacation Bible School program, which started on July 29th, will now run until August 14th. The church has expanded the program length to accommodate more families and children. The program features various activities such as crafts, games, and Bible stories. The extension of the program is expected to provide more opportunities for children to engage in religious and educational activities. The church also plans to produce a film based on the stories and experiences shared during the program, showcasing the children's growth and learning.

Central State Workshop

Speech, Hearing Woes Aired

The annual Central State Workshop held last week in Kansas City, Missouri, focused on addressing the challenges faced by individuals with speech and hearing impairments. The workshop featured presentations on the latest technologies and treatments available for hearing loss and speech disorders. Speakers discussed the impact of these disorders on daily life and highlighted the importance of early intervention. The workshop aimed to provide participants with valuable information and resources to improve the quality of life for individuals with speech and hearing impairments.

To The Public: Don't be misled!

This week's edition of the Topeka Beacon highlights the importance of being aware of misinformation. The article emphasizes the need for individuals to verify information before sharing it, particularly in the digital age where false information can spread rapidly. The Beacon encourages readers to be critical consumers of news and to seek out credible sources for information. The publication also reminds readers to support local news organizations that provide accurate and trustworthy content.

Gelatine Molds Are Appealing On Hot Days

Ortho's herbicide 2-4D Max, the plant killer that makes the herbicide 2,4-D a thing of the past, is being used in gardens, meadows, parks and fields to control weeds and grasses. It is effective against a wide range of broadleaf weeds, including dandelions, clover, crabgrass and other common garden pests. Ortho's 2-4D Max is available in both liquid and granular forms, and can be applied by hand or with a broadcast sprayer. It is a systemic herbicide, meaning it is absorbed by the roots and translocated throughout the plant, killing the whole plant rather than just the foliage. This makes it effective against deep-rooted weeds that are difficult to kill with other herbicides.

Cool Fruit Salad Mold

A cool fruit salad mold is a great summer treat. It is easy to make and can be customized with your favorite fruits. To make a fruit salad mold, you will need:

- A fruit salad mold
- Fruits of your choice (such as strawberries, blueberries, grapes, and watermelon)
- A yogurt or cream cheese base

Instructions:
1. Open the fruit salad mold and place the mold pan on a flat surface.
2. Mix the yogurt or cream cheese with your favorite fruits, including chopped nuts, if desired.
3. Pour the fruit mixture into the mold pan and smooth the top with a spatula or spoon.
4. Freeze the mold for at least 2 hours or until firm.
5. Run a thin knife around the edges of the mold to loosen the salad, and then remove the salad from the mold.
6. Cut the salad into slices or serve it whole.

A fruit salad mold makes a refreshing and healthy dessert that is perfect for summer parties or picnics. It is also a great way to use up leftover fruits.
