Bartlett's Industry Hunts Ripped

By JOE CASTLER
Secretary of State John Rogers Monday said Gov. Dennis Bartlett should construct an embargo on all new industries drawn to Oklahoma by the state's $1 billion business-cashing system launched last year.

Rogers said Bartlett's emphasis on trying to attract industries to the state was an attempt to become a "great industry leader himself." Rogers added that the state had the potential to become a "great industry leader" but that the state was "not yet a great industry leader.

Rogers, however, said Bartlett had asked him to consider an embargo on all new industries drawn to the state.

"We believe in business, but we also believe in the state's potential to become a great industry leader," Rogers said.

The state's budget for the fiscal year ending June 30 is $1.2 billion, but Rogers warned that the budget could be reduced if the state does not attract more industries.

"We believe in business, but we also believe in the state's potential to become a great industry leader," Rogers said.
