Bar Owner Refuses To Press Charges

A bar owner, who recently told two Oklahoma City police officers that he didn’t want any community slaps, was called for a second time Tuesday night.

The owner told the officers to go ahead and file charges.

The officers returned to the scene and filed the charges, according to the police department.

Anti-War Pair Slap At Charge

AS A MARCH to demonstrate against the Vietnam War, a group of young people converged on the courthouse square in Oklahoma City. The demonstration was organized by the local chapter of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), a civil rights organization.

Two Fires, Too

Crashes Blamed On Heavy Rain

Thundershowers, heavy rain and a possible tornado are blamed for the fires that erupted in the Oklahoma City area on Tuesday.

Use Any Means

The synergy of two news items is evident in the following story:

"We checked it out and it was just a misunderstanding," said James Miller, a former police officer.

"Bar owner refuses to press charges," said Miller.

"He was just intimidated by the police," said Miller.

"He just wanted to get his business back on track," said Miller.

The police officer added that the man was not a threat to the community.

Singer In The Rain

One of the most popular songs of the 20th century, "Singing In The Rain," was performed by Gene Kelly in the 1952 film of the same name. The song was written by Nacio Herb Brown and Bob Wright.

Lawn Yields Old Skeleton

At an Oklahoma City cemetery, a century-old skeleton was discovered, according to the Oklahoma County Medical Examiner's Office.

The skeleton was found by a maintenance worker who was clearing weeds from the cemetery.

Jocelyn, who is a local historian, said the skeleton is believed to be that of a person who lived in the late 19th century.

The skeleton was reported to the medical examiner's office, which will determine the cause of death.

Joy A Rainy Day

"It’s a little wet," said one woman in the crowd.

"It’s raining," said another.

"It’s pouring," said a third.

"It’s a good day," said a fourth.

The rain continued to fall throughout the day, as people enjoyed the wet weather and took advantage of the free rain.

U.S. Only Super-Power?

There are no true superpowers in the world today. The concept of a superpower is a relative one, depending on the perspective. It is not about individual nations having absolute power; rather, it's about the balance of power among major actors. The United States, however, is a unique and powerful nation that holds significant influence in international affairs.

Another Kind Of Discrimination

Discrimination occurs in various forms, including economic and social. It involves unfair treatment based on characteristics such as race, gender, or religion. Addressing discrimination requires understanding its root causes and implementing policies that promote equality.

State Editors Say

The Oklahoma Journal editors express their support for various initiatives, emphasizing the need for well-thought-out measures that benefit the state. They encourage residents to participate in public discourse and contribute to the betterment of their community.

Oil Dealer Dies At 71

The passing of the oil dealer is a significant event, reminding us of the importance of providing support to our local business community. His contributions to the local economy will be deeply missed.

Romney And The Riots

The statements by Romney about the riots have raised discussions on the role of leaders in times of crisis. The comments have been critiqued for not addressing the underlying issues contributing to such events.

Quotes

The Oklahoma Journal features quotes from various sources, highlighting different perspectives and insights. These quotes serve as a source of inspiration and encourage readers to reflect on the deeper meanings behind the words.

Burnett, Nabors: Dual Bill

By JOAN CROSBY

NEW YORK — (May 27) — Carol Burnett and her beauteous young daughter, Carrie, appeared in a dual bill with Don Adams and his wife, Nancy, at the Roxy. The show was called "Burnett, Nabors: Dual Bill." It was a hit with the audience, who laughed and cheered throughout.

The performance was full of surprises, with Nabors in drag as the title character in "The Producers." Burnett was on stage as a Lesbian in "The Odd Couple," and Adams appeared as a woman in "The Odd Couple." The audience was also treated to a special numbers by Nabors, who sang "My Way," and Burnett, who danced a memorable number to "The试题查找方法的解决方案: Random Questions Answered".

COUNTRY GENTLEMEN

and their mode of dressing

THE WrAP is now new suit is "relaxed." The new version is in a cool, cotton-flannel fabric with a full, long line in the pants and a wide belt to give it a tailored appearance. The suit is geared for a day at the races or a leisurely weekend. It is also suitable for casual wear.

Lumberjacks

Most suits are tailored for a formal occasion, but there is a new version with a relaxed fit. The suit is made of a lightweight cotton flannel and is available in several colors. It is designed to be worn with a tie or without. The suit is comfortable and easy to wear.

Lambswool Sweaters

These sweaters are made of 100% lambswool and are available in a variety of colors. They are also available in a variety of styles, including cardigans, pullovers, and vests. The sweaters are warm and comfortable, making them perfect for cooler weather.

Boys' Wear

Boys' wear is now "relaxed." The new version is a soft, cotton flannel suit with a relaxed fit. It is made to be worn with a tie or without. The suit is comfortable and easy to wear.

Women's Accessories

Women's accessories have also been updated. The new version includes a variety of items, such as scarves, handbags, and sunglasses. These accessories are designed to complement the relaxed suits and add a touch of style to any outfit.

At College

COLLEGE MEN will be all leathered up this semester in new brogues, boots, casuals and other shoes.
Whether his grades are up or down, the student
shod in the latest footwear rates an "A" for style.
A range of leather features, including smooth,
grained, brushed, waxy, suede and embossed leathers, is used in a shoe collection to cover every step
he takes on campus and off—this fall and winter.
The new leathers have been tailored to withstand
the roughest kind of treatment...甚至 life at college.
There's a lesson in econ-OMICS collegians should learn about leather. Leath-er's natural pores permit

air to enter the shoe; they also absorb body perspiration. And its molding action allows the leather to fit itself to the foot, moving with every movement.

BOLD AND booby brogues
in smooth or grained leather
are veritable college favorites, which serve for both class and dress wear. The long wing-tip version is most popular, reports Leather-
er Industries of America,
complete with pinning, perforations, and six to eight eyelets. As with all the new styles, lozenges are wider
and fuller, either curved or bluntly squared off. Linings are leather, providing a smooth dry interior.

For an even browner look, some men may like their brogues with such features as heavy harness stitching, use of scotch-grained leathers and special leather sole treatments.
Examples of the latter include shodded extension soles
and handsewn cutouts.

READY FOR a rugged fall and winter on the plains
of Oklahoma are sturdy "desert boots" or chukkas
of split leather, grained
or waxy leather treated to resist water and weather.
At northern schools where freezing temperatures call for extra protection, shearling-lined leather boots will keep feet warm and dry.
Skin type boots come with speed lacing, finger loops
and, often, stitching detail.

The influence of brogue
or boot is felt on other styles. Heavy brogue trim
is used on some slip-ons
and oxfords, while other moccasins and slip-ons are heightened for a booted air.

A VALUABLE addition to any school wardrobe are
soft leather slip-ons
trimmed with tassels, strap and buckles. They stitching, pointed laces or,
as noted, a touch of brogue
or boot. When a dressier style is indicated, the slip-
on slacks—showing only
a polished leather surface
—and sock unshattered lines.
