New Suspect Arrested In Missing Girls Case

By HUGH MORGAN

The Society of Youth Newspapers (SYN) announced today that they have identified a new suspect in the missing girls case. The suspect, identified as John Doe, was apprehended after a tip from a concerned citizen. He is currently in custody and awaiting further investigation.

The Inside News

The largest general science writer has reported that the amount of water in our atmosphere is increasing. "The Earth's Water," he explained, "is like a giant water balloon that is gradually expanding. The increase in water is due to the warming of the Earth's surface." The writer went on to say that this phenomenon could have significant effects on global climate patterns.

Shower's Due For Weekend

Colder temperatures and recent snowfall have led to a forecast of showers for this weekend. The showers will be scattered and light, with a possibility of heavier showers in the evening. Residents are advised to carry an umbrella and dress warmly.
