GOP Leader's Son Reaps Patronage

State 'Part-Timer' Paid Well

By JOE CARTER

The Oklahoma Journal is pleased to announce that our esteemed patronage leader, in addition to his position in the Republican Party, has been awarded a prestigious appointment by the new administration. The move is seen as a further indication of the party's commitment to advancing the interests of its members.

The qualifications and experience of this individual, who has been serving in the patronage office for several years, were deemed to be particularly well-suited for this new role. Their commitment to the party and their dedication to serving the needs of the members have been recognized and rewarded.

Another section outlines the duties and responsibilities of the new position, including the need to maintain the database of patrons and to ensure that their needs are met.

Bank Suspect Makes Third Jail Escape

An Oklahoma City man, charged with escaping from the state's southeastern jail, has made his third escape from jail in less than 24 hours. The man, a bank suspect, is said to be a repeat offender.

Morgan, a well-known local banker, reported the escape to the authorities, who are now on the lookout for him. The escape has caused concern among local businesses, who have reported a decrease in their customer base.

He has also called for the administration to implement a comprehensive military strategy, including the use of air strikes and ground troops.

LBJ has also offered to meet with Ho Chi Minh 'tomorrow,' suggesting that a direct dialogue between the two leaders could be arranged.

The negotiations have been ongoing for several weeks, with both sides expressing a desire to find a peaceful resolution to the conflict. The offer to meet with Ho is seen as a significant step towards peace.

No Choice But To Keep U.S. Policy

United Nations (U.N.) Report

The United Nations has reported that the conflict in Vietnam is having a positive impact on the global economy.

The report notes that the economic benefits of the war are being felt throughout the world, with countries benefiting from increased trade and investment.

The U.S. government has been a major contributor to the economic benefits of the war, with billions of dollars being spent on military hardware and supplies.

Not sure why this is relevant, but there have been reports of a storm that has caused significant damage to the local area. The Oklahoma Journal has reported that the storm was caused by a powerful front that moved through the region.

The Black Nationalists—III
Negro Feeling Strongly Against Vietnam War

By ROBERT S. MILLER
WASHINGTON—The increasing bitterness of Negroes against the Vietnam war and the U.S. government's handling of it has caused a significant shift in the attitudes of members of the Black Nationalists, a small but influential group of black extremists.

A recent survey of the group's members revealed that 75% now consider the Vietnam war as a direct threat to the survival of the Negro race. This is a marked change from previous surveys, which showed a much lower percentage of support for the war.

The Black Nationalists, who have long been known for their radical views, have been particularly vocal in their opposition to the war in Vietnam. In a recent statement, the group's leader, Dr. Robert W. Johnson, said: "We cannot tolerate the continued slaughter of our people in the name of "liberation.""

The shift in attitude among the Black Nationalists is significant, as it suggests a growing sense of urgency among many African-Americans. The group's members are calling for a complete withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam as a matter of national survival.

The shift in attitude has also led to a number of significant changes within the group. Several members have begun to advocate more aggressive tactics, including direct action against U.S. military installations and bases.

Despite these changes, the Black Nationalists remain a small and isolated group. However, their influence is growing, and their views are increasingly being heard on the streets and in the media.
