Poulos To Bare Junior College Plan

By JOE GABRICH

Young Bill Poulos has just finished his freshman year at Northern Oklahoma Junior College and is among the 150 students who will graduate today at the fall convocation.

"I have been looking forward to this for a long time," Poulos said. "It's been a dream of mine ever since I started here." Poulos plans to continue his education at a four-year university and ultimately become a doctor.

"It's been a great experience," Poulos said. "I have learned a lot and made some great friends. I am excited to see what the future holds." Poulos is planning to pursue a degree in pre-med and hopes to attend the University of Oklahoma in the fall.

If these records had another label, you'd pay at least $2 more!

They're made by RCA, with the same quality...the same artists...as the famous higher-priced label...yet you pay only $1.49 and $1.99!

It sounds impossible we know...but it is true. These albums are made in the same factories from the same materials as the high-priced labels. Everything is the same except the label and the price! We are sure you'll be delighted with these utmost worthwhile bargains. In fact, we guarantee to stop our big selection now!

OU Government Studies Expanded To Europe

The Oklahoma legislature, after a careful study of the program, has now expanded Government studies in Europe. It includes a broader range of topics and a more diverse selection of courses. The university is now partnering with several European institutions to provide a more comprehensive educational experience for students.

New Gerontological Head Female

The University of Oklahoma has appointed a new head for its gerontology program, Dr. Jane November. Dr. November brings extensive experience in geriatric research and policy development. She has been a leader in the field for many years and is well-respected for her contributions to the understanding of aging and its impact on society.
State Legislature Studying Commuter Train System

For the past nine days, the state legislature has been discussing the potential for a commuter train system to connect the capital city with the surrounding communities. Supporters argue that such a system would be beneficial for commuting workers and would help alleviate traffic congestion. However, opponents worry about the cost and environmental impact. The matter is currently being debated and will likely come to a vote in the near future.

Maharis Claims He’s Not “Too Hot To Handle”

By IRA QUINN

The Maharis have been in the news lately, with various reports suggesting their influence is on the wane. However, one of the company’s executives, Irving Maharis, has come forward to deny that there is any truth to these claims. He has said that he is not “too hot to handle,” despite some recent negative publicity.

Borgnine In Tug-Of-War

By ROYAL DEITSCHMAN

Actor Ernest Borgnine is currently involved in a tug-of-war over a new project. According to sources, Borgnine is in negotiations to star in a remake of the classic film "The Man With the Golden Arm." However, another actor, John Cazale, has also been approached for the role, which has caused some tension among the production team. Borgnine has not commented on the situation, but insiders say he is determined to get the part. This is an exciting development for both Borgnine and Cazale, who have been rumored to be interested in working together for some time. It remains to be seen how the negotiations will play out, but one thing is certain: the public is eager to see these two talented actors appear on-screen together.

U.S. Faces Space Shutdown

Russians Brag They're Planning New Exposés

Washington, DC—The American space effort, arguably the strongest in the world, is in turmoil as other nations seek to surpass it. This week saw a surge in activity from Russia, which has announced plans for new space exploration programs.

"We have seen a real shift," said NASA Administrator Jim Branson. "The Russians are not only catching up but also surpassing us in some areas. We must react quickly to maintain our lead." (Source: The Daily Express)

Despite the challenges, Branson remains optimistic. "We are still on top," he said. "We just need to respond with our own plans to ensure we remain the leader in space exploration." (Source: The Guardian)

Glass Coming Back To Take Mental Post

Dr. Albert Glass, who resigned last year to focus on mental health issues, has agreed to take a mental post at the University of Oklahoma. He will work on a team of experts to develop new treatments for psychiatric disorders.

"I am honored to have the opportunity to contribute to the field of mental health," said Glass. "I look forward to working with this talented group of researchers and clinicians." (Source: The Oklahoma Journal)

GOP Costs Irk Mike

Governor Due Plea On Session

Washington, DC—The Republican Party is facing a financial crisis as the cost of the GOP National Convention in August has soared to $10 million, far exceeding the original budget of $5 million.

"We are facing a major challenge," said Republican National Committee Chairwoman Karen Paulsen. "We must find a way to cut costs and ensure that we meet our financial obligations." (Source: The New York Times)

Job Corps Fuss Gets New Splice

Washington, DC—The Department of Labor announced this week that the Job Corps program, which provides job training and employment assistance to low-income youth, will receive a new funding allocation of $1 billion.

"This is a major step forward," said Labor Secretary Robert Wilkins. "The Job Corps is a vital program that helps young people gain the skills they need to succeed in the workforce." (Source: The Washington Post)

Where Would They Sit?

As Mike Naughton, Wednesday's night host on the Republican Convention Network, quips, "I'm not sure where the Republican Convention Network is going to be tonight."

"I think they'll be in the stuffy, white-walled halls of the convention center," said Naughton. "But who knows? They might decide to take over a private club downtown instead." (Source: The Washington Post)

War Views Cause Squabbles

WASHINGTON—Republican Senators fought over the matter of how to express the party's views on the war in Iraq. The debate centered on whether to support the President's troop surge or to call for a withdrawal of American forces.

"We need to show our support for the troops," said Senator John McCain. "But we also need to consider the long-term implications of our actions." (Source: The New York Times)

New Talks Futile In Carrier Strike
After two years of talks with ship owners and Westinghouse, the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union was unable to reach an agreement on the terms of a new contract. The talks were held on the condition that the existing contract would not be extended, but the parties failed to agree on the issues of wages, benefits, and working conditions.

State Train To Chicago In Danger

UAW Forced Into Armistice

UAW, Detroit, Mich., in a stubborn defense to the company's decision to close its plant in Chicago, Thursday, has called a strike on its members in the city's area. The union, which represents about 1,000 workers, has given the company 48 hours to negotiate a new contract or face a 10-day strike. The company, which operates a plant in Chicago, has announced that it plans to shut down operations there.

Governor In Business

CONCORD, N.C. - Cotton growers, who have been met repeatedly by broadcasters in recent years, have decided to increase their efforts in the field of television. Governor Earle S. Goss, who is president of the State Tobacco Association, said that the growers are preparing a new series of television programs to be aired throughout the state. The series, which will be called "The Farmer's Voice," will feature interviews with farmers, farm managers, and agricultural experts. The programs will be broadcast on Saturday evenings at 8:00 p.m., and will air on both national and local networks.
