'Black Box' Rations Smokes For Expert On Lung Cancer

By DAVID FROHMAN

"It's a tough doctor and a tough disease," Dr. Sol L. H. Ziering of the New York Institute for Rehabilitation Medicine and the New York University School of Medicine said yesterday.

"It's a tough disease because it's so difficult to treat. It's a tough doctor because he won't treat it."

Dr. Ziering is the author of "Black Box Rations Smokes," a new book published by Ballantine Books which tells the story of the struggle against lung cancer.

"Black Box Rations Smokes" is not only a medical history, but also a personal story. Dr. Ziering tells of his own battle with lung cancer, which he was diagnosed with in 1969.

"I was told that I had a 50-50 chance of living for another two years," Dr. Ziering recalls.

"But I refused to accept that. I refused to believe that I was going to die. I refused to accept the diagnosis."

Dr. Ziering then embarked on a course of treatment that included surgery, chemotherapy, and radiation therapy.

"It was a difficult time," he says. "But I refused to give up. I refused to accept the diagnosis."

"I refused to accept the diagnosis because I knew that there was more to the story. I knew that there was more to the disease."

Dr. Ziering's book chronicles his journey from diagnosis to remission, and from remission to recovery.

"It's a tough medical history," he says. "But it's also a personal story. It's about a man who refused to give up. It's about a man who refused to accept the diagnosis."

"It's about a man who refused to give up on his life."

Dr. Ziering's book is available at bookstores nationwide.

Fund Drive In Home Stretch

Your local United Fund Drive is now in its final days of solicitation. Winning the race for funds is a matter of personal responsibility for each of us. Daily, we are told the progress being made, and the necessity for us to contribute our share. It is up to each of us to do our own part. Help win this sweepstakes, please.

An Open Letter To The Teachers Of Oklahoma

Dear Teacher:

Thank you for your willing contribution to our local United Fund Drive. Each of us is willing to give a helping hand. Let us, therefore, offer to you the opportunity to be rewarded for your efforts, by having your name entered for a chance to win a new color television, supplied by the TV Shop. This is no sale, but an old teacher's name entered in the list. We can assure you, teachers, that no one else will have the same name entered. So make sure the name is in the list. Send your name to the United Fund Drive.

Cigarettes

The rise in the cost of cigarettes has caused a lot of trouble for smokers. The government has recently announced a significant increase in the price of cigarettes, which has caused a lot of concern among smokers. However, there are ways to save money on cigarettes. One option is to buy cigarettes in bulk, which can often be cheaper than buying them individually. Another option is to look for sales or discounts at local stores, as they often have deals on certain brands or types of cigarettes.
