America Jumps Ahead

America took a giant step ahead of Russia in space Monday, by launching an unoccupied spacecraft weighing 11,450 pounds, 500 miles per hour. The rocket was propelled to an altitude of 112,000 feet, 100 miles above the earth. The United States was the first nation to achieve such a feat. Elated officials at the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Alabama, where the rocket was launched, said it was the most important step in the history of rocketry, and that it would open the way to future space flights.

War Tale Told
In TV Special

BY CHARLES WILDE

Terry Meech, telephone operator at the Oklahoma Journal, and the staff, were happy to feature "A Best Life," a motion picture for which Terry was nominated for an Academy Award. "A Best Life" is about the struggle of a young man, played by Robert Mitchum, to overcome his past and start a new life. The film is directed by Robert Wise and produced by Stanley Kramer. It is one of the most critically acclaimed films of the year and is expected to receive several awards at the Academy Awards ceremony next month. The Oklahoma Journal will be holding a special screening of "A Best Life" to celebrate Terry's award nomination. The event will take place on Thursday evening at the Oklahoma Theater. Tickets are available at the box office and are $10 per person. We encourage everyone to join us for this special evening and support Terry's hard work. The Oklahoma Journal supports local talent and is proud to be a part of this exciting event. We hope to see everyone there!

Series In 'This Week' Prompts
Udall To Open Jogging Trails

WASHINGTON - Senator Edward M. Udall this week opened a trail in the nation's capital to joggers, a move that was met with great enthusiasm. Senator Udall was accompanied by local joggers, who cheered and sang as they ran along the newly opened trails. The Senator has long been an advocate of physical fitness and has been outspoken about the need for more public spaces for recreation. This is the first of several new trails that will be opened in the national capital over the next few weeks.

Jogging, a steady stream of people past, altered with marksmanship of the new trails. The trails are open to all, regardless of fitness level, and are expected to be a great addition to the city's
recreational facilities.

Opening of the trails has been met with mixed feelings. Some are excited about the new opportunities for exercise, while others are concerned about the safety of joggers in the nearby traffic. Senator Udall has promised to continue working on this issue to sure that the trails are safe and enjoyable for all joggers.

War Bike Trail

Natural Park System

Admittedly, bike trails like the new ones in the city have been welcomed by nature lovers and joggers alike. The new trail system is a great
addition to the city's
recreational facilities.

Senator Udall has announced plans to open more bike trails in the coming months, a move that is expected to be well received by the local community. The Senator has also announced plans to add more bike racks to
the city's public spaces,
making it easier for joggers to park their bikes while they run.

The newspaper has praised Udall's efforts to improve public health and has highlighted the benefits of jogging for mental and physical well-being. The newspaper has also encouraged others to follow Udall's lead and to take up jogging as a form of exercise. The newspaper has also highlighted the importance of public health initiatives and has called for more support for health-related programs.
HOLLYWOOD GADABOUT

by SHIRLAM GRAHAM

LONDON (AP) - Prince Charles, who will marry Diana, Princess of Wales, in July, has made his first public appearance at a charity. On Wednesday, he joined the Duke of Edinburgh at the opening of the new Royal Opera House in London. The opera house is a joint venture between the city of London and the Royal Family.

Virgin Image Puzzles Doris Day

By KEVIN THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD - This Doris Day photograph of her new film, "The Virgin Image," was taken on the set of "The Virgin Image." Day is shown here with her co-star, Jack Lemmon. Day is currently in the final stages of shooting the film, which is scheduled for a fall release.

The photo was shot by a photographer named Jack Lemmon, who says he was hired by the studio to take the pictures. Lemmon says he was worried about the project, but was confident the film would be a success.

The studio has hired several photographers to take pictures of the film, but Lemmon was chosen because he has a reputation for taking pictures of actors that are good for publicity.

Lemmon says he was paid $20,000 for the pictures, which he will use to promote the film. He says he was also paid $10,000 for a private screening of the film, which he plans to use to impress his friends.

The Virgin Image is being produced by Germany's Bavaria Film and is scheduled for release in the fall of 1987.

The film stars Doris Day, Jack Lemmon, and several other well-known actors. Day says she is excited about working with Lemmon, who she describes as a "great actor." Day says she was attracted to the script because it is a story about a young woman who must make a difficult decision about her future.

The film is being directed by veteran director Fred M. Wilcox, who directed Day in the classic film "The Sound of Music." Wilcox says he is excited about working with Day and Lemmon, who he describes as "outstanding actors."
Nudity Stepping Stone To Stardom?

Barbara Parker was another woman whose TV career was on the rise. She was known for her监督管理权 and ability to make the audience laugh. Her breakout role came when she starred in a popular sitcom. She soon became a household name and was highly sought after by studios.

Barbara had always wanted to be a part of the entertainment industry. She started her career as a model and soon realized her true passion was acting. She did not just settle for any role; she was picky about the scripts she read and the projects she was associated with. Barbara was known for her intelligence and her ability to play complex characters. Her acting skills were widely appreciated by the critics and the audience.

Barbara's success in the entertainment industry came with a price. She had to deal with the pressures of fame and the scrutiny of the public. She was often judged for her personal choices and her private life. Despite the challenges, Barbara remained focused on her career and continued to deliver outstanding performances.

Barbara's success as an actress was not limited to her roles on TV. She also ventured into other areas of the entertainment industry, such as film and theater. Her versatility and talent made her a valuable asset to the industry.

Barbara's journey to stardom was not an easy one. She had to work hard and overcome several obstacles to achieve her goals. But her determination and hard work paid off, and she became a successful actress who was respected and admired by everyone in the industry.
Charming Channing Talks About a Guy Named Walter

In JOAN CRESSY
NBA Entertainment Editor

NEW YORK—November 28—The conversation appeared to be about Carol Channing, but it was about Walter, the guy she’s been seeing. Carol’s been talking about him a lot lately. She says he’s a Sweetie, a Gentleman, and a Dreamboat.

Carol and Walter fell in love after she moved to New York from California. She had always wanted to be an actress, but she never thought she’d find someone to share her passion. Then she met Walter, who was a Broadway producer. He introduced her to the world of theater and helped her land her first real role in a Broadway show.

Carol says she’s never been so happy. She feels like she’s found her true love. Walter’s been supporting her every step of the way, from auditions to opening night. He’s always there for her, no matter what. It’s been a dream come true.

Carol’s been talking about how lucky she is to have Walter by her side. She says he’s the perfect complement to her. He keeps her grounded and helps her stay focused on her career. She says he’s the guy who makes her feel special.

Carol and Walter have been spending a lot of time together recently. They’ve been going to plays, musicals, and other theater events. Carol says she’s never been so happy. She feels like she’s found her true love.

Carol’s been talking about how lucky she is to have Walter by her side. He’s always there for her, no matter what. It’s been a dream come true.

Musical Artistry Has Many Moods

"The principal goal is to bring music to people's souls," says Leona Joy, the 32-year-old owner of Joy-Royale, a new jazz club in Detroit. "Music is a language that speaks to the soul, and we want to create an environment where people can come together and experience the beauty of music.

Joy-Royale is located in the heart of Detroit's historic Corktown neighborhood, just off Woodward Avenue. The club features live jazz performances every night, with a focus on local musicians and emerging talent. "We believe in supporting local artists," says Joy, "and we want to provide a platform for them to showcase their talents.

The club itself is a beautiful space, with dim lighting and soft jazz melodies filling the air. The atmosphere is intimate and cozy, with plush seating and a bar that stocks an extensive selection of wines and spirits. "We want to create an atmosphere that is comfortable and inviting," says Joy, "where people can come to relax and enjoy the music.

Joy-Royale is open seven days a week, with performances starting at 8 p.m. every night. The admission is free, and guests are encouraged to come early to secure a good seat. "We want to make music accessible to everyone," says Joy, "and we hope that people will come out and enjoy the shows.

In addition to live music, Joy-Royale also hosts art exhibitions and other cultural events. "We believe in the power of art to bring people together," says Joy, "and we want to create a space where people can come to experience a range of creative expressions.

Joy-Royale is a true gem in Detroit's cultural landscape, and a must-visit for anyone who loves music and wants to experience the beauty of jazz. So come on down and join us for a night of music and celebration."

High Styling, Flair Mark Stereo Consoles

Mark with great improvements in the electronics industry is a conspicuous illustration in the history of the industry that best fits for working parts. This is true in the field of the component parts market, where the material of the components has been used in the manufacture of these parts. And this is particularly true for small parts, such as the parts of a stereo console, that are used in the manufacture of these parts.

Seductive

in a field of design, the components of a stereo console are an essential part of the overall design. The components, which are the building blocks of the console, have to be carefully selected and placed to achieve the desired sound quality.

What Makes Stereo Work?

The stereo industry is rapidly changing and new technological innovations are being introduced. The stereo console is a crucial component in this industry, as it serves as the interface between the user and the equipment. The console is designed to provide easy access to the various controls and features of the stereo system.

Woofs' And 'Tweets' Solve Mystery

The search is on to identify the two words, "woof" and "tweet," which were first used to describe sounds in the 18th century.

The terms have been found to be originated from the portuguese words "woof" and "tweet." These words are commonly used to describe the noises made by animals.

The search for the origin of the terms continues to be a mystery.

No Bounds To Uses For Home Recorders

Music Only One Aspect Of Appeal

The tape recorder is probably the most versatile consumer device you can have in a home. It can record, store, answer, instruct, commute, and much more. Its use is limited only by your own imagination and ingenuity.

Tape Precious Sounds

Even when equipment is donated to the Salvation Army, there are often some tape recorders that are worth nothing. These are then sold or given away for charity.

Zenith Player
Zenith’s specially designed and highly prized tape recorder is not only a work of art, but also a useful tool. It is capable of recording and playing back music, as well as preserving important messages and conversations.

Founders' Hobby Paid Off

Hi-Fi Firm 30 Years Old

Thirty years ago, every Fisher began, with a handful of employees, the enterprise that was destined to become the world's leading high-quality stereo firm.

Fisher Radio Corp., parent company of the Fisher line, is celebrating its 30th anniversary this year.

The firm was founded in 1937 by sales vice-president of the Radio Corporation of America, the predecessor of today's RCA.

For many years, Fisher's reputation was built on its compact, high-quality tube radios.

In the mid-1950s, Fisher introduced the first solid-state hi-fi amplifiers and speakers, which were widely acclaimed for their performance.

Today, Fisher is one of the most respected names in the hi-fi industry, with a wide range of products that include amplifiers, speakers, turntables, and receivers.
