Dime Hike In City Bus Fares OK'd

The city council Tuesday approved a dime hike in city bus fares, effective next month. The increase is intended to cover the city's $2 million deficit in bus operations.

Lone Stand

Step Token

By J. NELSON TAYLOR

As the city council cleared the way for the fare hike, one council member, Councilman George Blalock, stood up to protest the move. Blalock said the fare hike was unfair and that the city should consider other options before increasing fares.

Percy Admits 'Slush Fund'

Washington, D.C.—Sen. Charles B. Percy, R-Ill., acknowledged Tuesday that he had used a "slush fund" in his Senate campaign, saying it was a "necessary evil." Percy added that the fund "was used to "keep the public informed as to what the Senator was doing for his constituents." Percy's admission came after a report in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch that his chief business interests in Illinois were paying consultation fees to other political candidates.
