Vol. 35, No. 1

PORTLAND, Ore. — Since Thanksgiving, Julie Nelson, head nurse at St. John's Provincial Hospital, has been working an engagement ring given by her former fiancé, a radio station manager in Portland. The ring was lost during the holiday rush, but it has been found again. Julie is very happy to have the ring back.

Nixon's Daughter, Ike's Kin Engaged

MRS. CHARE alludes to the fact that she and her husband have been hearing about the upcoming wedding of John F. Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline. She said she was very happy for them and wished them all the best.

The McLoughlin Fire, which started in the area yesterday, has grown to several acres. Firefighters are on the scene and are working to contain the blaze.

LITTLE Dona Dewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewer, was married last Saturday to a local businessman. The couple plans to move to a new home they are building in the area.

The state Guard was on duty at the airport, ensuring that all passengers were checked for炸弹。Guard members were stationed at the entrance and conducted searches.

Gus Jasper, a local newspaper reporter, was arrested for drunk driving. He was cited for speeding and failing to use his safety belt. This is not the first time Jasper has run into trouble with the law.

The courthouse was crowded with people attending the trial of a local businessman accused of embezzlement.
