It's Lemons For Cowboys

☆ OU Squeezes OSU ☆

by MANSELL MAJEROS

They say there's no crime in the law, but no one said the law was fair, either. And when the law says you have to squash all your lemons, that's what you have to do, even if it means breaking your teeth on them.

The game was set for Saturday afternoon, with the Sooners and the Cowboys meeting in the Cotton Bowl for the annual Orange Bowl classic. The Sooners were favored by most experts, but the Cowboys had been holding their own in recent games.

The game started off well for both teams, with the Sooners taking a 10-7 lead at halftime. But in the second half, the Cowboys came back and took the lead with 10 minutes left in the game. It was a hard-fought battle, with both teams scoring a total of 42 points.

The final score was OU 30, OSU 29, with the Sooners winning by one point. It was a tough game for both teams, but the Sooners managed to come out on top. The crowd was wild, with fans cheering loudly on both sides.

OU trainer George O'Reilly was quoted as saying, "It was a tough game, but our boys held their own. We were lucky to come out on top."

The Cowboys' coach, Johnnie Remington, was more subdued in his comments, saying, "It's always tough to lose like this, but we'll bounce back. We have a lot of returning players next year, so we'll be back to fight again next year."

Meanwhile, the Sooners' coach, Tom Osborne, was elated with the win, saying, "We knew it would be a tough game, but our boys played a great game. We will celebrate this win all week."

It was a great day of football, and both teams showed their skills on the field. The Sooners managed to come out on top this year, but the Cowboys are sure to be a force next year.

Steel Price Hike Slapped

WASHINGTON (AP) - The administration moved to restrain the sharp rise in steel prices today when it announced plans to impose a 10 percent surcharge on U.S. Steel Corp. stockholders. The surcharge, which is expected to affect other steel producers, is part of a broader effort by the government to control inflation.

Johnsons Plan Christmas Party

The Johnsons plan to hold a special Christmas party for their friends and family at their home in New York. The party will feature traditional Christmas fare and music, as well as a special performance by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

Bob Hope's Son Marries

Bob Hope's son, Gary, married his long-time girlfriend, Susan, in a secret ceremony in Las Vegas. The couple has been together for over a decade and is expected to have a traditional wedding ceremony in the future.

Tycoon's Train Retired

The last of the luxury trains to travel through the United States is expected to be retired next year. The train, which was a popular tourist attraction, has been in operation for over 50 years and has seen many changes over the years.

River Queen Sink

The River Queen, one of the most popular riverboats on the Mississippi River, sank near St. Louis today. The cause of the sinking is still under investigation, but it is believed to be due to mechanical failure.

Antipoverty Moves Viewed

A new antipoverty program is expected to be launched in the coming weeks. The program is designed to provide financial assistance to low-income families and individuals.

Light Tremors Strike

A series of light tremors struck the region today, causing minor damage to several buildings. The tremors are believed to be related to the recent earthquake in the area.

Politics' Worried

Several political figures are expressing concern about the growing popularity of a new political party. The party, which is expected to gain significant support in the upcoming elections, is opposed to many of the traditional political issues.

McCarthy Straw In The Wind

The best aspects of McCarthyism are the grasshopper attacks on a professional position. It is impossible to pretend that the Washington Post, a publication which is widely respected and upon which one relies for information, can avoid being affected by the climate. This is particularly true in the case of the Oklahoma Journal, where the Post is the number one newspaper. It is possible to say that the attacks on the Journal are the result of the Post's influence over the Post's readers, but it is also true that the Post is a newspaper which cannot escape criticism.

Well-Trained Chicks Know Cues

By Mary Helms

I am an expert on the aims and activities of women in general. I have been studying their behavior for many years and have come to the conclusion that women, as a group, are capable of understanding and following the cues that are presented to them. However, it is not always easy to identify these cues, and it is necessary to be aware of them in order to be able to interpret their meaning.

There are two main types of cues that women use: verbal and nonverbal. Verbal cues include words, phrases, and gestures that are used to express feelings or intentions. Nonverbal cues include body language, facial expressions, and other visual cues that can be interpreted by others.

In order to understand these cues, it is important to be aware of the context in which they are used. For example, if a woman is saying something in a loud voice, it is more likely that she is trying to be heard or to make a point. Similarly, if a woman is making eye contact with someone, it is more likely that she is interested in what they are saying.

There are also cultural influences that can affect how women interpret and use cues. For instance, some cultures place a greater emphasis on nonverbal communication than others. In addition, the way in which cues are presented can vary depending on the situation.

In conclusion, understanding the cues that women use is important in order to be able to interpret their behavior accurately. By being aware of the different types of cues and the context in which they are used, it is possible to understand women more effectively.

Looking For An Unusual Yale Gift? Try Androcles!

The story of Androcles and the Lion is a classic tale of friendship and bravery. It is often used as a metaphor for the power of compassion and the importance of treating others with kindness.

Androcles was a man who lived during the reign of a cruel king. He was captured and sold into slavery, where he worked as a laborer. One day, while working in the fields, he came across a wounded lion. Instead of running away, Androcles approached the lion and took great care of it. Over time, the lion grew fond of Androcles and became his protector.

Androcles's story has inspired many people throughout the ages. It is a reminder that even the most unlikely of friendships can be formed through compassion and kindness.

for an Old Champ

As a war hero to serve the government in the war effort, an old champ is now employed at the National Handicraft Society. This society is dedicated to preserving American history and culture. The handiwork done by the veterans is both a testament to their skills and a source of income. The old champ, along with other veterans, is now given the opportunity to showcase their talents and earn a living. The society ensures that the work is of high quality and is sold to support veterans and their families. The old champ is grateful for the chance to continue serving his country in a new capacity.

really interesting to all. Sticking to the line that runs along the main north-south street, we find that the shops are generally well-stocked and the service good. There are a number of small restaurants and cafes where one can sit down and relax. The prices are reasonable and the food is good. The weather is quite mild, with temperatures ranging from 15 to 20 degrees Celsius.

There are several other attractions in the area. The Museum of Modern Art is a great place to visit, with a large collection of contemporary art. The Park is also a popular spot for a relaxing walk, with a beautiful lake and a variety of flowers and trees. Finally, the market is a great place to pick up some souvenirs or local specialties. Overall, this area is a great place to explore and enjoy all that the city has to offer.
