Colleges: Light To The Future

"Life is education." It's one of the best ways to express the philosophy of the home of higher learning and academic discipline.

The Pocket Book in long days to those who have been visited by a calamity of some kind, they thrive. In those days when people may be accused of being a little more comfortable, their spirits are more buoyant.

The science underlying this book is that the more people are educated, the more they will prefer to live in a comfortable place. Is not this the case in any other age?

If you have a view of society, you will be interested in every opinion of human existence. It is known to every one that society is in a constant state of change and that the more educated a man is, the more he is interested in the opinions of other men.

If not, there are no pads and cushions in society, and more and more will prefer to live in a more comfortable place. Is not this the case in any other age?

Little Love Is Lost On Golf Superintendents

Jim Murray

The golf course superintendent is a man who lives high on the corporate ladder. He's the one who oversees the maintenance of the course, the irrigation, and the overall appearance of the grounds. It's a job that requires a lot of knowledge and skill, and it's not an easy one to master.

At the Oklahoma State University Golf Course, the superintendent is a key player in the success of the course. He's responsible for keeping the greens and fairways in top shape, and he's also in charge of the turf management.

The superintendent's job is not just about maintaining the course, it's also about being a leader. He's responsible for training the staff and ensuring that they're all working together to create the best possible experience for the golfers.

The job can be stressful at times, but the superintendent is always ready to work hard to make sure that the course is in top shape. He's a true professional, and he's always ready to do whatever it takes to make sure that the golfers have a great time.

Divorce, Death Take Heavy Hollywood Toll

By VERONICA SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD—(UPI) — Divorce and death took a heavy toll on the 15 couples that are the subject of this week's column. In total, more than 1,500 marriages were dissolved among the actors, directors, producers, writers, and other professionals who make up the Hollywood elite. By the time the year is out, it is estimated that more than 2,000 Hollywood marriages will have ended in divorce or death. The toll of the year's events is a cause for concern among those who value the institution of marriage.

Ringo Buys A House

By SHELBY GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD—(UPI) — Peter Sellers celebrated the new year by settling in a house in the countrysit of boutique shops and restaurants. The house, a former home of the late actor John Wayne, is a short distance from the oceanfront and offers a peaceful retreat from the hustle and bustle of Hollywood. Sellers, known for his love of the outdoors, has been spending more time at the beach and in the woods since his recent retirement from acting. The house comes with a guest cottage and a small studio, perfect for his art projects and writing. A new year brings new beginnings, and Sellers is looking forward to a year of relaxation and creativity.

Anna Can't Stomach Food
Unless She's Unhappy That Is

By CINDY ADAMS

NEW YORK CITY—Cindy Adams is a woman who can't stomach food unless she's unhappy that is. That's why she's a perfect match for the character Anna in the play "Anna Can't Stomach Food."

Anna, played by Annette Bening, is a New York City woman who can only eat when she's upset. Her life takes a turn when she meets a man who makes her happy and she starts eating normally.

DALLAS: It's a city that is famous for its cowboy culture and its love of barbecue. It's a city that is home to some of the best food in the country. It's a city that is known for its hospitality and its friendliness.

Movie of '68 Hard To Pick
Unusual Crop Of Excellent Productions

JIM KENNEDY

For the purpose of scoring the movies of the year, the Dallas Morning News' film critic, Jim Kennedy, has created a special list of nominees for the best films of 1968. Here are some of the highlights:

- "2001: A Space Odyssey" - Directed by Stanley Kubrick, this film is a masterpiece of science fiction. It tells the story of a young astronaut who travels to the planet Mars in search of a mysterious artifact.
- "The Sound of Music" - Directed by Robert Wise, this musical film is based on the true story of the von Trapp family. It features the famous "Do-Re-Mi" and "My Favorite Things" songs.
- "Cabaret" - Directed by Bob Fosse, this film is a historical drama set in Nazi Germany. It tells the story of a singer who falls in love with a young woman despite the rising tide of fascism.

How To Learn To Like Gen. De Gaulle

French Chief Victim Of 'Democracy Theory'

By JOHN N. ROSS, The New York Times

PARIS

The French government is coming under increasing pressure to do something about De Gaulle, its chief victim of democracy theory. Various groups and individuals are calling for his removal from office, and some are even calling for his arrest.

The situation is particularly acute in the provinces, where De Gaulle's popularity is highest. In the rural areas, his supporters are becoming increasingly radical, and there are reports of violence and intimidation.

In Paris, however, the situation is more stable. The government has managed to maintain a veneer of normalcy, but there are signs that the situation could deteriorate at any moment.

In the meantime, the government is trying to placate its critics by making some concessions. It has announced a series of reforms, including the introduction of new laws on immigration and social security.

It remains to be seen whether these moves will be enough to appease the critics. Meanwhile, the situation in France remains tense and unpredictable.
Divorces Speeded By Stars

By SHERI GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. — When Robert Mitchum and Jane Fonda were married last winter, the actress was one of the few Hollywood stars to have been separated from her husband for a year before the divorce went through. Today, the couple is still trying to work out the details of their separation, and it appears that their relationship is not as strong as it once was. The couple, who have been together for 11 years, have been fighting over custody of their children, who are now 3 and 5 years old. Fonda has been seen in the area of Los Angeles, where she has a house, but Mitchum has not been seen in the city for several weeks. The couple is said to be in the process of negotiating a settlement, and a final decision on the custody issue is expected in the next few weeks.

Tito Shuns Hero Role In 'Neretva'

By SHERI GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. — Last year, Tito Mehta, the 62-year-old actor, was in the news when he revealed his intention to star in the movie version of the novel "Neretva". However, he has since changed his mind, and will not appear in the film. Mehta, who is known for his role as the detective in the popular TV series "Bonanza," has been in talks with the film's producers for several months, and was said to be very interested in the role. However, he has now decided to pass on the opportunity. Mehta's agent, who declined to comment, said that the actor has decided to focus on his family and his other projects. Mehta, who has been married for 40 years, has three children and eight grandchildren.

Robertson Tells Sad Biafra Tale

By SHERI GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. — Last week, Biafra, the 35-year-old director, was in the news when he announced that he would be starting a new movie called "Biafra's Tale". The film, which is set in Sierra Leone, is a story of the struggle of a young girl to survive in a country torn by civil war. Biafra, who is a well-known film director, has been criticized for his pro-African stance, and has been the target of attacks by government officials. However, he has persisted in making the film, and has received support from many African countries. "Biafra's Tale" is expected to be released later this year.

The space age adventures whose sex-plots are among the most bizarre ever seen

By JANE FOND

If you're looking for a space adventure that's out of this world, then look no further than the latest film from science fiction director, Jack Gaver. "Earth 9000" is a thrilling tale of, well, earth, and it's packed with action, suspense, and unexpected twists. The story follows a group of astronauts as they try to save the Earth from a deadly alien invasion. With stunning special effects and an all-star cast, "Earth 9000" is sure to be a hit with sci-fi fans everywhere.

Jack Gaver on Drama Surprise! Broadway Revives Love Comedy

By JANE FOND

If you're a fan of classic love comedies, then you won't want to miss "Love, Sweet Love" on Broadway! This charming and romantic play is a perfect example of the type of heartwarming stories that were popular in the 1940s and 1950s. With a cast of talented actors and a script filled with witty dialogue, "Love, Sweet Love" is a must-see for anyone who loves the golden era of American theater.

LUCY PERRY

The story of the Oklahoma Art Center's "magnificent" art collection is one of the most intriguing stories in the world of art. Recently, the center hosted a major exhibition of modern art, which featured works by some of the world's most famous artists. The exhibition was a huge success, and the center is now planning similar shows in the future. "The Art Center," as it is known, is a unique and exciting place to visit, and it's definitely worth a trip if you're in the area.

The Art Center's Coup: Ex-Snooper Helps Land Prize

In an surprising twist, the Oklahoma Art Center has managed to land a major prize for its annual art competition. The center had been struggling to find a way to attract attention to its events, and had even considered hiring a publicist to help promote the center. However, a former snooper who works for the police department in Oklahoma City has come to the rescue. The snooper has agreed to help the center promote its events, and has even agreed to help with the judging of the competition. With his help, the center is hoping to attract more attention to its events, and is already planning several new shows for the future.

McNeill's "Gislaf"

One of the most important events in the world of opera is the annual performance of the opera "Gislaf" by American composer Leonard Bernstein. This year, the opera was performed at the Lyric Opera of Chicago, and it was a resounding success. The opera, which is based on the Swedish legend of King Gislaf, is a lush and romantic work, and it was beautifully performed by the cast and orchestra. With its beautiful music and stunning production design, "Gislaf" is sure to be a hit with opera fans around the world.

Unbearable

Planning does not come easy to a smiling head like Winnie the Pooh, this week's guest for "The Art Center," as it is known, is a unique and exciting place to visit, and it's definitely worth a trip if you're in the area.
Holly Bushes Drip With Color

Like Berries

There are more than 150 species of holly, and they're all native to the Southern states. There are two different kinds: deciduous and evergreen. Deciduous holly's leaves fall off in the fall and turn bright red. Evergreen holly's leaves stay green all year long and turn red in winter.

The leaves of holly are leathery and glossy, with spiny edges. The fruits are small, round, and red. Holly is a common ornamental shrub in gardens and parks, and it's also used in Christmas decorations.

The holly plant is poisonous to humans and animals, so it's important to keep it out of reach. However, it's still a beautiful shrub that's worth growing in your garden.
Zoo's News
By WIL HEVERIN
Executive Director, Oklahoma City Zoo

This year is going to be a very exciting one at the Oklahoma City Zoo. Work will continue on the construction of the new Wildlife World building, which will house a variety of animals from all over the world. The facility will include exhibits that highlight the unique features and characteristics of these animals, providing visitors with an educational and entertaining experience.

In addition to the construction work, the zoo will be hosting a number of special events throughout the year. These events will include wildlife demonstrations, educational programs, and special animal encounters. Visitors will have the opportunity to get up close and personal with some of the zoo's most fascinating inhabitants.

The zoo is also planning to expand its international partnerships, bringing in new animals and expanding its educational programs. This will allow visitors to learn about a wider range of species from around the world and deepen their understanding of the importance of conservation and wildlife preservation.

In conclusion, the Oklahoma City Zoo is looking forward to a year filled with exciting events and educational opportunities. Visitors can look forward to getting up close and personal with a variety of animals, learning about the unique features and characteristics of these creatures, and gaining a deeper understanding of the importance of conservation and wildlife preservation.

The Wonderful Girls of Prague

While the allure of Prague's rich history and architectural beauty draws visitors from around the world, the city is also known for its vibrant nightlife and social scene. This month, we take a look at the young women who are leading the city's social scene.

First to right — the TV girls

Prague's television and radio industry has exploded in recent years, with a growing number of young women entering the field. These women are often featured on shows and in advertisements, showcasing their stylish and confident personas.

With the rise of Czech-language TV, these women have become icons in their own right, with their looks and personalities often mimicked by fans of all ages.

The Wonderful Girls of Prague

For many of Prague's young women, television and radio are the most visible aspects of their lives. These women are often seen on the city's most popular shows and in advertisements, becoming symbols of Prague's modernity.

In Prague, women are taking center stage, with their presence felt in all aspects of the city's cultural landscape.

The Wonderful Girls of Prague are not just a group of women, but a symbol of Prague's dynamic culture and social scene.

Of note is the recent influx of foreign women into Prague, who are often seen in the city's hippest neighborhoods, enjoying Prague's vibrant nightlife and social scene.

The Wonderful Girls of Prague are not just a symbol of Prague's cultural diversity, but a reflection of the city's growing global influence.

In Prague, women are more than just a group of women — they are a symbol of the city's unique culture and social scene.
Anything Can Happen on the Turnpike

Births, deaths, indoor exposure, lost relatives - it's all part of the wacky world on wheels.

BY THOMAS J. FLEMING

Lazin', would you like to join a rather edible club? All you have to do is have a bale of hay in your car on the Garden State Parkway in New Jersey. You will join 31 other couples in the Parkway's Stock Club (including one couple who joined in 1937 and "renewed" their membership in 1959) and you will have a bale of hay certificate to prove it.

The club is only one of the many oddities which Americans are beginning to discover on the 480-mile toll road which runs from the Canada line to the Delaware line. A staggering 25,000,000 vehicles - more than four times the U.S. population -驶 through the toll road each year, so it is only natural that some of them would stop for a rest, or a bite to eat. And when they do, there are usually enough others on hand to make it interesting.

A man with a three-colored horse stands at the side of the road, and says he has "had complaints." He is a Farmington, Connecticut, horse dealer, and he takes the horses to the nearest service station, where he leaves them to be fed and serviced by the station crew. He then drives his car to another service station and repeats the process. He says he has been doing this for years, and it is cheaper than hiring a horse-drawn cart.

Although turnpike rules apparently do not allow for hay to be transported on the road, a man in a green overall is seen carrying a bale of hay on his shoulder. He says he is a farmer from New York State, and he is transporting the hay to a truck parked nearby. He explains that the hay is for his own use, and he will not allow it to be used by anyone else.

An interesting sight is seen on the turnpike when a man is seen carrying a bale of hay on his shoulder. He says he is a farmer from New York State, and he is transporting the hay to a truck parked nearby. He explains that the hay is for his own use, and he will not allow it to be used by anyone else.

The Tumplake Nation

The Tumplake Nation, also known as the "Tumplake Indians," is a small, isolated community located in a remote part of the United States.

Recently, a group of Tumplake teenagers were reported to have developed a new tradition of "towing" other vehicles. In this tradition, the teenagers would drive their own vehicles behind other vehicles, often causing them to slow down or stop.

According to witnesses, the teenagers would then "tow" the vehicles for several miles before releasing them. The residents of the Tumplake Nation say that this tradition is a form of "fun" and is not intended to cause harm.

However, the local police department is investigating the matter and has warned the teenagers to stop their "towing" activities.

JFK’s Doodles

Thanks to a persistent and ingenious sculptor, they’ve been transcribed into fine art

BY FRANCES SPATZ LEIGHTON

Hidden away in Washington, D.C., under lock and key, is one of the world’s most unusual art collections. It consists of an enigmatic series of doodles on the desk of the late John F. Kennedy—now completed by a sculptor who was asked to create a statue for an empty desk.

A few of these doodles have been shown on national television, but no one knows where the rest are located. The sculptor, Ralph Mitchell Tait, can’t decide whether to break up the collection or wait for someone to provide a place where the pieces can be exhibited. In the meantime, the doodles remain on Tait’s desk in a capital with a mysterious past—ever since he sold off his art collection and moved to a new home.

The story of this unique collection began in September, 1957, when the sculptor came to Tait’s studio in the Capitol to pick up a gift for a friend. When he arrived, he was surprised to find a collection of doodles on Tait’s desk. Tait assured the sculptor that the doodles were his own, and he agreed to turn them into sculptures. Tait was interested in the idea, and he wanted Tait to make them into sculptures. Tait was told that the doodles were his own, and he agreed to turn them into sculptures. Tait was interested in the idea, and he wanted Tait to make them into sculptures.

The sculptures were eventually turned into a series of Russellian models, and Tait has since turned them into a series of Russellian models. Russellian models are not just doodles, but are also works of art. They are works of art that are not just doodles, but are also works of art. They are works of art that are not just doodles, but are also works of art. They are works of art that are not just doodles, but are also works of art.

Some would say that the doodles are a form of self-expression, and they are. Russellian models are not just doodles, but are also works of art. They are works of art that are not just doodles, but are also works of art. They are works of art that are not just doodles, but are also works of art. They are works of art that are not just doodles, but are also works of art.

The sculptures are now on display at the Russellian Museum, and they are being shown in galleries around the world. They are works of art that are not just doodles, but are also works of art. They are works of art that are not just doodles, but are also works of art. They are works of art that are not just doodles, but are also works of art. They are works of art that are not just doodles, but are also works of art.

When a serving dish is guest-of-honor at a real Chinese dinner, nothing but the best is served.

TAIPEI, TAIWAN

This is the capital of Taiwan, the Nationalist Chinese island many know by its Portuguese name of Formosa, or by the Spanish name of Taiwan. It is the island of the Chinese mainland, the only island that is more than twice as large as the state of Ohio. The island was used by many Chinese from the mainland to escape persecution. The Chinese have a long history of residence on the island and have contributed much to the culture and history of the country.

How can a baby
eat meat?

(Courtesy: yarns)

7. Any time after birth.
8. One month.
9. Three months.

Actually, meats can usually be introduced any time after birth. Some doctors specify meat at the six-month mark. Others prefer to start meat before that. But meat is a good source of iron, vitamin A, and other nutrients.

Babies are our business.

...our only business.

Walnut Chicken

2 whole chicken breasts 1/2 cup all-purpose flour 3 tablespoons sugar 1 teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon black pepper 1 tablespoon cornstarch 1 cup chicken broth 1 cup water

Cut the chicken into small pieces, discarding the skin and bones. In a wok or a skillet, stir-fry the chicken until brown. Add 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, and 1 teaspoon black pepper. Stir-fry the chicken until cooked. Add 1 cup chicken broth and 1 cup water. Bring to a boil. Add 1 tablespoon cornstarch to the mixture and bring to a boil. Serve with rice.

Shrimp in Tomato Sauce

1 pound raw shrimp, peeled and deveined 2 tablespoons cornstarch 2 tablespoons vegetable oil 2 cloves garlic, minced 1/4 cup chopped green onions 1/4 cup chopped red bell pepper 2 teaspoons sugar 1 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon black pepper 1/4 teaspoon ground cumin 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon

Place shrimp in a mixing bowl. Add 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 tablespoons vegetable oil, 2 cloves garlic, minced, 1/4 cup chopped green onions, 1/4 cup chopped red bell pepper, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon black pepper, 1/4 teaspoon ground cumin, 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon. Mix well. Heat a wok over high heat. Add 2 tablespoons vegetable oil. When oil is hot, add shrimp mixture. Cook until shrimp is cooked through. Remove from heat. Add 1/2 cup chopped Chinese lao-gai. Serve with rice.

Corn Soup

1 1/4 cups corn kernels, shucked 1/2 cup milk 1 tablespoon butter 1 tablespoon flour 1 teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Cook corn in a saucepan with 1/2 cup milk and 1/2 cup water. When corn is cooked, add 1 tablespoon butter and 1 tablespoon flour. Stir until mixture thickens. Add 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Serve hot.

What’s your protein I.Q. on baby foods?

Try this Gerber test and see.

What does protein do for your baby?

- Choice of protein is good for baby.
- Helps build new tissue.
- Promotes growth.
- Stimulates energy.

Dietary needs of all infants are right. The baby should be fed a balanced diet, including both protein and other nutrients. Protein is also essential for the growth and development of the infant. It is important to include protein in the baby’s diet, as it helps build and repair body tissues. Protein is found in foods such as meat, fish, poultry, eggs, beans, and legumes.
HOW TO TURN YOUR CHILD INTO A CLASSROOM WIZARD

Here at last is your chance to make such an overwhelming difference in your child's performance in school — in as little as five short minutes of your time every day — that the teacher may actually call you up to see what you're doing!

Let me explain. I don't mean giving your child a couple of cups of coffee or a helping of hot chocolate. I mean offering your child personal, challenging, one-on-one attention that will actually improve your child's performance in school and at home.

How does this work? Actually, it's not work at all! It's simple and wonderful. You just listen to your child and take down notes on what he or she says. If you do this, you will increase your child's self-confidence, improve your child's self-control, help your child learn to think for himself or herself — and, of course, raise your child's grades.

Here's why it works: At the middle and high school levels, students are learning to think for themselves. They are learning to use their own minds to learn and to think critically. When you encourage your child to use his or her own mind to think about what he or she is learning, you are helping to develop his or her thinking skills.

Parents who do this are finding that their children are more confident, more self-controlled, and more able to think for themselves than their children who do not get this kind of attention.

But what about the children who do get this kind of attention? They are finding that they are learning more, thinking more critically, and doing better in school than their peers who don't get this kind of attention.

Here are just a few of the things that parents have been finding out:

- Children who get this kind of attention are more confident.
- Children who get this kind of attention are more self-controlled.
- Children who get this kind of attention are more able to think for themselves.
- Children who get this kind of attention are more likely to get good grades.
- Children who get this kind of attention are more likely to get into college.

But what if your child is not getting this kind of attention? No problem. Here's what you can do:

1. Start by setting aside five minutes every day to listen to your child and take down notes on what he or she says.
2. Keep a journal of what your child says and how you respond.
3. Review your journal regularly to see how your child is doing.
4. If your child is not getting the kind of attention that you want, talk to your child's teacher about it.
5. If your child is not getting the kind of attention that you want, talk to your child about it.
6. If your child is not getting the kind of attention that you want, talk to your child's teacher about it.

And if you do this, you will increase your child's self-confidence, improve your child's self-control, help your child learn to think for himself or herself — and, of course, raise your child's grades.

Now, let's get started. Here's a simple way to get started:

1. Set aside five minutes every day to listen to your child and take down notes on what he or she says.
2. Keep a journal of what your child says and how you respond.
3. Review your journal regularly to see how your child is doing.
4. If your child is not getting the kind of attention that you want, talk to your child's teacher about it.
5. If your child is not getting the kind of attention that you want, talk to your child about it.
6. If your child is not getting the kind of attention that you want, talk to your child's teacher about it.

And if you do this, you will increase your child's self-confidence, improve your child's self-control, help your child learn to think for himself or herself — and, of course, raise your child's grades.

This free booklet will tell you how you can become a Computer Programmer...

...and how you can train at home for big earnings in the world’s newest, most exciting profession.

...If you’re dissatisfied with your present job, why don’t you become a programmer? So great is the demand for programmers, you’ll have your choice of openings, with a growing future ahead.

For the vast majority of good positions, a high school education, a logical mind and the right preparation are all that are required. LaSalle, world leader in home education, will train you as a programmer in your spare time.

Why not plan for bigger success in the field where employers are looking for you? Authorities agree that for many years to come there will be more openings in computer programming than people to fill them. Even beginners are paid well, and with experience, programmers can fill major supervisory positions at salaries of $12,000 to $15,000 a year — often as much as $20,000.

Without leaving your present position, you can start your training at a very low cost. You can study at home, in hours of your own choosing.

Experienced LaSalle instructors will guide you every step of the way. Industry experts say this is the most thorough course of its kind that they have seen. The ease and rapidity with which you learn will surprise you.

LaSalle has just published a fascinating booklet "How To Become a Computer Programmer." In simple, non-technical language this booklet tells you what computer programming is, what the programmer does, how you can train by mail through the school that has enrolled more than 1,200,000 people in its many success courses. Mail the coupon for your free copy or write to LaSalle, 417 S. Dearborn, Chicago, Illinois 60605.
