Writers Say RFK Broke Pledge To Genee

WASHINGTON (AP) — See Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., back in the race this time. RFK's brother, Robert F. Kennedy, went back on his word that he would not run for the presidency in 1968. Kennedy said he would do so if the Democratic convention that year nominated the candidate of his choice. His announcement on Tuesday in Philadelphia was unexpected, two Democrats said. The convention had already nominated Eugene McCarthy for the nomination. Kennedy said he would run if McCarthy lost. McCarthy's campaign manager, Leo Wright, said that McCarthy had not told him about his plans. Wright said he was “surprised and disappointed.”

Safety Program Worth Attention

Oklahomans continue to give rising attention to highway safety, but public failure seems to be evident in the efforts to curb the cause of fatalities at school crossing accidents.

Many schools in Oklahoma have installed safety signs and devices to protect children as they cross the streets, but the problem remains.

The Editorial Board of the Oklahoma City Journal encourages all school districts to use every means possible to keep children safe in and around schools.

Can Nixon Do More?

Today's American is more aware of the world around him than ever before. He is more informed, more sophisticated, more critical. And he is ready to demand better from his leaders. The American voter is not a passive consumer of political goods. He is a savvy, critical consumer who will not settle for less than the best. And he expects his leaders to deliver.
