Homeowners Gambled, Lost

Man, Nature Combine To Devastate California

By ROBERT RAY

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — Homeowners gambled in choosing a site for their homes and lost when the earthquake struck Southern California this week. The quake, the state's worst in 50 years, destroyed many lives and left thousands homeless. The magnitude of the tremor was about 6.5 on the Richter scale and extended from Santa Monica to San Diego.

The Homeowners Association of Southern California, a group that represents homeowners, blamed the quake on the town's residents for choosing sites near the fault line. They said the quake was caused by natural forces, not human negligence.

27 GIs Charged With Mutiny

LAS VEGAS (AP) — A military jury on Monday convicted 27 U.S. soldiers of mutiny and sentenced them to 13 years in prison each. The soldiers were accused of refusing to obey orders to evacuate their base in South Vietnam. The charges were the result of a vote by the soldiers to withdraw from the base to protest the Vietnam War. The soldiers were ordered to report to a federal prison in Pennsylvania. The trial was held in a military courtroom in Las Vegas. The soldiers were accused of refusing to obey orders to evacuate their base in South Vietnam. Do Saucers Enter Atmosphere At Poles To Escape Radiation?

Was the data collected during the supposed 1955 experiment at Mount Pinos, California, by Dr. J.驰援 cloud abductions at the expense of the Earth's inhabitants? The experiments were conducted in secret, but recent declassifications have shed light on the investigation. It seems that the data collected during the experiment suggested that the saucers entered the Earth's atmosphere at the poles and then traveled to the equator, possibly to escape radiation.
