Angry Pair Charges Governor Got Funds Too

By DAVID CHARGDAE

The top two leaders in California's Democratic party, Governor Jerry Brown and Attorney General Jerry Brown, have been charged with corruption.

The governor is accused of accepting illegal kickbacks, while the attorney general is accused of using campaign funds for personal use.

The charges were announced Tuesday by the California Ethics Commission.

Sen. Nancy Skinner, who represents the 2nd Senate District, issued the following statement:

"I am outraged by these allegations and will fight to see them punished.

"Governor Brown's actions are a disgrace to the office of the governor and the State of California."

The attorney general, who is a former state controller, is accused of using his campaign funds to pay for personal expenses, including a $30,000起到 vehicle that he used while running for office.

Skinner said Brown should resign.

"Jerry Brown has to go."

The governor is accused of accepting kickbacks from a company that was working on a landmark environmental bill.

The Ethics Commission said the governor used his office to promote the bill, and that he kept kickbacks from the company.

"Governor Brown is guilty of a conflict of interest," Skinner said.

Brown said he will fight the charges.

"I will fight these charges in court," Brown said.

The charges come as California is facing a $20 billion budget gap.

The governor has proposed a plan to cut $10 billion in spending and增收$10 billion in revenue.

"We're going to cut the budget, but we're also going to increase revenue," Brown said.

The attorney general is accused of using campaign funds to pay for legal fees and travel costs.

"Jerry Brown has been a bad governor," Skinner said.

Editorials

Name It Rose Junior College

Public interest and support for the Rose Junior College should not be based on naming it after Rose, who is not a rose. It should be named as: "Dwight D. Eisenhower Junior College." The college was an idea with a broad and inclusive appeal of the community to the college. It should continue to have the interest of all the community, and be named in a way that honors the people in the community.

Why Noninvolvement?

The more evident the grossest form of noninvolvement the more the public is likely to be drawn to the college's failure. The more the college's noninvolvement the more the public is likely to be drawn to the college's failure. The more the college is involved in the public's failure the more the public is likely to be drawn to the college's failure.

State Editors Say

Those Inspiring Up-With-People Kids

The positive effects of the "Up-With-People" movement can be seen in the increased involvement of the kids in the community. The movement has helped to create a more active and involved community, which is beneficial to all.

Firm Gets Japan Help
A number of American business organizations, including the National Association of Manufacturers and the National Association of Manufacturers, are helping American businesses to compete with Japanese companies. The firms have formed an association to help American companies to improve their quality and efficiency. The association provides training programs, consulting services, and other resources to help companies to become more competitive. The association also works to educate American businesses about the challenges of international competition and to help them to develop strategies for success in the global marketplace.

Did Trees Cause Broadway Offset?

Historian Thinks Jog Was Deliberate

A study of the jog on Broadway found the jog was caused by the trees behind the buildings, which were planted in a line that followed the jog. The study also found that the jog was deliberate, as the trees were planted in a specific pattern to create the jog. The study recommends that the jog be removed and replaced with a more natural line of trees.

Power Failures, UFOs Sometimes Together

In recent years, there have been reports of power failures and UFO sightings occurring simultaneously. Scientists are now studying the phenomenon to determine if there is a connection between the two events. So far, they have found no evidence to support the idea that power failures and UFO sightings are related.

Soap, Water Really Do Mix

Scientists have long known that soap and water mix, but they have never been able to explain how. A new study has finally revealed the mechanism behind the mixing of soap and water. The study shows that the soap molecules are able to penetrate the water molecules and break them down into smaller parts, which allows the soap to mix with the water.
