Man To Be At Controls Of Apollo Craft For First Time
Friday Launch Holds Key To '69 Moon Landing

WASHINGTON (AP) - The fact that he has driven a car and a truck and is a professional engineer does not make an astronaut. But it has made Bill Thorp the first civilian to fly in space, and it will make him the first civilian to command an Apollo spacecraft when he takes charge of this week's flight.

The 27-year-old Thorp, who has a degree in aeronautical engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was chosen by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to fly aboard the first manned Apollo spacecraft. He will be joined in the spacecraft by Astronaut John Young and a Spaceman by the late President John F. Kennedy.

The flight, which is scheduled for 2:00 p.m. EST Friday, will be the first in a series of flights that will lead to the manned landing on the moon.

Few Blacks Stir Campus Turmoil

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP) - The New Zealand government says it will not establish a black quota system for university places, despite the protest of a small group of students who want to see more blacks in university programs.

The students have been demonstrating at the University of Auckland, Auckland, and other universities, demanding that the number of blacks be increased.

The government has said it will not establish a quota system, but it will consider other ways of increasing the number of blacks in university programs.

It Turns You On, Report Reveals
Will Catnip Replace Pot?

NEW YORK (AP) - A report released today by the National Academy of Sciences said that catnip could replace marijuana as a legal drug.

The report, which was commissioned by the National Academy of Sciences, said that catnip has a high concentration of THC, the active ingredient in marijuana.

The report also said that catnip is not as potent as marijuana and is less likely to cause addiction.

Love That Catnip Tea!

Dr. SELMA WYBERG

The 82-year-old Granny was just groovin' when she sampled a cup of catnip tea.

Granny had been a long-time marijuana user, but when she heard about the benefits of catnip, she was immediately interested.

Granny said that catnip tea was a great alternative to marijuana and was much easier on her system.

She also said that catnip tea had a relaxing effect on her and helped her to sleep better.

Tulsa Rehabilitation Program Working
Youth Offenders Allowed To Clear Records

TULSA, OKLAHOMA (AP) - The Tulsa County Rehabilitation Program is allowing youth offenders to clear their records if they have completed the program.

The program, which is funded by the state of Oklahoma, helps young people who have been charged with minor offenses to stay out of trouble.

Youth offenders who complete the program are allowed to clear their records, which can help them to get a job or to enroll in college.

Mobile Homes To Alter Landscape

If you think Oklahoma City is too small, you've never been here. For a few years, Oklahoma City has been experiencing rapid growth. Just a few years ago, the city was barely noticeable. Now, it's a bustling metropolis with over 500,000 residents. The city has become a popular destination for people looking for a change of pace.

One of the reasons for the growth is the Mobile Homes, which have become increasingly popular in the area. Many people have moved to Oklahoma City in search of a better lifestyle, and the Mobile Homes have become a popular choice.

There are a few reasons why Mobile Homes have become so popular in Oklahoma City. One reason is the affordability. Mobile Homes are often much cheaper than traditional housing options, which makes them attractive to first-time homebuyers and those looking to save money.

Another reason is the convenience. Mobile Homes are typically easy to maintain and require less upkeep than traditional homes. This makes them an attractive option for those with busy lifestyles or those who are looking to downsize.

Finally, Mobile Homes are often located in desirable neighborhoods, which makes them an attractive option for those looking for a convenient location.

If you're thinking about moving to Oklahoma City, there's no better time to do it than now. Mobile Homes are a popular choice in the area, and the city is growing at a rapid pace. So, if you're ready to make the move, now is the time to do it.
Back To Tinker Toys

Factory-Made Homes In Offing

By ISRAEL IVLEV

Tinker toy last year had a hit and will make a home with the introduction of a child's kit with a tinker toy body and some parts turned from metal and plastic that can be assembled into a tinker toy.

Our toy, now being manufactured, is a miniature version of the famous Tinker toy home, and will be available in the near future, the maker says.

Smith said that the tinker toy home will be made of metal parts and will come in a range of sizes and designs. The tinker toy home will be a great gift for children of all ages.

Smith said the tinker toy home will be available in stores soon.

In the next issue of the Oklahoma Journal, we will feature more about the tinker toy home and its benefits for children.

Tree Aplenty

A number of Oklahoma City's two mobile home parks offer residents plenty of trees and other scenery which make the parks more attractive to mobile home owners. Many mobile home owners, such as that at the left, enjoy outdoor picnics and other functions to add to the beauty of their homes on wheels.

Park Development Growing Two Ways

There are more than 25,000 mobile homes in the city. Last year there were 4,000 new units added, bringing the total number of mobile homes in the city to about 13,500. This year, it is estimated that an additional 2,500 to 3,000 new units will be added, bringing the total number of mobile homes to about 16,000.

Although some new mobile home developments are being planned, the average park is not changing much. Most new mobile home parks are being developed in the older, established neighborhoods. This is partly because the older parks are more likely to have the necessary utilities and infrastructure to support the new developments.

Vendors and suppliers are very much in demand, especially for materials and labor. The cost of building a mobile home is very high, and the supply of materials is limited. This has caused a shortage of mobile homes, and prices are rising.

Weird New Sonic Lure Caught Fish Like Crazy!

By Lyman Walton, Co-Inventor

As told to Paul Stiglitz, The Weekend Fisherman

Think of it! My new VIBRATING LURE gives new life to that old, or new, or new and old, son of a gun. This lure can catch fish when nothing else does. It works day and night, in any kind of weather, in any kind of water. It's a miracle! You've never seen anything like it before.

Now that we have decided to go after the big ones, we have to come up with a new lure. We've tried everything from bobbers to lures, but nothing works. Then I came up with the idea of a vibrating lure. It's simple, yet effective.

But wait, there's more! The lure is not only effective, but it's also easy to use. You just attach it to your line and cast it out. The vibrations will attract the fish and they'll come swarming around it. It's a surefire way to catch fish.

So, what are you waiting for? Get your hands on one of these lures today and start reaping the rewards of catching fish like never before. Your friends will be envious of your fishing skills.

AN COLLEGE PROBLEMS

Student (N.Y.): Should we have done away with the draft?

Capp: What? For you? You're the only thing that doesn't want to have defenses anymore. Student (U. of Kentucky): What really is a "student activist"?

Capp: A student activist is a full-time student, earning a few dollars a week while taking a course. A full-time student activist is also an active surgeon. And I wish I could be one of them. Student (U. of Chicago): Do you think that popular entertainment should be just for the entertainment itself, or should it be something more?

Capp: Tell me to stop worrying. Most American entertainers are quite well-known and have something new to say. This is a way of communicating with the public. Student (U. of Maryland): Do you think that I should write a book about my travels and experiences?

Capp: You'd be best off doing what you're doing now. You can write a book about your travels and experiences, but you'd be better off doing what you're doing now.

ENJOYED FISHING

Sandy Beach: I recall that someone said that a fisherman is not a fisherman unless he has a fish in his hand. Student (Piscineur): Why do you always show girls with your fish?

Capp: Because I like fish. I never have a fish with a girl.

Capp: What do you think of the new "L/F!" lure? It's made of stainless steel and has a unique design. It's a great way to catch fish.

Sandy Beach: I've never caught anything with that lure. It's just not working. You know, I've been out fishing for hours and I haven't caught anything. It's frustrating.

Capp: You're catching a fish right now. Look, it's on your hook. Student (Piscineur): I have no idea how to fish. I've never done it before. Capp: Don't worry, I'll teach you. We'll go fishing tomorrow. Student (Piscineur): I'm not sure if I want to go fishing. I'm not very good at it. Capp: I'll teach you everything you need to know. You'll be like a pro in no time.

Capp: I'm going to start a new section on my daily comic. It's called "The Fisherman's Diary." I'll be going fishing every day and documenting my experiences. I think it'll be a great way to share my love of fishing with the world.

Sandy Beach: That sounds like fun. I'll be sure to tune in.

Capp: Thanks, Sandy. I appreciate your support. I'm really excited about this new section. It's going to be a lot of fun.

Help Your Child to Like Himself

The way you react to his everyday mistakes and triumphs can give him a picture of himself that will last a lifetime

By Dr. Hais G. Gisott

A child’s self-esteem depends greatly upon what we say to himself in response to our words. When our statements are complimentary and specific, the child’s self-esteem is positive and realistic.

- Even, age right, carried two huge bags of groceries into the house, all by himself. He was oh so pleased! The boy was like a kid in a candy store.
- Warren, age eight, was sitting at the table with a book in his lap. He finished his dessert and looked up at his mother. "I’m finished, Mom," he said. "Can I go outside now?"
- Jane, age six, was playing in her room when she heard her father call, "Jane, come here!" She ran into the living room and saw her father holding a small box. "What’s in it, Dad?" she asked excitedly.

When things go wrong:

Don’t talk to the child, talk to his condition. Say nothing to him about himself. Instead, describe what he did, and describe what things look like.

- Teenage son, Ralph, arrived home late at night. He was slouched in his chair, looking bored. "Ralph, why are you late?" asked his father.
- Younger sister, Mary, spilled her milk on the carpet. She started crying in frustration. "Mary, this is your mistake," her mother said gently. "You can clean it up."
- Younger brother, Tim, broke his new toy. He was sobbing, "It’s all my fault!"

When things go right:

When a child does something well, we feel like praising him. Praise is a powerful motivator. Give him positive reinforcement, and he will do it again. Give recognition to facts. Describe the child’s efforts, his accomplishments. Don’t just say, "You did well." Instead, say, "I noticed how hard you worked on this project."

- Younger brother, Tim, arrived home late. He told his father, "Dad, I’m late. I had to stay after school." His father replied, "That’s not very good, Tim."
- Younger sister, Mary, cleaned her room without being asked. "Mary, I’m proud of you," her mother said.
- Younger brother, Tim, finished his homework. "Tim, you did a good job," his mother said. "I’m proud of you."

This was a helpful dialogue. Mother did not argue with Leah. She did not reprimand her. Instead, she recognized Leah’s accomplishment. Leah, in turn, put more and more effort into her homework.

When a child lessens himself, a parent must be careful not to be overly critical. Instead, give the child positive suggestions. The best help we can offer is to encourage him to think and believe in himself.

- Younger brother, Tim, was unhappy because he couldn’t ride his bike without training wheels. "Tim, you can do it," his father said. "You just need more practice."
- Younger sister, Mary, was unhappy because she couldn’t make up her bed. "Mary, you can do it," her mother said. "You just need to practice."
- Younger brother, Tim, was unhappy because he couldn’t throw a baseball. "Tim, you can do it," his father said. "You just need more practice."

This was a helpful dialogue. Mother did not argue with Leah. She did not reprimand her. Instead, she recognized Leah’s accomplishment. Leah, in turn, put more and more effort into her homework.

How Young Do You Feel?

The other day I ran into a couple of old friends, Norman Pickering and Judy Cris- ter, who were producing a new kind of TV program, "The Generation Gap." It's a show of character sketches of parents, children, and the generation gap. One of the sketches featured a young man and woman who were depicted as typical of the generation gap. The young man was characterized as a brash, self-assured person who had no time for the old-fashioned ways of his parents. The young woman was characterized as warm, understanding, and patient.

The sketch was well received by the audience, and it prompted a lot of discussion afterwards. Many people commented on how much the sketch reflected their own experiences. The young man was seen as a typical example of the generation gap, while the young woman was seen as a more traditional figure who understood the old-fashioned ways of her parents.

The sketch was a success, and it was repeated several times. It became a popular feature of the show, and it helped to highlight the differences between the generations. It was a reminder that the generation gap is a real and important issue, and that it needs to be understood and addressed.

Heavenly Houses

They're designed to match your sign of the zodiac

BY JESS STEARN

A house to suit your birthday? Why not? Robert Burns Cousens, a New York architect and designer of the metaphysical, has ingeniously sought to translate the fundamentals of astrology into an everyday pattern for living—brightening, as most living does, with the season.

Cousens—who has researched the signs of the zodiac—saw personality in certain traits and aspirations, like and dislikes, of the individual born under it. Cousens conceived the idea of houses with living quarters to suit your stars.

Take the edition he designed for men (March 21 to April 19). "Handsome," he notes, "is the chief factor of this sign, and its people are strong, creative and highly adaptive. Their tastes are simple but desires are big. They love to live in spacious, comfortable rooms that are a little off the beaten path, where they can claim an awesome total asset value. The building is rectangular, plain, with fountain and garden, adding to the tall porte cochere, allowing for a deed that is adapted to the changing world. But even more important: Each apartment will be open (windowed) on all sides, allowing the Cousens to see the sea.

Cousens, the Twin (May 21 to June 20), shares John F. Kennedy's sign, normally residing in a two-gabled apartment dwelling. "The Cousens's frequent desire is to be creative and change the environment. Their preference is for spacious, flexible apartments that will satisfy their need for the utmost possible value in this roomy type." The building is rectangular, plain, with fountain and garden, adding to the tall porte cochere, allowing for a deed that is adapted to the changing world. But even more important: Each apartment will be open (windowed) on all sides, allowing the Cousens to see the sea.

The dwelling for cancer (June 21 to July 22), the family-loving sign, is a Cousens, traditional-style building. It features large windows that overlook the sea and "a protected terrace on the upper level which enable the owner, the generous seller of Cancer," to face the sun.

WILL YOU SMOKE MY NEW KIND OF PIPE

30 Days of my Risk?

All I want is your name so I can write and tell you why I'm willing to send you my pipe for 30 days smoking without a cent of risk on your part.

By E. A. Carey

My new pipe is not a new model, not a new style, not a new gadget, not an improvement on old stock pipes. It is the first pipe in the world to use an entirely new principle for giving undescribed pleasure in pipe smoking.

I've been a pipe smoker for 30 years, always looking for the ideal pipe—buying all the disappointing gadgets and never finding a single pipe that would smolder better, burn longer, after day after day, without bitterness, bite, or stinging.

With considerable doubt, I decided to work out something by myself. After months of experiment and some of disappointment, countless, almost by accident, I discovered how to build a pipe for four giant names here to give you "everything" I wanted in a pipe. I didn't expect it. From the first I found one—A marked test. It smoked cool. It smoked right down to the last bit of tobacco, without bitterness. It never had to be cleaned. Yet it is utterly impossible for me or anyone to reach your tongue, because my invention登记区 the pipe as it burns, and no matter how much you smoke it, the pipe never burns fully.

This free booklet will tell you how you can become a Computer Programmer

...and how you can train at home for big earnings in the world's newest, most exciting profession.

If you're dissatisfied with your present job, why don't you become a programmer? So great is the demand for programmers, you'll have your choice of openings, with a growing future ahead.

For the vast majority of good positions, a high school education, a logical mind and the right preparation are all that are required. LaSalle, world leader in home education, will train you as a programmer in your spare time.

Why not plan for bigger success in the field where employers are looking for you? Authorities agree that for many years to come there will be more openings in computer programming than people to fill them! Even beginners are paid well, and with experience, programmers can fill major supervisory positions at salaries of $12,000 to $15,000 a year — often as much as $20,000.

Without leaving your present position, you can start your training now — at very low cost. You can study at home, in hours of your own choosing. Experienced LaSalle instructors will guide you by mail every step of the way. Industry experts say this is the most thorough course of its kind that they have seen. The ease and rapidity with which you learn will surprise you.

LaSalle has just published a fascinating booklet "How To Become a Computer Programmer." In simple, non-technical language this booklet tells you what computer programming is; what the programmer does; how you can train by mail through the school that has enrolled more than 1,500,000 students. Capp: Naturally. They're the only ones who are still doing research.

Student: Would you have benefited from an education if it had been officially taught in your day?

Capp: It was taught in our day. Not officially, of course, but that wonderful stuff wasn't bad.

Student (Boston University): What do you think of the new three-meal diet? Capp: I try not to, but they do look lovely on the ladies who designs them.

Student (U. of East Carolina): Why do you think the plays such an important part in dating today?

Capp: I don't want to upset you, but sex has always played an important part in dating — or you wouldn't be here asking about it. You show me a date in which sex doesn't play an important part and I'll show you Norman Vincent Peale with Phyllis Diller.

Student (Mills College, New York): What do you think of interracial marriage?

Capp: I've never been of any. Most people who marry are not interested in the other race.

Student (Vassar): What do you think of free love?

Capp: The price is right.

OR POLITICS AND PREJUDICE

Student (Marshall U.): Why are you mad at Joan Baez?

Capp: I've nevermet Joan Baez. I'd want her lawyer to tell me if I knew what she did.

It is a scene from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Shoes of the Fisherman," modern-day story of intrigue and faith that reaches from the Kremlin to the Vatican. Sir Laurence Olivier, David Hemmings, Oscar Werner, Leo McKern, Sir John Gielgud and Vittorio De Sica star. The film begins Wednesday, March 5 at the Cooper Theatre.

From Kremlin To The Vatican
Mia Farrow's Star Still On The Rise

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

Hollywood, Calif.—Two things you should never do to Mia Farrow: Invite her to your party and mess with her son. For last week's birthday bash for 12-year-old Sonny, Farrow was in full party mode. She showed up at the party she gave for her son, who is a great actor. She was absolutely delighted to find her son there. Farrow has been working hard to get her son into the acting business. She has been taking him to auditions and helping him prepare for roles. Last week, she decided to throw him a birthday party. She invited all of his friends and made sure that the cake was his favorite flavor. Sonny was overjoyed to see all of his friends at the party. He was proud to show off his new acting skills and was excited to perform for his friends. Farrow was proud of her son and couldn't wait to see his future in the acting world.

Sinatra Sporting Beard

Sheliah Graham's Hollywood Everywhere

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

Hollywood—Frank Sinatra, long a symbol of Hollywood glamour and style, has been spotted sporting a beard recently. The sixties icon, whose signature style included sideburns and a disheveled look, has been seen with a full beard that adds to his rugged charm. Sinatra, known for his smooth voice and magnetic personality, has been wearing the beard for several weeks. Sources say that Sinatra has been experimenting with the look and is considering making it permanent. Sinatra has always been known for his attention to detail and is sure to take care of his beard to keep it looking perfect. Sinatra's fans are excited to see him with a beard and are eagerly waiting for his next move.

Omar And Barbara Keep Wires Ahum

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

Hollywood—Barbara Streisand and Omar Sharif are reportedly keeping their marriage on the rocks. Sources close to the couple say that they have been fighting frequently and that their marriage is in trouble. Streisand and Sharif, who have been married for over 10 years, have been spending less time together and are reportedly considering a separation. Streisand, who is known for her strong personality, has been putting pressure on Sharif to change his ways. Sharif, on the other hand, has been resisting and is reportedly feeling overwhelmed by the demands of his wife. The couple has not made any public statements about their relationship, but sources say that they are considering seeking marriage counseling.

Wild Rumor Has Wallace Marrying Ex-Dodgeball Gal

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

Hollywood—Wild rumors are circulating in Hollywood that George Wallace, the ex-husband of former First Lady Nancy Reagan, is getting married to a woman who is believed to be a former dodgeball player. The rumors have been circulating for several days and are gaining momentum. The woman in question is said to be a talented athlete who was a member of a dodgeball team that was known for its toughness. Wallace, who has been single since his divorce from Nancy Reagan, is said to be feeling a renewed sense of energy and is reportedly excited about the prospect of marriage.

Long And Short Of It

The heating debate at the height of the cold was whether Roger C. Carmel would return to the television screen. The actor, who gained fame for his role in the hit series "Dragnet," had been struggling to find work after the show ended. However, he was reportedly offered the role of a police officer in a new series, which he accepted. The series was canceled after the pilot episode, and Carmel was left without work again. The actor, who has been battling depression and alcoholism, is reportedly considering a move to Hawaii to try to start afresh.

Howard Hughes We See You—Part I

'Ve Know He's There, He Sent A Note'

Howard Hughes

His service to society is something that he has done for years, never for recognition, just for the love of humanity. He has helped so many people in so many ways. From the arts to science, from education to medicine, he has left his mark. His legacy continues to inspire and guide us today.

Howard Hughes's message was a simple one. It was a note that he had sent to his beloved Jane. It was a love letter, a message of love and devotion. He wanted her to know how much he cared for her, how much her presence in his life meant to him.

Jane was overwhelmed by the message. She had never received anything like it before. It was so heartfelt, so sincere. She knew that Howard Hughes was a man of many talents, but she had never realized that he had such a deep and profound love for her.

Howard Hughes's message was a reminder to us all that love can transcend time and space. It is a message that we should all take to heart. Love is the most powerful force in the universe, and we should always remember to express it in the most meaningful way possible.
QUEER MONEY BUYS COUNTERFEIT GLOW

By DENISE MURRAY

MURRAY'S TIPS: For the last time.

Auctions, apparently, are a great way to lose money. Last week, I went to a sale that was advertised in a local newspaper. I was interested in a painting that was supposed to be from the 18th century. I paid $100 for it, but when I got home, I realized it was a modern copy.

The most recent auction I attended was a sale of antique furniture. I bought a wooden chair for $200, but when I got it home, I discovered it was made of plastic.

I'm not saying I'm always wrong, but I think auctions are a bad idea. I want my money back.

GOLDEN GLOBES LOSE NO GLITTER

BY VERNON SCOT

WALLY'S TIPS: It's more fun to watch a movie at the theater than on TV.

The 55th Annual Golden Globe Awards will be held on February 23rd at the Beverly Hilton Hotel. The show is hosted by comedians John Candy and Whoopi Goldberg.

This year, the awards ceremony will feature a performance by Celine Dion, who is set to release her new album. The show will also feature a musical performance by Elton John.

The winners will be announced at the end of the show, and the audience will be able to see the reactions of their favorite stars. The Golden Globes are known for their unexpected outcomes, and this year is no exception.

The ceremony will be televised live from the Beverly Hilton Hotel, and viewers can expect a night of glamour and excitement.

Barber TIPS: Keep your hair short and in good shape.

It's important to keep your hair in good condition, especially during the cold winter months. Short hair is easier to manage and less likely to get frozen into a messy style.

The barber shop is a great place to get your hair cut and styled. Be sure to ask your barber for advice on how to keep your hair looking its best.

LADY JANE

This portrait shows 'Lady Jane,' painted by the professional artist John H. Hay. The painting is currently on display at the Oklahoma City Art Museum.

'Lady Jane' is a portrait of a woman named Jane, who was a prominent figure in the 18th century. The painting is done in the style of a classical portrait, with soft lighting and a gentle color palette.

The artist, John H. Hay, was known for his portraits of women from the upper classes. His works are often characterized by their elegance and grace.

But Not Her Makeup

The Song Lingers On

By S. W. HOWARD

In Hollywood, marriage is a pretty girl should be the ultimate goal. But if she's not a star, she'll have to settle for something less. That's why so many women are now turning to plastic surgery. It's not just for vanity anymore. It's become a way of life. And the results are amazing. They're more than just cosmetic improvements — they're life-changing. Women are discovering that a bit of surgery can transform them into the people they've always wanted to be. It's a revolution in beauty, and it's here to stay.

The lyrics are a bar of soap, and the melody is a kind of spice. They combine to make something beautiful. The song lingers on, haunting the listener long after it's over. It's a classic example of how music can be a powerful force in our lives.
All Is Ready For Apollo 9

The "Flight of Apollo 9" first manned test of the Lunar Module scheduled for a 21-day stay in space to be made by the astronauts, is described as the "most complex and difficult mission" to date. However, the crew is expected to perform well, according to NASA officials.

Crew Names

The crew of Apollo 9 consists of three astronauts:

- James A. Lovell, Jr., pilot
- Fred Haise, Jr., commander
- John Swigert, Jr., command module pilot

The crew will be on hand for the "Flight of Apollo 9" and will be ready to perform their duties.
