Congressman Says He Can Better Serve State In Washington

Jarman Takes Self Out Of Governor's Race

(Editor's Note: This is the tenth in a series of articles on the topic of the Democratic Party's moves toward the November 1964 election.)

Sen. John Jarman Friday took himself out of the 1964 gubernatorial race to ensure victory for Governor Joe Craven, who is expected to seek the Senate seat.

Jarman, 54, was promised a seat in the new Congress if he agreed to be the Senate candidate. "I had no choice," Jarman said. "I feel the people of the state need a senator who can be united with his state and who will work with a conservative governor." Jarman was later quoted as saying, "The people have spoken..."
