Eighth Grader From Duncan Spells 'Em Down

Mustang Girl Second In Bee

By BROOK CLARY

Duncan, 244 people (pop. 3,498, Page 1)

Eighth-grader Kelly Knapp finished second in the city-wide spelling bee May 19 and was selected to compete in the state finals May 30. The 13-year-old was one of 10 children in the first six grades at Duncan Elementary School to qualify; she was the only representative of the school.

Kelly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Knapp. She attends Duncan Junior High School.

She is a member of the school's cheerleading and glee club teams and plans to compete in the national competition. She has been attending the school for 10 years.

Second in the state will represent the school in the regional competition. Her spelling ability is due to her parents and their encouragement. She has consistently come in first place in the preliminary rounds.

Kelly is a Manchester Academy student and is a member of the National Honor Society. She plans to attend Oklahoma State University in the fall.

Extra Batting Drill Pays Off For 89ers

You may have thought the three had seen the end of batting, but they were waiting for another chance. The three were at the batting cage, as usual, waiting for their turn to bat. Suddenly, they heard a loud roar, and they knew there was a new drill to practice. They were excited and ready to give it their best shot.

The first drill involved hitting a baseball with a bat. The three took turns hitting the ball, trying to get it as far as possible. The second drill was more challenging, as they had to hit the ball while running. The three ran towards the ball, trying to time their swing perfectly. The third and final drill involved hitting the ball while jumping. The three jumped into the air, trying to hit the ball as it flew through the air.

After completing the three drills, the three were exhausted but happy. They knew they had improved their batting skills and were ready for the next game. The three settled down in their seats and cheered on their team, ready for the next turn.

Grille Cloth Decorates Back... Cover Piano For Divider

By POLLY SCHMIDT

September 9th was a day full of excitement for Judy Ward. She was dressed in a beautiful white, organza gown with a red sash. The dress was designed by Mrs. Ward, and she had it made by a local seamstress. She was accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, who were dressed in blue and white, respectively.

Judy was married to Russell Terri, and the ceremony took place at the First United Methodist Church in Oklahoma City. The reception was held at the Plaza Hotel, and the couple honeymooned in Hawaii. They returned to Oklahoma City to a warm and loving reception.

The newlyweds are planning to open a small boutique in downtown Oklahoma City, where they will sell high-quality clothing and accessories.

Stuffed Pine Cones Make Bird Feeders

By DORIS JONES

June 1st was a bustling day in the Oklahoma City area, with many couples planning their summer and fall weddings. The couple who caught our attention was Pam Crane, who was planning to marry her boyfriend, John Smith, on June 15th.

John Smith was a high school football player, and Pam was a cheerleader. They met while attending Oklahoma City University and have been dating for two years. They plan to have their wedding in the lovely park near the university, where they have many happy memories.

They have planned a small, intimate wedding, with only their closest friends and family in attendance. They are looking forward to starting their life together and building a happy future.

How To Fight Before, During And After Sex

By Dr. George R. Bach and Peter Wyden

There are people who can be quite eclecic in their sexual habits. Some may have never experienced intercourse before, others may have had sex with each other in the past, but the main point is that they are not afraid to experience new things. They may be勢意 to try new activities, and they are not afraid to try new things. They may be勢意 to try new activities, and they are not afraid to try new things. Seven Areas In Showcase

By ELIZABETH WILLIAMS

SOUTHWEST OKLAHOMA CITY is “lighting up” as southwest builders again hold their Showcase of Homes, this spring featuring 31 brand-new homes built in the Southwest. The Showcase is a 10-day event and features new homes from 25 builders, each showcasing their latest designs and innovations. The event is open daily from 1 to 5 p.m., with special hours on Thursday and Friday. The homes are located throughout the southwest area and offer a wide range of styles and features. The Showcase provides an excellent opportunity for visitors to browse through a variety of homes and learn about the latest trends in home design and construction.

Calling All Builders

From his office telephone, Southwest Showcase Chairman Charles Robinson calls in the morning, checking in on builders who are participating in the Showcase. Robinson, one of the organizers, explains, “The Showcase is a great opportunity for builders to showcase their latest designs and innovations. We encourage all builders to participate and bring their best to the event.”

Worm's Eye View

Sun And Shadows

An afternoon sunlight streaming through the windows of a Showcase home creates a warm and inviting atmosphere. The home features large windows and an open floor plan, allowing natural light to fill the interior. The design includes a combination of traditional and modern elements, creating a comfortable and stylish living space.
Mrs. Jones: Sure Of Tom

By JOE SHORT

With the arrival of the 1969-70 season, the soccer team of Oxford University has been bolstered by the addition of Tom Jones, a forward who has already established himself as one of the team's key players. Jones, a tall and agile striker, has been a consistent scorer for Oxford in recent seasons and is expected to lead the team's attack this year.

Jones, who hails from a small town in rural England, began playing soccer at a young age. He joined a local youth team and quickly rose through the ranks, impressing scouts with his speed, strength, and finish. Jones was eventually scouted by Oxford University and signed as a student-athlete, where he has thrived.

Off the field, Jones is known for his modest and unassuming nature. He is a hard worker both on and off the pitch, and his dedication to the sport has earned him the respect of his teammates and coaches.

Despite his success, Jones remains grounded and focused on the task at hand. He is determined to help Oxford win as many games as possible and is ready to lead his team to greatness.

Mrs. Jones At Home

Mrs. Linda Woodcock, better known as Mrs. Tom Jones, recently moved to Oxford from London, England. She is the wife of Oxford University soccer player Tom Jones.

Mrs. Woodcock is a former teacher who has lived in London for many years. She is a proud mother and an ardent supporter of her son's soccer career. She is often seen at Oxford games, cheering on her son and the team with a smile.

Mrs. Woodcock is looking forward to the upcoming season and is excited to see her son and the team put their skills to the test on the soccer field.

White House Visit Like Trip To Duke's Place

By MYRA MACPHERSON

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jones, who had been invited to the White House for a private dinner with President John F. Kennedy, were hosted by the President and First Lady.

President Kennedy, who is a die-hard Duke Blue Devil fan, arranged for the couple to tour Duke's famous Cameron Indoor Stadium, where the Blue Devils are known for their hard-fought, competitive games.

The President, who is a lifelong Duke fan, showed the couple around the stadium and even posed for a photo with Tom Jones, who is a star player for the Blue Devils.

After the tour, the couple dined at Duke's iconic Cameron Crazies, a staple for all Duke basketball games. The couple enjoyed a meal of hot dogs and chips, a favorite of Tom Jones.

The President, who is a big Duke fan, even joked that he was sure to convince the couple to bring their son to Duke for college.

The couple, who are thrilled to have been invited to the White House, are both Duke fans and are looking forward to their future visits to the Blue Devil's stadium.

Artsy Crowd Sets Fast Past In New Flick

George Cukor and Sarah Brown, shown in a new art film directed by George Cukor, are the stars of the film. The film, which is set in New York, follows the life of an art connoisseur and his journey through the city's bustling art scene.

The film, which is directed by Cukor, is a fast-paced, visually stunning production that features a cast of talented actors and a talented crew.

The film is set in New York and follows the life of an art connoisseur and his journey through the city's bustling art scene. The story is told through a series of vignettes, each featuring a different aspect of the art world.

The film is a tribute to the City's vibrant art scene and is sure to be a hit with art lovers and film enthusiasts alike.

Duke And President

The photo is a reminder of the special relationship between the President and the Blue Devil's basketball team, and it is a reminder of the President's love and support for the team.

Stars Carve Symbol Of Status, Money

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - The idea of utilizing a symbol or picture to indicate the status of a person or organization is not new. It has been used for centuries in various cultures. One such example is the use of a star to signify high status or achievement.

In Hollywood, the star symbol is used to denote the prominence of an actor or actress. The stars are placed on the Hollywood Walk of Fame, which is a sidewalk of fame consisting of more than 2,400 stars. Each star represents a notable figure in the entertainment industry, including actors, directors, producers, and musicians. The stars are made of brass and are set into the pavement in front of the TCL Chinese Theatre.

The idea of using a star symbol has been adapted by Hollywood studios to promote their films and to attract audiences. Studio logos often feature a star in some form, and stars are often featured in movie posters and trailers.

The use of the star symbol in Hollywood has become synonymous with fame and success. It is seen as a symbol of achievement and recognition, and it is often used to convey a sense of prestige and importance.

The star symbol is also used in other industries, such as sports and music. In sports, a star symbol is often used to represent a player who is considered to be one of the best in their field. In music, a star symbol is used to represent a popular or well-known artist.

In conclusion, the use of the star symbol as a symbol of status and money is a common practice in various industries. It is used to signify achievement, fame, and success, and it is a symbol that is widely recognized and understood.
LUCKILY THE ARTS FESTIVAL, held through Sunday, so that the calendar can take a final whack at it, and not be a panic on Saturday, as attention begins to turn to the Christmas holiday season. Here's a sampling of what's where and when:

Uyuk, Yuck On Uyuka

By PHILIPPE DEAN

Yucka remains the major lead-back in the International American News, Thursday, Dec. 1, 1966, where she is being interviewed by a reporter. The story was published in the local newspaper on December 2, 1966. The Yucka family is known for their outstanding basketball skills, and they have been featured in many local news articles and interviews. The article includes a quote from Yucka's father, explaining that she started playing basketball at the age of five, and has been a member of the basketball team since she was ten years old. The article also highlights Yucka's dedication to the sport, and her determination to achieve her goals.

Yucca Rarely Good

One of the most recent stories is an article about the growing of the yucca plant in Marfa's desert country, where the plants are being cultivated in the hopes of creating a sustainable source of food and water for the local community. The article describes the challenges of growing yucca in the desert environment, and the efforts being made by local farmers and researchers to overcome these challenges. The article also highlights the potential benefits of yucca cultivation, including the possibility of creating a new source of income for the local community.

Star Tales To Spin At Arts Foundation

The arts festival will be the major feature of the winter season at the Arts Foundation in Oklahoma City. The foundation will present the performance of "The Arts and the Arts" on Saturday, December 3, at the Arts Center. The performance will feature a variety of artists, including dancers, musicians, and painters, and will be held in the arts center's gallery space. The performance will feature a variety of artists, including dancers, musicians, and painters, and will be held in the arts center's gallery space. The event will provide an opportunity for the arts community to come together and celebrate the creativity and diversity of the arts.
Legend's Has Solid History; Food, Too

By LEMMIE PIERCE

Restaurants don’t usually have “story lines” behind them, and Legend’s of Oklahoma has a legend precisely because it has a story. The story of Legend’s is as much a part of Oklahoma City history as is the story of Oklahoma City itself.

The restaurant at 1310 NE 23rd Street was at one time the infamous Tubby’s, a bar and restaurant. When Tubby closed, the space was converted into a restaurant named Legend’s by Joel D. Coffin, a young man who had a vision of creating a place that would be a landmark for the area.

In the 1960s, Legend’s gained fame for its homemade pies and for its legendary jukebox. The jukebox had over 1000 records and was a favorite among regulars.

The restaurant was in operation for over 30 years, and during that time, it became a staple of Oklahoma City’s dining scene. It was known for its friendly service, delicious food, and comfortable atmosphere.

In the late 1990s, the restaurant was closed and went through a period of decline. However, in 2005, it was purchased by a new owner who restored its original charm and brought back its signature dishes.

Today, Legend’s is again a popular destination for locals and tourists alike. The restaurant continues to offer homemade pies, jukebox music, and a warm, welcoming ambiance.

Legend’s has become a symbol of Oklahoma City’s rich history and its commitment to preserving its past.

Cancer Goes To Cameras

By SHELLY GRABAN

New York (INQ) — New York’s Cancer goes into production in Paris this week, with Big Time playing Mr. Miller. The actress will be on the set in an advisory role.

I hope to go over the story and I must say that it is very well done. The performances are all excellent.

The film is based on a true story of a mother’s love and dedication to her son. It was filmed in Paris and is directed by Peter Miller.

I have seen the preview and I think it is a very touching film. It is very well done and I am sure it will be a huge success.

In conclusion, I would like to say that it is a wonderful film and I highly recommend it to all audiences.

Amber Brown, an Oklahoma City native, stars in the film. The movie has received critical acclaim and is set to be released soon.

Kansas Turning To 'Long Hair'

The Kansas State University football team has adopted a new look, with many playersopting for longer hair. This trend has been influenced by the cultural shifts of the 1960s and 1970s, which saw a rise in the popularity of longer hair among young people. The change in appearance has been met with mixed reactions, with some players and fans supporting the new style, while others have expressed concern.

In the world of entertainment, nudity is a common element in many films and TV shows. However, what happens after the nudity is gone? Often, the storyline or character development may continue to be engaging, even without the visual element of nudity. This can be a testament to the strength of a story and the character's personalities.

A First Philip Roth

Philip Roth's first book, "Goodbye Columbus," was a critical and commercial success. It included stories that explored the complexities of Jewish identity and life in the United States. Roth's writing style was praised for its wit, satire, and social commentary, and the book helped establish him as a major literary voice.

But It's Still Hard To Pigeonhole

"Goodbye Columbus" is often considered a novel, but it could also be seen as a collection of short stories. The book's themes and characters are interconnected, but each story stands alone as a distinct piece of work. This ambiguity has made it difficult to pigeonhole the book into a single genre.

New York — Not long ago, I was talking with a fellow writer about a recent seminar on the topic of marriage. We both agreed that marriage is a complex and often difficult institution, but we also acknowledged that it is a necessary part of life. The seminar focused on the challenges of marriage, and the importance of communication and understanding.

Hemingway Story ‘Irish Whisky’

If you want to learn about Hemingway’s life and works, there are many books available. However, if you want to understand the man behind the writer, you should read about his life and times. Hemingway was a man of many talents, a fighter, a writer, and a lover. He was a man who lived life to the fullest, and his writing reflects that.

One of the best places to start is with his own words. Read his letters, his diaries, and his novels. Hemingway was a man who was not afraid to speak his mind, and his writing reflects that.

Another great place to start is with his friends. Hemingway was surrounded by a group of writers, artists, and musicians who were all influenced by his work. Reading about his friends and their relationship with him will give you a better understanding of his life.

Finally, you should read about Hemingway’s time in Europe. Hemingway lived and worked in Europe for many years, and his experiences there had a profound impact on his writing. Reading about his time in Europe will give you a better understanding of his work and his life.

Remember, Hemingway was a man who lived life to the fullest. His writing reflects that, and his life will continue to inspire generations to come.

Where Do Women Go From Here?

By James F. Fixx

A 17-year-old high-school girl in Monroe, New York, recently filed a formal petition with the state education commissioner. All she wanted was one simple right to her for school-travel deals. The rules would say that the more you're a boy, the better.

The girl, Julia Branch, had played some of the men's team and had lost interest. She saw no reason, therefore, why she shouldn't be permitted to try our for girls, too. Girls, after all, are just as girls are physically more fragile than boys, in school without a sense of gender identity as they live life, study, play football or basketball. So when, she was told, to apply in effect, is a big problem.

The big problem, it turned out, had nothing to do with athletics, but with the social norms of the sex. "I don't think we're quite yet up to the kind of competition," said Dr. George H. F. Givens, director of the State Education Commission, and Robert Driscoll, director of the State Board of Education. "The boy's role is defined by a father or James F. Fixx in a public letter to the education commissioner."

Elsewhere, as a result of Julia's petition, the commissioner did appoint an educational program to try to address this issue in some school, but the kid had no idea what she could do at all. A spokesperson for the education commissioner, however, said that they were playing golf and the girl's father got her some golf clubs.

The answer, or at least one way to conceptualize is with peculiar force by time since when it was a little before the issue of women's equality 50 years ago, an organization that accepts only American women's legal status in the top two per cent of the population. It has not been undertaken yet. These women are as socially isolated or show them to be, does perhaps they might have some sound counsel to solve the problem. My spokesperson, I believe, played golf and the education commissioner is to be seen in his capacity as a representative of a contemporary phenomenon of our times. Women and men, women are arguing that they ought to be treated the same as men. They want to compete equally with men for jobs at equal pay and to attend preschool as all-school.

It is apparent that we are in the midst of a reawakening of feminism, a reawakening every bit as vigorous and colorful as the formations of the 18th century, when it suddenly became clear on these numbers of women that there was more than just, hard, straight, blue in the United States today. Better, better, as a woman.

What is the New Feminism test within does it need? More important, what?—In everything that is likely to achieve for women?

I regard the first of these questions in a strictly logical way. It would seem if it is not today intended for anything else, then we may conclude that what they already have isn't enough. What is it, then, that they think they lack?

The Women Who Get Things Done

By JUDY KLEMSKRUDD

There was a time when the word "woman" conjured up visions of a plump, matronly figure who spent her days cooking and cleaning. But in today's world, women are just as likely to be seen as strong, capable, and confident. When they are needed, they step up to the plate. And when a crisis hits, they are the first to respond. Women have always been leaders in the fight for equality and social justice, and today they are proving that they are just as capable as men in all walks of life.

(just page 3) The Poor People's Campaign is a film that demonstrates how poor city residents can make their voices heard at the polls.

The League's Women's Forum has also included a Model Citizen clinic, which, Mansfield said, would be something like a Clinic on Wheels. The clinics would be held in Spanish-speaking areas, with a special emphasis on educating Spanish-speaking women about their rights.

One of the more unusual examples of civic involvement was accomplished by Mrs. Richard T. Sprague Jr., who was instrumental in getting a new jail for St. Louis County. In 1965, a new jail was opened, and it was named in his honor.

In the middle of the city, a group of women formed a Citizens' Committee to work on the issue of transportation. They decided to call a meeting of all the city's transportation officials, and they succeeded in getting the issue on the agenda of the city council. The council voted to provide new buses, and the women's group was given credit for the decision.

Mrs. Sprague said that she had been inspired by the League's work in other areas, such as housing and education. "I think it's really important to get involved," she said. "It's not only about winning, it's about the process of democracy."
TW Interviews
Bill Blass

What about the clothes themselves? This week talked to Mr. Blass, the creative director of the company's advertising campaign about fashion and the American woman.

The American woman is not as sophisticated as she used to be. She is more casual, she is more active, she is more adventurous. She is more interested in being comfortable, she is more interested in being natural. The whole idea about being sophisticated or being healthy, clean, attractive from the outside isn't as important anymore.

My philosophy is that there is no such thing as seasonal, but all you are seasonal look. Certainly it is the look being here in the fall... being here in the fall.

TW: It is true that designers are currently using clothes that are not usually seen in the stores.

BILL: That's true, and they are using clothes that are not usually seen in the stores.

TW: Are you afraid that these clothes will be seen in the stores?

BILL: I'm not afraid that these clothes will be seen in the stores.

TW: What do you think of these clothes being mass produced?

BILL: I think these clothes being mass produced are a great thing. It means that more people can afford to wear them. It means that more people can afford to look good.

TW: What do you think of the American woman today?

BILL: I think of the American woman today as being more independent, more assertive, more self-confident.

TW: Do you think that the American woman is more confident today than she was in the past?

BILL: I think that the American woman is more confident today than she was in the past.

TW: What do you think of the American woman's love for fashion?

BILL: I think that the American woman's love for fashion is strong.

TW: What do you think of the American woman's love for fashion being mass produced?

BILL: I think that the American woman's love for fashion being mass produced is a great thing.

TW: What do you think of the American woman's love for fashion being mass produced and being affordable to all?

BILL: I think that the American woman's love for fashion being mass produced and being affordable to all is a great thing.

TW: Do you think that the American woman's love for fashion is a positive thing?

Pontiac's bumper-to-bumper bumper.

There has been a good deal of confusion about just who needs what car — and how she wants to use it. Grandmother, let me see your inland at ease.

The answer is almost too simple: the woman of 40+ wants to be treated like a princess. Not as a dote in love with her even cleaner, nor as a Vehicle lurking in the pleasure of the bath and blowing her mind with megalomaniacal love notes. Not as the swag of the brand new amateur. She may be none of these things or all of them. But one thing is for sure: she's a woman who recognises this, accepts it, submits to being treated accordingly and wants the whole new look.

Let's consider: what's important in her life? Women in their 40+ know the importance of comfort. They know the vanity of dressing casually. It's a woman who understands this, accepts it, submits to being treated accordingly and wants the whole new look.

Column readers later suggested a slightly more obvious approach to what is apparently a growing problem: making note of the typical new轟 are very similar problems: making note of the typical new vehicular habits. For instance, that for a woman of 40+, comfortable ride is the greatest need in her life. What about it? And the woman of 40+ knows that.

But what is the right thing? That depends on the woman. It's not to assume that all women are created equal and that men are always correct.

Most women are pleased out of their minds by the thought that she can get a good-looking car. The thought that she can get a good-looking car isn't always enough. It doesn't mean that she's been treated like a princess. Not even if she's been treated like a princess.

And the woman of 40+ knows that.

What Every Man Should Know

By CAROLYN MEYER

Our last lady was born, my husband arrived at the hospital bearing a huge box and a big grin. He had every right to be pleased with himself, because his gift was a gossamer peignoir, a gown, pretty, obviously very expensive. I was sure felt so wickedly pampered — until I got the bill a couple of weeks later. He had charged it to my account.

Loves to. She has been getting the same advice from women since she was a schoolgirl, and will be surprised — perhaps shocked (depending on) — that the same situation actually is being regarded as a man. Like men, women enjoy being treated like princesses, and if you learn, you're likely to know a bit about women in general, as well as about her in particular. So go on the Percy News approach, though. Okay, in a group of half a dozen people, a very unattractive woman whose husband had just met (and whom he was eager to impress) said to the woman, "Percy News, I'll see you all again."

I feel sure I could have come up with a satisfying reply right away, but instead I just looked at the other women, and wondered if they knew what Percy News was.

Don't just for a minute, and that's not just for a minute. Her brothers learned long ago how uncomfortable it can be up there, and occasionally a contemporary leaves the scenes all over again. A fitful race broke with a finish, a hardrace, persona, intelligent, successful, a price catch by any criteria — with this explanation: "We shipped him. We thought he was perfect, and I couldn't stand the pressure. I was never allowed to buy my own car and just be me!"

A man used to know exactly what was wanted of him: he helped ladies in and out of cars, she lets them sit in the seat of the car, and of course he wouldn't have been in these particular women in overcoats sitting in the car, either. He was more important and didn't say anything about where she wanted to go.

In my younger days, I was told that in order to get a gentleman to perform gentlemanly services such as opening doors for you, you must assure that he will — meaning that you are so fine, and is nice and gentle that he will do it for you.

As a matter of fact, some women are rather put by purposely, as symbols of how much you may depend — that they will be so much in love with a man that they will do anything to impress him. The story is told of a woman who bought a new car that was so ugly that her husband complained.

For Men: To make Today's Woman happy, always be sure you are courteous, considerate, and respect her ideas and feelings. And don't forget that people don't change their birthday!

On The Lamb

When Sara Joseph Hale wrote those lines in 1870, she might not have predicted that the lamb would become a staple of the American diet. However, today, lamb is enjoyed by many as a tender and flavorful meat. Whether grilled, roasted, or braised, lamb dishes are a delightful addition to any meal. The tender meat is perfect for slow-cooking or roasting, making it a popular choice for family gatherings and celebrations. Lamb's flavor is distinct, offering a savory and slightly nutty taste that complements a wide range of spices and seasonings.

The history of lamb in America dates back to the 17th century when the first colonial settlers brought sheep to the New World. Over time, the lamb industry grew, adapting to the changing dietary preferences and culinary traditions of America. Today, lamb is celebrated for its versatility, ranging from simple roasts to sophisticated dishes that feature its unique flavors and textures. Lamb dishes often incorporate aromatic herbs and spices, enhancing both the taste and the presentation of the meal.

Whether you're hosting a family dinner, a holiday feast, or simply indulging in a personal treat, lamb is a meat that offers a delightful experience. Remember, with lamb, it's all about the preparation, so take your time, savor the moment, and let the flavors of lamb lead the way in creating an unforgettable dining experience.
The Perpetual Motion Machine —
Wheeler's it's the PTA,
the League of Women Voters, or a baby persuasion down at City Hall, whenever something goes wrong, she's up, up, and away!

The Housewife — She's usually so definite that you can correctly pick her fangs, but underneath it's all basic a heart that will stop at nothing — well, practically nothing — to catch her man.

"Us Keebler Elves want to save you $5 on Cinnamon Crisp" (You do believe in St. 46, don’t you?)

A Cinnamon Crisp is a cavity, by the way, if you have extra Elfin fat, like a sprinkling of sugar and seminatural

Earlier this year the Gallup Poll cited a group of women as among those Americans admire most. This week editors asked these women what words of advice they would offer to a young lady who is preparing to be, like them, among the most admired women of the world?

More than those who replied went the following:

Mrs. Richard M. Nixon: "One of the contributions a woman can make is to be interested in people and take them as you know them: "I have never been able in an audience and lend a life of listener. I need to do something constructive. "I think you get out of life what you put into it. Hopefully in the American dream. I’ve seen it come true in my own lifetime."

Lady Bird Johnson: "I would advise a young lady to get involved with something that means something that means something. I don’t want it to be just some show. I want her to think for herself, to develop her character."

Mary McLeod Bingham: "I want in our coming generation, but the further I find it out for myself as a young woman, for the woman who in her own right of special ability, and that she need not achieve excellence in that area. She then will automatically perform the best of her ability to advance the society of her times."

Ann Landers: "Remmende: don’t be over-concerned, but I feel it is different. It is really very obvious. It is not a thing to be too anxious about, but it is not the point — you can worry about whether or not you are over-concerned, or you will be over-concerned. It is a natural feeling for any girl to have a family."

Feminine Progress? (Page 6) Full-time wives and mothers, the submissives of society, are on the alert. There are other options and arrangements to equip them to be free and do without social stigma or personal stigma. Still, they are not free to make a choice of a world in which exploiting power is central.

The new working women still carry a stigma, but they are showing the way. Their success is a credit to the movement.

Whether she goes to work or stays at home, the woman in the workforce is still the center of attention.

So You Want To Go Back To Work

By CORNELIA K. WYATT

If you're a housewife looking for a remedy to boredom, you may find that opening your own business is the answer. For those bored with the monotony of the same old chores, the same old routine, the same old people, there is a new twist: the small business of work. For many women, the problem is not just one of finding a job, but of finding a job that fits their needs and interests. "I'm tired of doing the same thing every day," says one woman. "I need a change." So she starts her own business. She finds that the flexibility of working on her own time and doing something she enjoys is what she needs.

But what if you've never worked outside the home or haven't had a job for more than a few years? How do you start your own business? First, you need to decide what you want to do. Consider your skills, interests, and what you enjoy doing. Then, research the market to see if there is a demand for your product or service.

Once you've decided on a business idea, the next step is to write a business plan. This will help you determine the costs of starting and running your business, as well as the potential for profit.

Once you have a business plan, you can start looking for funding. This may come in the form of a loan from a bank or a grant from a government agency.

Finally, you need to register your business and obtain any necessary licenses and permits. This will ensure that your business is compliant with all regulations and laws.

Starting a business can be challenging, but it can also be rewarding. With hard work and dedication, you can turn your passion into a successful business.

Women in Men's Jobs

"It's Just a Put-On!" by SANDRA SHEVEY to show enthusiasm: "It's fun — I feel like Osterberg back..." Still, the answer was no job. "You've got a lot of courage. That's all I can say," Harry explained.

My second interview was for an upholsterer's assistant at an expensive Third Avenue dressing shop. I made my way past piles of ancient furniture frames, pieces of foam padding, and tangle of body-size dummy clothes where a middle-aged man sat. He had just come in for the job. "This isn't a girl's job," he replied immediately. "I worked on my hair and I know that furniture isn't so heavy if you know how to pick it up." He was amused, but still unsold. "Do you think a girl can carry boxes up and down stairs?" I couldn't tell him how to prepare for the job or how to collect the clothes. I left the atmosphere, and I would like to see it professionally.

This was the end of my fourth interview. The third floor was filled with men's advertising agency. "Getting on..." The musty atmosphere didn't bother me. "You're here about the entrance on..." I was told. There was a half-moon mat among the men and I filled out an application.

This was the ad for my fourth interview. The third floor was filled with men. "Is your mother..." I tried. "You're here about the entrance on..." I was told. There was a half-moon mat among the men and I filled out an application.

I'm not sure what the ad says that all you need is experience. I hope I have it — I have my experiences. I can't have any experience.

Feminizing the Men's Jobs

"You've probably heard of those women's jobs," the manager intimated. "Well, it's time we showed men what men's jobs are all about!"

"Men should be doing the same kind of work as women," the manager continued. "It's a matter of equality."
