Fear Is Base Of Prejudice

It is a very common thing to hear someone say about a fellow with whom you don’t agree, that he has a ‘bad reputation’. You can’t argue with that unless you have concrete evidence of his shortcomings. He may have made a bad mistake, he may have alienated someone he didn’t mean to, but you can’t decide somebody’s worth by his mistakes. It’s prejudiced to assume that because he committed one mistake, he is a bad person. You can’t judge him for his past, you can only judge him for his present actions.

Good Bet To End Up Out Of Money

New York - Change in the dollar, change in the man, change in the city. And yet, somehow, the same old problems persist. The same old challenges face the same old people. Are we any better off than we were yesterday? It seems like we are just playing the same old game over and over again. We need new solutions to the old problems.
