Political Shoe On Whose Foot?

By changing parties politics to Laos victories is the United States included in a series of events leading to the fall of South Vietnam. But there is no argument that the U.S. has been involved in a series of events leading to the fall of South Vietnam.

A premise is present in this conflict: the United States has been involved in a series of events leading to the fall of South Vietnam. But there is no argument that the U.S. has been involved in a series of events leading to the fall of South Vietnam.

The government is divided over the U.S. role in the war. Some argue that the U.S. should stay out, while others believe that the U.S. should increase its involvement.

State Reaping Benefits From Busy Tinker

Although the primary goal of the OKC Regional Air Material Area (OCAMA) at Tinker Air Force Base is to "provide maximum service to the United States," the center contributes $285 million of its total revenue to state and county governments. Some of these funds are distributed to Oklahoma City and the state in the form of taxes. In addition, the population of Oklahoma County increases by about 4,500 people a year as Tinker draws new families to the area.

This complexity arises from the unique operation of the OCAMA, which is divided into two parts: the OCAMA Operating Fund (OOF) and the OCAMA Research and Development Fund (ORDF).

The OOF is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the OCAMA, including the maintenance of buildings and equipment, as well as the provision of services to the military and civilian personnel stationed at Tinker. The ORDF, on the other hand, funds research and development projects that aim to improve the capabilities of the OCAMA and other military installations.

The OCAMA also contributes to the state economy through the purchase of goods and services from local businesses, as well as through the salaries of the many people who work at Tinker.

Halliburton Record Year Anticipated

By JIM KENDALL

Halliburton Co. reported a record number of new wells drilled with its new model in the first quarter of this year.

The company's earnings rose 43% in the first three months of the year, to $67 million, compared with $46 million a year ago.

Halliburton's results are in line with the overall trend in the oil and gas industry, which continues to benefit from higher oil prices and increased drilling activity.

The company said it expects to see continued growth in the second half of the year, with earnings projected to rise by about 20%.
