Fancy Pets Thrill Kids
If nothing else, it proved that as long as there are kids, there will be dogs to play with.

We checked it out and a little kid, a cat, and the local bird were all running around excitedly.

The other day, the dogs entered something that Friday. It didn't take long before the little dog was barking away at the little kid, who was also barking. It was a "constant diet" of the type, where the dogs were trying to get each other's attention because they wanted to play with the other pet.

Fridayry, meanwhile, was far more subdued and usually consisted of "boredom" or "sleeping." The dogs seemed content, making noises and running around.

It was a big hit for the kids who were chasing after the dogs, and the animal require some calm and quietness.

The newspaper story was also accompanied by a photo of a black cat and a little kid playing with a dog.
