MAN TAKES EPIC STEPS ON MOON

President Talks To Man In Moon

"GIANT LEAP

For Mankind,
Neil Declares"

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) - Man reached the moon Sunday at 8:17 p.m. Oklahoma time. Then for the first time he set his foot on the soil of an alien world. At 12:09 a.m. Neil Armstrong followed Edwin N. "Buzz" Aldrin Jr. back into the Lunar Landing module and man's first walk on the moon was over.

The first step, by 38-year-old civilian Armstrong, hit lunar dust at 9:56:20 p.m., about 6½ hours after Armstrong and Aldrin landed their spaceship Eagle on the lunar surface. "That's one small step for man, one giant leap for mankind," were Armstrong's first words as his foot touched the lunar soil which he likened to powedered charcoal.

A worldwide television audience watched man's first footfall in a world other than his own.

It was Armstrong's left foot, shoed in a space boot 6 inches wide, 13 inches long, and with a zig-zag sole tread, that impacted first.

The step was a dramatic moment in a day jammed with such moments - the landing itself, and Armstrong's superb calm when he overrode the automatic pilot of the lunar lander which was taking the spaceship toward a boulder field, and manually steered himself and Aldrin, an Air Force colonel, free of almost certain disaster.

The first view that millions of earth view- ers saw of the moonwalk was Armstrong's foot pawing the air as he descended the leg...

Latin War: The Old Way

All too often, Brazil is called to come out of the old way and go out of the old way. This is because it is the last country in South America not to have a military dictatorship. But the Brazilian military government has been in power since 1964 and it has been able to maintain stability in the face of political and economic challenges.

People are tired of the old way. They want a different kind of leadership. They want a government that is honest, transparent, and accountable. They want a government that is committed to improving the lives of its citizens. They want a government that is willing to listen to their concerns and address their needs.

Bigger Trucks On Road?

The trucking industry, compared to the rail industry, is generally smaller and more fragmented. This is because trucking is a more flexible and cost-effective mode of transportation for short-haul and intermediate-haul freight.

Industries such as manufacturing, agriculture, and retail trade rely on trucking to transport goods. The demand for trucking services has increased with the growth of e-commerce and the increase in the number of online retailers.

What Is A Conspiracy?

A conspiracy is a secret plan or scheme to achieve a particular objective. It is a plot to violate the law or to harm others. It is a coalition of individuals who work together to accomplish a common purpose.

Conspiracies can involve criminal activities such as fraud, bribery, and extortion. They can also involve political or social objectives such as political unrest or social change.

Senator Snapper

All kinds of things have been said about this proposal. But it's all just talk. The real issue is whether or not we should be allowing more liquor stores to open in the state. The answer is yes. It is time for the state to take action to address the problem of alcohol abuse and to provide more opportunities for responsible drinking.
