Apollo 11 Landing Nearly Aborted

Apollo 11 astronauts, still aboard the spacecraft, planned to initiate a third maneuver, a 'third stage' burn to further slow their descent. However, the crew noticed that the second stage had failed to fully ignite, bringing them perilously close to Earth. What if they descended too fast and didn't have enough thrust to stop their descent? The stakes were incredibly high.

Meanwhile, on the ground, thousands of eager spectators watched the drama unfold. As the spacecraft neared Earth, the tension mounted. The fate of the mission—and its two astronauts—hung in the balance. Would they make it back safely, or would disaster strike? The world held its breath as the Apollo 11 crew made the critical decision that would save their lives...

The Seekers--Part I

Marijuana Billows Forth

By JUDY STEAKS

When the heady smell of marijuana first hit the air in the 1960s, it was a radical new fragrance for many young people. Now, as the drug gains acceptance in some circles, it's also sprouting a new type of culture--one that's more organized and controlled. That's where a young group, known as the "Seekers," comes in. They believe marijuana can be used responsibly and safely, and have formed an organization to spread their message. The Seekers say their goal is to educate the public about the benefits of marijuana, and to change laws that criminalize its use. They point to studies showing the drug can help treat pain and nausea in cancer patients, and that it has potential as a medicine in other ways. The group is also pushing for legalization, saying prohibition has failed and it's time to change the system. The Seekers' members are dedicated and passionate, and they believe in using marijuana for its intended purpose--not as a way to get high. They're trying to bring about a new era of rational and ethical use of marijuana, one that respects the drug's potential and avoids the pitfalls of its history. The group's message is spreading, and some see it as a sign of a new, more tolerant era. The future of marijuana and the Seekers remains to be seen, but their efforts are gaining attention and support among some. They are an important voice in the ongoing conversation about the drug, and their work is essential to realizing a safer, more informed society.
Road Panel OKs City Test

The Oklahoma Road Panel, after conducting tests on various types of barriers, has approved the use of a "T-Band" barrier in Oklahoma City to prevent truck accidents. The barrier consists of a metal frame that is hung on the side of the road. The panel's approval comes after extensive testing in other cities, where the barrier proved effective in reducing accidents.

Ancient Times Relived

Student Diggers Told At ‘Camp Swampy’

Almost all the students at the University of Oklahoma were eager to attend the recent “Camp Swampy” and to meet the presidents of the ancient college of Cambridge, England. The students were given an opportunity to get a glimpse of the life of the ancient college and to see the old college buildings.

Installed

Cambridge University, through its president, Dr. Henry Gilbert, has installed the new president of the University of Oklahoma, Dr. Charles R. Shaffer, at a ceremony held in the main hall of the University. Dr. Shaffer was appointed by the University of Oklahoma Board of Trustees at its meeting last week.

Mr. H. M. Smith, of the University of Oklahoma, said that Dr. Shaffer has been a member of the University of Oklahoma faculty for many years and that his appointment is a well-deserved recognition of his services to the University.

"Mr. Shaffer is a man of great ability and experience who will undoubtedly make a great contribution to the University," said Mr. Smith. "He is a man who is well known for his work in the field of education and who has always been a strong advocate of higher education.

"I am sure that the University of Oklahoma will be proud to have him as its president, and I am confident that he will do a great job.

"Mr. Shaffer has always been a strong advocate of higher education and he has always been a great supporter of the University. I am sure that he will do a great job and that the University will be proud to have him as its president," said Mr. Smith.
