10 GOOD REASONS
why your boy should have a newspaper route.

1. He will have means of his own.
2. He will win real rewards.
3. He will have real power, is doing it as he will later go.
4. He will have to think, to work.
5. He will have to know what he wants to do.
6. He will be subject to the challenge of authority.
7. He will be a leader of men.
8. He will have opportunities for profit.
9. He will have to be good for a living.
10. He will know how to get along with people.

And, we can’t think of a single reason why not.

1,750 Guardsmen Step High At Camp Eagle Ceremony

FORT TOTTLE, Ill. — A rifle, saber and cannon salute were added to the formality of the Army's high stepping ceremony at Camp Eagle in this little village of 837 people.

The 1,750 guardsmen, or soldiers, as they are called, were assembled for a week of basic training in the bleak, eagle-shaped fort, which was built by Civil War veterans.

The ceremony began with a wreath-laying ceremony at the Fort's Civil War monument. The guardsmen then filed into the fort, where a rifle and sabers were presented to the commanding officer.

The ceremony was held in the presence of the governor of Illinois, who was accompanied by the mayor of Tottle and other local officials.

After the ceremony, the guardsmen were given a tour of the fort, which is now a museum.

NASA Goals Are Troubling Top Scientists

In SPHERS, TOTTLE, Ill. — Top NASA scientists are concerned that the space agency's goals are not realistic and may lead to disaster.

"The goals are unrealistic," said Dr. John Smith, a top NASA scientist. "They are not achievable with the current technology and budget.

"We are spending too much money on space exploration and not enough on earth-based research," said Dr. Smith.

The scientists are concerned that the space agency is neglecting important research on earth and in space.

"Dial 8 (For WATS) and Wait"

By HARRY GOLDBERG

OKLAHOMA CITY (UU) - "Remember when you called and couldn't talk, because you're paying too much for your service?" You may soon have to think about it because the phone company is about to change its advertising slogan to "Dial 8 (For WATS) and Wait."

Telecommunications officials say the old slogan was too confusing and the new one will be easier to remember.

"Dial 8 (For WATS) and Wait" is the new advertising campaign being developed by the phone company, which has been under pressure from consumers who say they are being charged too much for their service.

The new campaign will focus on the benefits of using WATS, which stands for "Wholesale Access Telecommunications Service," and will encourage customers to call the WATS line 800-555-1234 for toll-free long-distance calls.

City Girls Eligible For Grant

The City of Oklahoma City is offering a grant program to help residents upgrade their homes and make them more energy-efficient. The program is called the "Home Improvement Grant Program" and it provides up to $1,000 for improvements that will save energy and water.

Eligible projects include weatherization, insulation, and energy-efficient appliances. The grant program is available to low-income residents who own their homes and live in the city limits.

Home Builder Outlines Plan

The new housing development in northeast Oklahoma City is being built by a local home builder named John Smith. The development will include 50 homes and will be called "Sun Valley Estates." It is located just south of the existing Sun Valley shopping center.

The homes will be built in a variety of styles and sizes, from small one-bedroom units to large, multi-bedroom homes. Prices will range from $125,000 to $250,000.

The developer says he expects the homes to sell quickly and that he is already receiving inquiries from potential buyers.

Feet Provide Actor's Start

HOLLYWOOD—Ch���n—and the power to walk—made her picture debut in 'Chitty-Chitty-Bang-Bang,' which has New York premiere Thursday, Aug. 6. Despite the film's already fine reviews, New York critics and radio listeners for the first time now are hearing the story.

Bourneville, the 1928 Baby, was born on a small island in the Mediterranean. She is 5 feet 2 inches tall, with hair to her shoulders, and she was the subject of a story about her birth.

The film is about a young girl who is taken from her home in England and sent to live in America. It is a story of adventure, love, and discovery, and it is set against the backdrop of a world that is changing.

Chitty-Chitty-Bang-Bang will be released in New York on August 6, and it is expected to be a hit with audiences of all ages.

Epic Ben Hur Back In Town

By LIBBY PRIEST

The show approached a new level of excitement Monday night when the Oklahoma City Symphony Orchestra presented a concert to a sold-out crowd. The performance was part of the Oklahoma City Symphony's season, and it featured a variety of pieces, including music from the film "Ben Hur," which was released in 1959.

"Ben Hur" is a film adaptation of the novel by Lew Wallace, and it is considered one of the most iconic films of all time. The film tells the story of a Christian who is enslaved during the siege of Jerusalem.

Monday night's performance featured a mix of music from the film, including themes from the main characters and the story's events. The orchestra was conducted by music director David Zinman, and the performance was well-received by the audience.

After the performance, audience members were asked to rate the performance on a scale of one to five, with five being the highest rating. The average rating was 4.5 out of 5, indicating that the audience enjoyed the performance and was satisfied with the overall experience.

The Oklahoma City Symphony Orchestra continues its season with more performances throughout the year, including concerts featuring music from other iconic films and classical pieces.

Writer Consults Novel For Script

The controversial but popular novel "Chitty-Chitty-Bang-Bang," which was turned into a major motion picture in 1968, is being adapted for the stage. "Chitty-Chitty-Bang-Bang" tells the story of a young girl who is taken from her home in England and sent to live in America. The film was directed by Ken Russell and starred Julie Andrews and Dick Van Dyke.

"Chitty-Chitty-Bang-Bang" is being produced by the London-based company, Little Big Top, which is known for producing hit stage shows such as "Wicked" and "Les Miserables.

The cast of "Chitty-Chitty-Bang-Bang" is currently being announced, although some of the key roles have already been assigned. The role of the main character, "Chitty," will be played by a young girl who was born with the power to walk.

The production is expected to run for several weeks, with performances scheduled from October 1 to October 15.

It was a quarter of an hour past 10 a.m. as I turned the page of the OKLAHOMA JOURNAL. I was in the mailroom of the newspaper's headquarters, and I was thinking about the time I had spent in the mailroom the day before. I had been working on a story about the history of the newspaper, and I had been thinking about the time I had spent in the mailroom the day before.

Gal Skydiver Admits Honor Dubious One

By STEVE DRYSDALE

Redwood City, Calif. (AP) — A female parachute jump-er recently declared himself a "coward." He even confessed that he was afraid of heights, but "I just needed the money," he said.

The 26-year-old parachutist, who asked not to be named, said he had jumped 10 times in the past year, but only once without a parachute.

"I'm not a coward," he said. "I'm just scared of heights."

The parachutist, who had been planning to make his 11th jump next week, said he was "tired of being afraid." He added: "I'm not afraid of flying. I'm just afraid of the heights."

Lyric Amateurs Often Do Better Jobs Than Guests

By LARRY PRICE

It is not too early to the amateur actor at the Lyric Theater, with two weeks yet to go in the "Fiddler on the Roof," to start planning his or her next move. The Oklahoma Civic Theater is looking for new talent, and the amateur actor is a likely source.

"Fiddler on the Roof" has been a success, not only because of its humorous plot and appealing songs, but also because of the talent of its actors. Many of the amateurs have been so good that they have earned their keep. The Civic Theater has already booked several of them for future productions.

The amateurs are not limited to roles in musicals. They have also been successful in dramatic roles. The Civic Theater is looking for actors of all types, from comedians to serious dramatic actors.

Marilyn Monroe Unique Talent

By J. B. SMITH

The 1962 world has had its share of madness, but the scholars have been able to put a few things into perspective. Marilyn Monroe was one of the few people who seemed to have a unique talent. She was able to make life interesting, even when it was not.

Marilyn Monroe was a remarkable actress, but her talent went beyond that. She was able to capture the essence of a character and bring it to life in a way that few others could. She was able to make the mundane seem extraordinary.

Film Prompts Crank Calls

The Oklahoma City Symphony Orchestra has been featured in a film that is now being shown in local movie theaters. The film, titled "The Oklahoma City Symphony," has prompted a number of calls to the symphony office.

The film is about the symphony and its conductor, who is about to retire. The conductor is played by a famous actor who has never appeared in a movie before. The film is a tribute to the conductor and his many years of service to the symphony.

Our Campus Critics
By Senator Edmund S. Muskie

It was not until my vice-presidential campaign in 1968 that I was confronted by young people of college age who challenged me as a candidate of “The Establishment.” Suddenly I found myself on the other side of the generation gap.

My political career began in 1946, not long after my return to civilian life, when I ran for election to the Maine State Legislature. Since that first campaign, I have gone to the voters of Maine seven times as a candidate for State Representative, Mayor, Governor, and Senator. In the Maine election campaigns I was surrounded by young Democrats, challenging an old tradition of (continued on page 2)

-- William J. Howard Baker, Editor

There aren't enough sunsdales in the week.

The issue of college and university is to expand knowledge and to expand our capacity to see that the institutions are operated in a way that is consistent with the highest ideals of our society. And the most efficient way to do this is to have a system of education that is responsive to the needs of all of us.

The problem is not just the need for more teachers and more administrators, but also the need for a system that is responsive to the needs of all of us. And the way to do this is to have a system that is responsive to the needs of all of us.

Where Has All Our Silence Gone?

By VICTOR BLOCK

Pace for a moment during an average day, step quietly and listen. What do you hear?

If you’re in a big city, it might include honking horns; the snort of a jackhammer; the roar of a jet plane; the clank of a nearby garbage truck. If you’re in a small town, perhaps you hear the sound of the breeze or a distant train whistle. What do you hear?

Silence, it seems, is a luxury most of us take for granted. Yet, it can be a powerful force. It can help us focus, think, and even heal.

But what if we’re hearing too much? What if the sounds of our world are overwhelming us, sucking the silence out of our lives?

One way to understand this is to consider the phenomenon of "white noise." It’s called "white" because it’s a broad spectrum of frequencies, like a sound that’s heard in a room with no dominant sound.

White noise can be soothing, but too much of it can be distracting and even harmful. It can disrupt our sleep, impair our ability to concentrate, and even affect our mental health.

So, what can we do? One solution is to create "quiet zones." These are areas where noise levels are carefully controlled to allow for quiet reflection and rest.

Another solution is to reduce the amount of noise we create. This can be as simple as turning down the volume on our music or as complex as designing buildings that reduce sound transmission.

Ultimately, the key is to find a balance. We need noise to survive, but too much can be overwhelming. By understanding the effects of noise on our minds and bodies, we can work to create a world where we all have the space to listen.

Along with hearing loss, noise can also have an emotional effect on our bodies. It can be stressful, increase blood pressure, and affect the heart, and it can even alter our sleep patterns.

But it’s not all bad. Noise can also be a tool for us to use. By understanding its effects, we can use noise to our advantage, and even create "positive noise" to improve our mental and physical health.

The key is to find a balance. We need noise to survive, but too much can be overwhelming. By understanding the effects of noise on our minds and bodies, we can work to create a world where we all have the space to listen.

Dear Editor:

I am writing to support Richard Adler's position against nudity and to ask that the citizens of the state of New York enact legislation to that effect. The proposal is a reasonable and practical solution to the problem of nudity in public places. It would allow citizens to enjoy the benefits of public nudity in a safe and controlled environment, while also protecting the rights of others who may be uncomfortable or distressed by such conduct.

Sincerely,

Survival Skills

They are called schools, but no English, history, or science was taught. The curriculum simply included hunting at jaguar, jaguar, and bear—both—every day, and what they learned was how to survive in the wilderness.

One of the main objectives was to teach the students how to live off the land. They were taught to identify edible plants and animals, and how to prepare and cook them. The students were also taught how to build shelters, make tools, and hunt for food.

During the day, the students would go on expeditions to find food and gather water. They would also spend time learning about the local flora and fauna. At night, they would gather around a fire and share stories of their adventures.

The students were also taught how to read maps and navigate through the wilderness. They were given a compass and a map, and taught how to use it to find their way.

The students were also taught how to make simple tools and weapons, such as spears and knives. They were also taught how to make a fire using dry leaves and wood. The students were also taught how to make a shelter using rocks and branches.

The students were also taught how to find water in the wilderness. They were taught how to identify edible plants and how to purify water using methods such as boiling or filtering.

The students were also taught how to survive in the wilderness if they were lost. They were taught how to make a fire to keep warm, and how to make a shelter using available materials. The students were also taught how to find food and water in the wilderness.

The students were also taught how to make a simple raft to cross rivers and streams. They were also taught how to make a simple sled to cross snow and ice.

The students were also taught how to survive in the wilderness if they were caught in a storm. They were taught how to find shelter and how to make a fire to stay warm.

The students were also taught how to survive in the wilderness if they were attacked by an animal. They were taught how to avoid and escape from animals, and how to defend themselves if necessary.

The students were also taught how to survive in the wilderness if they were injured. They were taught how to treat common injuries such as cuts and bruises, and how to find and use natural remedies.

"I lived many years in a couple of weeks."

There were those who knew the story of my experiences as the life of a young man. The more you know about life, the more you learn about death. The more you understand life, the more you realize that death is not the end. The more you grow, the more you realize that life is not about the end, but about the beginning.

The more you live, the more you understand that life is about the journey, not the destination. The more you learn, the more you realize that there is no such thing as a perfect life. The more you grow, the more you understand that life is not about success, but about the lessons we learn. The more you love, the more you realize that life is not about the love we receive, but about the love we give.

The more you understand, the more you realize that life is not about the wealth we accumulate, but about the wisdom we gain. The more you grow, the more you understand that life is not about the things we own, but about the relationships we create. The more you love, the more you realize that life is not about the power we have, but about the impact we make.

The more you live, the more you understand that life is not about the control we have, but about the freedom we experience. The more you grow, the more you realize that life is not about the things we achieve, but about the memories we create. The more you love, the more you realize that life is not about the things we do, but about the people we touch.

The more you understand, the more you realize that life is not about the compliments we receive, but about the criticism we overcome. The more you grow, the more you understand that life is not about the success we achieve, but about the failures we learn from. The more you love, the more you realize that life is not about the accomplishments we make, but about the connections we form.

STUDY LAW IN SPARE TIME

as a way to increased earnings

Whatever your present position — whether your interest inclines you to earning a living through legal means or not — your future financial security is bound up in the law. You need to understand the law in order to analyze problems, anticipate its effects, and guide your actions. You need to understand the law to avoid mistakes; to save money; to save time and energy; to avoid difficulties; to use your resources more effectively; to protect yourself and your family; to avoid hazards; to cooperate in a business; to safeguard your property; to satisfy your personal or social interests; to provide for your comfort in old age; to provide for your family. You need a legal education.

Loyola law training is practical and thorough. You will study in classes that meet at noon or in the evening — or any time that suits you — until you have completed the course of study. You will be able to attend classes even if you work full time. Your studies are directed by the profession of law. The degree of Loyola law training is a degree of practical knowledge and ability in the law. You will be prepared to enter the legal profession with the confidence and skill of a lawyer.

The opportunity of a lifetime is opening to qualified individuals. You can earn a law degree in your spare time. You can work in your spare time. You can be a lawyer in your spare time. You can earn your law degree while you work.

Is using the wrong freezing wrap costing you money? by Poppy Cannon

Sad to say, it is... if you're toasting fresh meats or poultry into your freezer in the see-through wrap you brought them home in.

You see, the plastic wrap on your meats and poultry is a food protection barrier. They keep dry, cold air out, keeps moisture in. Use Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap, a strong sheet of aluminum foil that's a real moisture-barrier. Keeps dry, cold air out, keeps moisture and flavor in. Know what else? The faster foods freeze, the faster they thaw. And Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap actually speeds freezing, because it's a natural conductor of both heat and cold.

What's the right way to wrap for freezing?

Because "frozen burn" may develop whenever air pocket exist, tight wrapping is so. So double-fold the foil down tight across the top of the food, smoothing out all the air between the food and the foil. Then seal the edges with the easy-to-use, roll-up straws, and press them tight against the food.

Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap seals and keeps tight, protects your food for months to come.

Food technologists agree there's no better wrap for the foods you freeze. From apples to steaks to desserts. So if you want to keep your frozen food, use Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. It will save you money and a disappointment. And a dollar. Reynolds Wrap can be a big help...

WHAT TIME ARE ANDY AND RODNEY COMING BY?

THEY SHOULD BE HERE ANY MINUTE!

I DON'T KNOW WHY THEY ACCEPTED A DATE WITH THEM.

RODNEY'S CAR IS SUCH AN OLD CLUNKER!

WHAT DON'T UNDERSTAND IF THEY THINK THEIR UNCLE'S ARE SUCH A DRAG!

WHY DO THEY SPEND TWO HOURS GETTING READY TO GO OUT WITH THEM?

LOIS

DEAR POLLY: I can't get anyone to date me.

POLLY: Be honest, are you really asking them out or are you just looking for someone to help you lose weight?

DEAR POOLY: I was only asking them out, but if you want, I can change my story.

POLLY: You know, if you're looking for a date, you might want to try asking around at the local gym. They're often full of eligible singles.

DEAR POOLY: I like the idea of asking around at the gym. It sounds like there might be someone there who suits my interests.

DEAR POOLY: Sometimes, it's not just about meeting someone who looks good, but finding someone who has the same hobbies and interests as you.

DEAR POOLY: Is there anything you can tell me about finding the perfect match?

DEAR POOLY: Sometimes, the best matches are those that come from unexpected places. You never know when something great will happen.

DEAR POOLY: I'll keep your advice in mind and see where it takes me.

DEAR POOLY: It's always good to be open to new experiences. Who knows, you might just find something or someone that changes your life for the better.
