Organizer Starts Strike Tiff
NAACP Leaders Disagree On Need

By PHILIP MORRIS

ARRIVAL OF A NEW and active Negro organizer who was active in a Memphis, Tenn., sanitation workers strike and is now heading the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People's challenge in Arkansas against the city of Little Rock, has not been welcomed by the city's NAACP chapter. The challenge, made by Robert Blackman, a former Negro sanitation worker in Memphis, was not accepted by the city's NAACP chapter.

Mr. Blackman's arrival was accompanied by a strike threat from the local chapter, which has been trying to organize Negro sanitation workers in the city for some time.

The NAACP chapter has been trying to organize the city's Negro sanitation workers for several years, but has been met with resistance from the city's white officials.

Blackman's arrival was greeted with hostility by the city's NAACP chapter, which has been trying to organize Negro sanitation workers in the city for some time.

Inmates Set Example

The 1841 case of the insurrection in the state penitentiary by the so-called "Phantom Phrases" was a precedent for the treatment of prisoners in Kansas. It has been reported that the prisoners, who had been imprisoned for various crimes, were punished excessively. This incident set a precedent for the treatment of prisoners in the state.

Intransigence Big As Pyramids

The term "intransigence" refers to a strong, stubborn refusal to change or compromise. As a state, Kansas was known for its strong stance on certain issues, such as the Kansas-Nebraska Act and the slavery issue. The term "intransigence big as pyramids" likely refers to the size of the pyramids in Egypt, which were seen as symbols of power and grandeur.

Dear Editor:

I am writing to express my concern about the recent increases in utility prices. It seems that every month, my utility bills are getting higher, which makes it difficult for me to manage my finances. I understand that these increases are necessary to cover the cost of maintaining and upgrading the infrastructure, but I believe there should be more transparency in how these costs are calculated.

Sincerely,
