Hanoi's Future Without Ho

The people in Hanoi and the rest of Vietnam have been waiting for years for the promised peace that they thought would come with the death of Bao Dai. But now that Ho Chi Minh is dead, there is still no sign of peace. The North Vietnamese and the South Vietnamese continue to fight, and the people of Vietnam are still suffering.

Broadcasting License Inequities

The broadcasting license fees in the United States are a system that rewards the rich. The rich stations, which have more money to spend on legal fees and lobbying, can afford to pay higher fees and still receive higher ratings. The poor stations, which have less money to spend on legal fees and lobbying, cannot afford to pay as much and receive lower ratings.

K-State Passing Ace Says Wildcats Better

The K-State passing attack is the key to the Wildcats' success this season. The team's quarterback, Tom Wright, says that with the right combination of receivers and a solid running game, the Wildcats can contend for a conference title.

'Purple Pride' Shows Through

In the game against Oklahoma, the Wildcats relied on their passing game to come out on top. Quarterback Tom Wright threw for over 300 yards and four touchdowns, leading the team to a decisive victory.

Simpson Ready For Action

The University of Oklahoma's running back, James Simpson, is ready to face the K-State defense. With his speed and agility, Simpson poses a significant threat to the Wildcats. Coach Bob Stoops has emphasized the need for his team to contain Simpson and neutralize his impact on the game.

Hurricane Continues Conditioning

The University of Florida's conditioning program continues to receive high praise. The team's focus on endurance and strength training is paying off, as players report feeling stronger and more prepared for the upcoming season.

Modified Title OU Holds 'Sluggish' Practices

The University of Oklahoma's football team has modified its practice schedule to accommodate a more aggressive coaching style. With a focus on increased intensity and shorter, more intense practices, the team is looking to develop a more disciplined approach to their training.

3 Homers In Row Sink Tigers, 5-4

The University of Texas baseball team hit three home runs in a row, securing a 5-4 victory over the University of Oklahoma. The team's offensive performance was a key factor in their win, as they capitalized on opportunities to score runs and maintain a lead throughout the game.

DIRECTION IS 'UP' FOR POKES

OU football coach Bud Wilkinson: "We think we've the best team in the Big Eight, and if we take care of business the rest will fall into line."

OU, Missouri Teams To Beat

Big Eight Best In Land?

By LEE MUELLER

The Big Eight Conference may lose its glamour if the conference race is scaled on whom the conference teams beat and how well they beat them. From the standpoint of records, the conference teams are just as strong as they have ever been the last few seasons, with the ratio of wins to losses being extraordinarily high. In 1969, all teams in the Big Eight lost a total of 91 games.

The conference has been the subject of much speculation, with many saying that it is the best ever. The conference has been overshadowed by the success of the Southwest Conference and the Southeastern Conference, which have been the dominant conferences in the past. The Big Eight, however, has continued to produce strong teams and has been a source of great excitement for football fans.

The conference is composed of the University of Oklahoma, Oklahoma State University, University of Kansas, University of Missouri, University of Texas, University of Iowa, University of Kansas State, and the University of Missouri-Kansas City. The conference is divided into two divisions, the Southwest and the Northeast, and each team plays teams from both divisions.

Each team in the Big Eight has a conference game each week, except for the final week, when all teams play non-conference opponents. The conference games are played on a rotating schedule, with each team playing four conference games each season.

The conference championship is determined by the results of the conference games. The team with the best record in the conference games is declared the conference champion and is eligible to play in the Cotton Bowl.

The conference has a rich history, dating back to 1914 when it was formed. The conference has produced some of the greatest football players and teams in the history of the sport, including the Oklahoma Sooners, the Oklahoma State Cowboys, and the Kansas Jayhawks.

The conference has been a source of great pride for its fans, and its games are eagerly anticipated each season. The conference has produced some of the greatest rivalries in college football, including the OU-Texas game, the OU-Kansas game, and the OU-Missouri game.

The conference has been a source of inspiration for generations of football players, and its teams have produced some of the greatest coaches and players in the history of the sport. The conference has been a source of great excitement for football fans, and its games have been a source of great pride for its fans.
Redmen Picked In OCAC Chase

By R. K. REIDLEY

Normed bullet speed and the Northwestern four-man backfield allows the Redmen to chase the conference championship in the upcoming season. The Redmen have several players who are expected to make significant contributions.

The offense is expected to be led by quarterback John Smith, who is returning for his senior season. Smith is a solid passer and will be key in keeping the offense flowing.

On defense, the Redmen have several players who are expected to make an impact. The line is led by tackle Mike Brown and linebacker Tom Jackson, both of whom are key in stopping the opposition's run game.

The conference is expected to be competitive, with several teams vying for the top spot. The Redmen are looking to build on their success from last season and make a run at the championship.

Major Loops Due Reshuffle

The conference (MBB) season will likely be the last for the Bobcats in the Oklahoma Intercollegiate Conference. The Bobcats have struggled to keep up with the more successful teams in the conference and are expected to make some changes to their roster and coaching staff.

The Bobcats' biggest area of concern is defense, with several key players expected to leave the team. The coaching staff is expected to look for new faces to fill the void and help improve the defense.

Colts Get Shot At Revenge

By Don Durnavich

Jim Irsay's Colts face a very familiar challenge as they try to get past the San Francisco 49ers this weekend. The game will be played in Candlestick Park, a place where the Colts have struggled in the past. In 1982, the 49ers defeated the Colts 27-17. In 1983, the 49ers won 34-7. The only time the Colts have won in Candlestick Park was in 1984, when they defeated the 49ers 24-17.

But this year, the Colts are a different team. They have improved defensively and have a much stronger running game. The 49ers, on the other hand, have not improved as much.

The Colt's defense, led by Ray Lewis, has been solid all season. They have only allowed 14 points per game and have held their opponents to an average of 130 rushing yards. The 49ers, on the other hand, have struggled on defense. They have allowed 29 points per game and have given up an average of 185 rushing yards.

On offense, the Colts have been led by quarterback Peyton Manning. He has thrown for 3,760 yards and 23 touchdowns. The 49ers have struggled on offense, with quarterback Alex Smith throwing for only 2,500 yards and 14 touchdowns.

The game will be key for both teams. The Colts are 5-3 and need to win to stay in the playoff hunt. The 49ers are 4-4 and need to win to keep their playoff hopes alive.

Norman Tough Again In Boomer

By J. S. BRYANT

The Oklahoma State defense will have its work cut out to keep the TCU offense at bay when the two teams meet tonight in Stillwater. The Pokes, who are rated as one of the top ten defensive units in the country, will be faced with the challenge of stopping the second-best rushing attack in the Southwest Conference.

The Oklahoma State defense has been a consistent force throughout the year, buoyed by a strong performance against the run. The unit has successfully limited rushing attacks and will look to do the same against the potent TCU offense.

The TCU offense, led by quarterback Bobby Bright and running back Bud Culp, has been a key factor in the team's success. Bright, a senior, has thrown for over 2,000 yards and 20 touchdowns, while Culp, a junior, has rushed for over 1,000 yards and 14 touchdowns.

Both teams are looking to improve their conference records. Oklahoma State currently sits at 5-2 in the Big Eight, while TCU is 5-1 in the Southwest Conference. The winner of tonight's game will have a significant impact on the conference standings.

The game is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. ET in Stillwater, Oklahoma. Fans are encouraged to arrive early to secure their seats and experience the thrilling atmosphere of this heated rivalry.
Lindsay Challenges Clinton Again

For two straight years, Clinton has maintained every bit of momentum over Lindsay. However, Lindsay has managed to finish second both years. The two teams are again playing this week in a game that could very well decide the championship.

Coach Bob Spence, in charge of Clinton, has a new look this year, but his team is ready for the challenge. The Lindsay defense has improved significantly, and Spence is counting on his defense to carry the team. The Clinton offense has a balanced attack, with strong running and passing. The key to victory for Lindsay is to stop Spence's running game and to force him to rely on his passing.

Casady Is Looking For More Success

Casady has been off to a strong start this year, and Coach Joe Turner is hoping to continue the momentum. The Lions have a strong defense, led by star linebacker Joe Turner. The offense has been led by quarterback Noel Gibson, who has thrown for over 1,000 yards so far this season. Gibson's, speed and accuracy make him a dangerous threat.
