Zoo Group Turns Against Ogilvie

By PHILIP MORRIS

The Oklahoma Zoological Society has withdrawn its support of Oklahoma City Zoo Director Dr. Phil Ogilvie in light of his alleged sexual advances toward a former employee. The society announced its decision in a statement released by its president and chairman, the emeritus society director, Dr. Robert L. Ogilvie. The statement reads in part: "The management has determined that Dr. Ogilvie has been on notice for effectiveness that it may have to take decisive action for the City of Oklahoma City."

Ogilvie appeared to have the support of the mayor when he announced in December that he would resign. However, he changed his plans to remain in the job until December 1979. The zoo board is expected to discuss his resignation this month.

The mayor said he would make a decision in the coming days but did not rule out the possibility of a resignation. Ogilvie denied any wrongdoing.

The zoo group, which includes many prominent citizens and business leaders, has been critical of Ogilvie's management style and financial decisions. The group has threatened to sue the zoo if Ogilvie is not fired.

The society's decision was announced by President John Pritchett at a meeting with Oklahoma City Councilman at 200 W. 2nd St.
Huguenots Set Lunch, Talk By Minister

Betrothals Revealed By Couples

This Fall's Fling...

Bridal News...

Linda Swanson Weds

Wendy Swanson

Polly's Pointers...

Converted Top Sheet 'Fit For King'

Social Notes

Sisters To Meet On Coast

Before Flying In Opposite Directions...

Sears

Imperial living COLOR PORTRAIT

only 99¢

at last! an 8" x 10"
Editorials

Nixon's Headaches Mount

The administration in Washington now faces a growing problem. The public is increasingly dissatisfied with the way things are going. The economy is not recovering as quickly as expected, and the budget deficit continues to grow. The situation is made worse by the fact that the President's popularity is declining.

So here we have a situation where the President cannot do anything right. The budget deficit is too large, the economy is not recovering, and his popularity is declining. What can he do to reverse these trends?

Never Enough A-1 Teachers

The teacher shortage that has plagued the nation for years has not improved. It is a crisis that requires immediate attention. The nation's schools need more teachers, and the administration is not doing enough to address the issue.

If teachers are to be given a chance to be able to do their jobs, they must be paid enough to attract and retain qualified individuals. The administration must find a way to increase the salaries of teachers and improve their working conditions.

State Editors Say

The Oklahoma Journal

So Where Are The Parents?

We've been hearing a lot about how the parents of the teenagers are responsible for their behavior, but where are they? They are not taking the responsibility that they should.

Virginia Payette

All The Time Studying

In the wake of the recent events, parents need to take a more active role in their children's lives. They should be more involved in their education and their lives overall.

Bill Tharp

Tales Of An Early-Day Lawman

In the early days of law, the frontier was a place of great danger. The lawmen who patrolled the frontier were often called upon to solve crimes and keep order. It was a dangerous job, but one that was necessary for the safety of the frontier.

Bracelets For Breakfast Brighten Jackie's Day

The president's wife, Jackie, had a bright idea. She decided to have breakfast with children who were wearing bracelets. The children were thrilled to meet the first lady and to have breakfast with her.

The Incredible Honeymoon—III

Jackie's Honeymoon

The president's wife is back from her honeymoon. She and the president spent a wonderful time in Europe, and they are now returning to Washington.

Between Parent And Teenager—XIII

The Case Against Popularity

Glad

In a recent letter to the editor, a reader expressed their concern about the impact of popularity on students. They suggested that popular students often get special treatment, which can be unfair to other students.

Bob Considine

Harry While It's Still Heaven

The recent events have shown the importance of understanding and respecting each other's differences. We must work to build a society where everyone is treated with respect and dignity.

Hill Stirs New Storm In NAACP

In a recent speech, the president called for reforms within the NAACP. He said that the organization needs to be more accountable to its members.

Wolf To Take Job In Texas

In a recent move, the president announced that he would be taking a job in Texas. This has raised concerns about his commitment to his duties.

Marches Out, Say Muslims

In a recent statement, the president called for Muslims to march out of the country. This has sparked a debate about how we can best address the challenges facing our society.
Writers Blast Walker's Tactics

McLain Hurls 23rd Win, 2-0
Sims' Blast Powers 4-1 Indian Win

Women's Results

Court Blocks Barry's Jump

On The Sport

Light OU Workout Keys Togetherness

Rugby Freshmen Simulate Scanners

Subs Please Gass

Pirates Lose Two To Philly

Market Summaries

Closing Prices Listed On The New York Stock Exchange
City Woman Charged In Murder

A murder charge was filed today against Judy Elmore, 42, in connection with the stabbing death of her former lover's house- maid, Mary Rabase, 33. Rabase's body was discovered burned at the Oklahoma City home.

CSC Enrollment Passes 10,000

RECORD—Some 13,110 students enrolled at Central State College last week, the numbers in female outnumbering figures. It is above the 30,000 students enrolled at the same time last year. Total enrollment at the school was reported to last year's figures of 30,016. Estimated enrollment for the 1969-70 school year was expected to be above 11,000.

'Massing Of Colors' Set Friday

All Oklahomans are being invited to the U.S. flag on Fri- day's opening of the 'Massing Of Colors' program being held at the State Fair of Oklahoma. J. M. Elrod, chairman of the special free public program to be presented at the fair's grandstand, has announced that the presentation will be held in the program by bugle and flag, as well as at the building. The fair is open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and group members will participate in the heat of the programs. Friday will be the opening day of the fair.

Society Slates Meeting

The Oklahoma City chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management will hold its first regular monthly meet- ing of the year on Monday, May 13, at noon, in the 25th floor dining room of the Petroleum Building. A social hour will begin at 11:30 a.m., and the meeting will begin at 12:15 p.m.

Bright Future Seen
For Dental Specialty

Dr. J. E. B. Backer T
tic and develop- ment of the dental specialty were emphasized Monday at the annual meeting of the American Acad- emy of Oral Medi- cine, meeting at the Sheraton Hotel. Oral medici-

Dr. William T. Chapman, R. E. Price, T. B., received the award of the Texas Academy of General Dentistry for the first time in the state of Texas.

Subject of the educational presentations ranged from X- ray photography to the use of antibiotics in the treatment of dental diseases. There were more than 350 regional cardinals gathered for the session.

Dr. George W. Welker, president of the American Academy of Oral Medicine, said the development of dental specialty is "wholly" good.

He said that approximately 10 per cent of the population would benefit from this development. Dr. Welker will soon be affiliated with the University of Oklahoma in the Oklahoma City.

He has practiced in Enid for 20 years.

"The future is extremely bright," he said, "especially with the advent of thirty-year loans and payments and insurance." New opportunities will also be available with the develop- ment of the University of Oklahoma School of Dentistry at Enid. It has been announced that the new facility will be in 1970.