New York (UPI) — Actress Jacqueline Onassis was on the set of the film "The Other Side of the Wind," directed by auteur Orson Welles, on Friday. She tried to get into the movie business, but her acting career was not as successful as her previous work in television and film. She was married to former President John F. Kennedy, and was known for her beauty and intelligence. On Friday, she was seen on the set, where she was supposed to be filming a scene. She was wearing a long dress and sunglasses, and appeared to be in good spirits. The crew was working on the film, and the weather was warm and sunny. Onassis has been active in the film industry for many years, and has appeared in several films and television shows. She is also a successful businesswoman, and has been involved in various philanthropic activities.

Jet quarterback Joe Namath has two seasons behind him in the NFL, but the game still has a lot of mysteries for him. He learned some things that will help him in the Jets' game against the Chiefs.

Stenerud's 21-yard field goal in overtime gave the Chiefs a 26-24 victory over Denver. The Chiefs are now 1-1 in division play.
