Palestinian Guerrillas Own Law

Thank God that the police won't shoot the Palestinians. For years they've been trying to keep the peace, but they just can't seem to control themselves. This is a tangled situation, but let's not lose sight of the fact that they've been the ones who've had to deal with the violence.

Pakistan government's withdrawal of all its troops from the area will surely help ease the situation. But until there's a real solution, we'll have to keep an eye on it.

The people here want the Palestinian government to stay, but they also want to see some changes. Maybe this is the time to think about a peace plan.

The Case Of Agnew

Iowa Staters, Fairbanks Heap Praise On Owens

By KATON K. BERRY

NORMAN, Okla. — Clair Farnsworth doesn’t remember seeing a Norman native who ran so well. He doesn’t remember seeing one who could run against the finest front lines in the University of Oklahoma’s history. Farnsworth is the 15th Oklahoma football coach.

"When I saw this young man, I almost said, ‘I don’t think I want to coach anymore,’" said Farnsworth. "I mean, I don’t think I’ve seen a back run as well as this young man." His name is Jim Owens.

His story isn’t one of those typical rags-to-riches, but his performance on the field has made him a legend among Sooners. His speed and agility are to be envied by any athlete, and his ability to hold on to the ball is a testament to his determination.

The Oklahoma Sooners take on the University of Colorado in Boulder for the Big Eight Championship tonight. The Sooners need a win to guarantee a berth in the Cotton Bowl.

Owens has been a key player for the Sooners, scoring a crucial touchdown in the first quarter of the game against the Colorado Buffaloes.

"He’s a player that I wouldn’t want to see in my backfield," said Farnsworth. "He’s got the speed, he’s got the agility, and he’s got the determination. He’s a player that you don’t want to see when you’re looking at the scoreboard."

DOUG MCCLURE

Orland Park's 12-year-old left-hander, Doug McClure, making his debut on the Illinois collegiate scene, pitched a one-hitter Tuesday night as Illinois defeated Loyola, 6-0.

McClure's masterpiece was a complete game, striking out 11 Ramblers in 9 innings, as he retired 27 batters in a row from the third to the ninth inning.

The game got away from Illinois early in the first inning. Illinois scored one run in the top of the first and 5 runs in the second to put Loyola out of the game.

Pitt Upends Syracuse

The Syracuse Orange, who had won 11 of their last 12 games, were upended by Pitt in the ACC opener, 9-2.

The Pitt Panthers scored the first run of the game in the second inning and the Syracuse Orange never scored again.

X-Ray Examination

A simple yet effective way to determine the presence of tuberculosis in the lungs, X-Ray examination is an important tool in the early detection and treatment of TB. The procedure involves the use of X-rays to produce images of the lungs and other internal organs. Patients are usually instructed to breathe deeply during the procedure to ensure clear visibility of the lungs. The results of the X-Ray examination can help determine the severity of the condition and guide subsequent treatment decisions.

Wife Defends Occasional Spanking

By WILSON BIRST

I know some people who are shocked that a married woman, married to a man who is a barber, would dare to spank her husband. It's true that some people have a hard time understanding how a married woman could possibly think of such a thing. But let me tell you, it's not easy being married to a barber. You have to put up with all kinds of things. I mean, have you ever tried to clean a barber's shop? It's a job that requires a lot of patience and a good deal of strength. And let's not forget the hours. A barber's day is long and often hard. And then there's the money. A barber doesn't make a lot of money, but it's enough to get by. And so, when you consider all of this, it's not hard to understand why a married woman might feel the need to spank her husband. It's a way of showing her love and respect for him. And I'll tell you something else. If a married woman doesn't spank her husband, she's not really loving him. It's just not possible. And so, I say, spank away. It's a good thing. It's a healthy thing. It's a way of showing your love and respect for your husband. And it's not just for married women. It's for all women. Whether you're married or not, spank your husband if you want to show your love and respect for him. It's the right thing to do.

HOW TO FIGURE COST

By Ben Riche
There’s a surprising amount of authority behind the name of John Deere, the company which has been producing agricultural equipment for over 100 years. In 1930, John Deere was one of the world’s largest manufacturers of farm equipment. The company continues to be the leader in the industry today. However, the company has also expanded its product line to include lawn and garden equipment, as well.

The Deere name is synonymous with quality and reliability. The company’s products are known for their durability and efficiency. The company has been in business for over 100 years, and it has a reputation for producing high-quality products. The company’s lawn and garden equipment is manufactured in several countries around the world. The products are designed to meet the needs of both commercial and residential customers.

Redesigned Front Ends

A variety of engineering improvements have been made to all Mercedes-Benz models. The 280 SE Coupe and Convertible are two of the most notable.
The 280 SE is a 2-door sedan, while the Convertible is a 2-door convertible.

The 280 SE has a 4.5-liter V8 engine rated at 190 horsepower. The engine is mated to a 4-speed automatic transmission. The car has a front-wheel drive setup.

The main improvements include a redesigned front end, new body styling, and improved suspension and steering. The car has a more aerodynamic look, and the front end has been revised to improve aerodynamics and stability.

The interior of the 280 SE has been updated with new materials and features. The seats are more comfortable, and there is more legroom and headroom.

The 280 SE is a sporty car, and it accelerates quickly.
There is a certain refinement and grace to the way the car handles. The ride is smooth, and the handling is precise.

The Mercedes-Benz 280 SE is a reliable and well-engineered car. It is a pleasure to drive and resonance strength to make the engine resonate right up to 4000 rpm. The engine has been tuned

specifically for high

Duke Takes To Durango

By JOSEPH RAMSEY

Duke's got a new friend in Durango. It's true that the Duke usually travels with a lackluster entourage of cowhands and henchmen, but this time he's bringing along a new pal: a young man who's determined to make a name for himself in the West.

The young man is a recent graduate of the University of Colorado, and he's hoping to make his mark in the world of ranching. He's brought along a few head of cattle, and he's trying to prove that he can handle the job.

But things aren't going as smoothly as he'd hoped. The cattle are proving to be stubborn, and the young man is finding it difficult to keep them in line. He's also having trouble getting along with his new partner, Duke.

Despite the challenges, the young man is determined to make a success of his new venture. He's got a lot to prove, and he's not going to let anything stand in his way.

In the meantime, things are getting even more complicated when a rival rancher shows up on the scene. He's determined to take Duke's cattle for himself, and he's willing to do whatever it takes to get them.

Can the young man and Duke weather the storm and come out on top? Only time will tell.

Oklahoma Part Of Off-B'Way

by Erol Mann

NEW YORK—The title of the show is not so much "Oklahoma Part Of Off-B'Way," but rather "Oklahoma Part Of Off-B'Way." The show is a musical comedy based on the Oklahoma Daily newspaper. The cast includes Glenn Wallace as the lead character, with supporting roles by Dan Evans and Olga Kassar. The music and lyrics are by Frank Loesser, with book by Abe Burrows.

'Marching Waters' On Parade

Newspapers are dealing with a new form of advertising: 'Marching Waters.' The Oklahoman, a daily newspaper in Oklahoma City, has placed an advertisement in the New York Times that will be seen by millions of readers across the country. The ad features a picture of a group of marchers with signs that read: "Marching Waters on Parade." The ad is part of a nationwide campaign to promote the Oklahoman's new section, "Marching Waters," which will feature news and features from Oklahoma.

This Broadway Joe Feeds NY

NEW YORK—Joe Feeds, a Broadway impresario, has opened a new restaurant in New York City. The restaurant, appropriately named "Joe Feeds," serves a variety of dishes, including steak, chicken, and seafood. The menu also includes a selection of wines and cocktails. The restaurant is located at 123 Broadway, between 1st and 2nd Streets. It is open from 11:00 AM to 11:00 PM daily.

Mall Sets Water Fountain Program

An art installation featuring a water fountain will be presented at the Mall of America in Bloomington, Minnesota. The fountain, created by sculptor aquatic artist Samir Carreño, will be unveiled on Saturday, July 13. The fountain, which is designed to create a relaxing and soothing atmosphere, will be the centerpiece of the Mall's new art program, "Waterfront Dreams." The program will feature a variety of water-based installations throughout the year.

Poet To Visit OU

Oklahoma University's English Department has invited a renowned poet to visit the campus for a reading and discussion. The poet, who has published several collections of poetry, will speak on the theme of "The Power of Language." The event is free and open to the public. It will take place on Monday, June 24, at 7:00 PM in the university's auditorium. Admission is limited, so reservations are required.

Dancing Waters On Parade

World-famed "Dancing Waters" has added a new feature to its famous display. Now shown at the Cincinnati Music Hall, the display includes a new section, "Dancing Waters On Parade." The show, which has been a popular attraction for years, features a spectacular array of water-based performances, including synchronized swimming, acrobatics, and musical numbers.

Our Deadly Railroads... Your Annual Checkup: Why Bother?
What Is Man?

By PAUL WEISS

By TODD E. FANDELL

Our Rails

The 300,000 locomotives of the nation's railroads are constantly moving, negotiating sharp curves and climbing steep grades, providing a steady flow of freight and passengers. However, the rapid pace of travel and the constant demand for speed can lead to accidents and delays. Railroads are continually working to improve safety and efficiency, but accidents do happen. Some common causes of train accidents include equipment failure, human error, and weather conditions. Accidents can lead to delays, disruptions, and even loss of life. Railroads are committed to improving safety and reducing accidents, but accidents can happen. It is important to remember that railroads are a vital part of our transportation system, and we should work together to ensure their safety and efficiency.

Can Anyone Predict the Future?

A survey of past predictions indicates too many misses

By LESTER LEBER

Woman's name appears on every magazine cover, and astrologers are everywhere these days, trying to predict the future. The question is: Can anyone predict the future? The answer is yes. The answer is no. The answer is maybe. The answer is: It depends on who is asked.

The answer is yes, because there are people who can predict the future. The answer is no, because there are also people who cannot. The answer is maybe, because it depends on the question. And it depends on the person asked.

The answer is yes, because there are people who can predict the future. The answer is no, because there are also people who cannot. The answer is maybe, because it depends on the question. And it depends on the person asked.

American cooking is diverse as the country, and if you travel about the nation, the fare is full of regional specialties. For instance, you can learn much about the American character from the food. Look for small, well-stocked and pleasant restaurants that are favored by the locals, and you'll often find dishes that are not found elsewhere. Be sure to try the regional specialties, from New Orleans' gumbo and cajun cuisine, to New Mexico's red and green chile, to New England's lobster and clam chowder. In California, you'll find a variety of cuisine, from Mexican-style dishes like tacos and enchiladas, to Asian-inspired fare like sushi and ramen. In the South, you can enjoy Southern comfort food like fried chicken, biscuits, and gravy. And in the Midwest, you'll find Midwestern classics like pork chops and baked beans. No matter where you go, you'll find something to suit your taste.

On the next page, enjoy this delightful brunch featuring Kellogg's Special K cereal, which is a great way to start your day off right. Murder, Mayhem, and the Mother Tongue

By WALLACE CARROLL

A 19th century British newspaper editor is quoted as saying, "If your language is not learned, you are lost." But what does it mean to learn a language? Is it simply memorizing vocabulary and rules, or is it understanding the nuances and context of the language? In this article, Wallace Carroll explores the idea that learning a language is not just about acquiring vocabulary, but also about understanding the culture and history behind the language.

The author discusses the importance of learning a language in order to truly understand a place and its people. He points out that language is not just a tool for communication, but also a mirror that reflects the values, beliefs, and history of a society. By learning a language, one gains access to a new perspective and a deeper understanding of the world.

Carroll also touches on the challenges of learning a new language, such as overcoming the barriers of grammar and pronunciation. He emphasizes the importance of immersion and practice in mastering a new language, and suggests that learning a language is a lifelong process.

Overall, the article highlights the importance of learning a new language in order to gain a deeper understanding of the world and its people. It serves as a reminder that language is not just a tool for communication, but a reflection of culture and history.

Champagne Living on a Beer Budget and other miracles

By MIKE and MARILYN PEPERSON

As you may or may not have heard, our new house is under construction. This is the first time in our lives that we have been able to afford a house. It's been a long time coming, and we're excited to finally be on our own.

One of the things we've been working on is our champagne collection. We've been gathering bottles for a while now, and we're starting to get a good variety.

We've been trying to figure out how to store our champagne properly. We've heard that it's important to keep it cool and dark, so we're using a special wine cooler.

We've also been experimenting with different types of champagne. We're trying to find our favorites.

Overall, we're excited about our new home and our champagne collection. We can't wait to host some parties and share our love of champagne with our friends.

The Hunt for Venus’ Arms

Ever since the Venus de Milo was placed on her pedestal in Paris Louvre Museum, millions of visitors have been drawn to see the famous statue. But what lies behind the beauty of the statue? One theory suggests that the statue was originally part of a larger piece, possibly representing a goddess holding a child. Another theory proposes that the statue was a symbol of the ancient Greek goddess of love, Aphrodite. Whatever the origin, the statue remains a symbol of beauty and elegance.

One of the most important steps in cryopreservation is the selection of a competent and qualified embryologist. The Society for Cryobiology and the American Society for Reproductive Medicine recommend that all cryopreservation procedures be performed by individuals who have completed at least 2 years of postgraduate training in cryobiology. Cryopreservation is a complex process that involves the careful selection of embryos, rapid cooling to prevent freezing damage, and the use of appropriate cryoprotectants.
