At OSU

The death of 21-year-old student Richard A. Smith in a campus dormitory on November 2nd sparked several days of civil rights demonstrations, including a student sit-down, on campus. The dorm where Smith was found dead was later used as a meeting place for the protesters. The students demanded an increase in Black student enrollment and more integration. They also called for the removal of the campus police force. The administration and the university police responded with a show of force, leading to further clashes and demonstrations.

Two Fires

Cost Firm

$100,000

Some Oklahoma City residents were left without power and heat on Sunday night when two separate fires struck within an hour of each other. The first fire occurred at 8 p.m. at 1200 North Main Street, causing $50,000 in damages. The second fire occurred at 9 p.m. at 1400 North Main Street, causing an additional $50,000 in damages.

PARDON PROPOSAL

The Oklahoma Pardon and Parole Board has recommended that Governor Hazen F. Holland grant clemency to 21 prisoners, including 18 convicted of murders, 1 of armed robbery, and 2 of larceny. The board's recommendation, if approved by the Governor, would result in the release of these inmates. The Governor is expected to make a decision on the proposals shortly.

NORICK Urges Porch Light Unity Symbol

President Nixon has supported the idea of porch lights as a symbol of unity, but he has also raised concerns about their potential for conflict. The President's stance has been met with mixed reactions, with some viewing it as a positive step towards unity, while others criticize it as a political ploy.

Peace March Not Run By Reds, FBI Finds

WASHINGTON -- The FBI has concluded that the recent anti-war march in this city was not run by the Nationalist Chinese Communist Party, as once claimed, according to sources here. The FBI's report, based on interviews with marchers and their leaders, indicates that the march was primarily organized by young people from the Midwest who were protesting the U.S. involvement in Vietnam. The FBI also found that the Chinese Communist Party had no significant role in the planning or execution of the march.

U.S. Jury Convicts Lambert

BOSTON -- A Federal jury convicted John Lambert of conspiracy and conspiracy to defraud the Internal Revenue Service in the Boston area, it was announced today. The jury deliberated for 21 days before reaching its verdict. Lambert, a former tax preparer, is accused of helping clients evade taxes by funneling funds into offshore accounts.

Friends Disagree

The conference between President Johnson and Premier Zhou of China on the future of Vietnam is expected to begin Wednesday. But both men have been criticized by their respective countries for the way they handled the meeting. President Johnson has been accused of being too conciliatory, while Premier Zhou has been criticized for being too aggressive.

OEO Fights Legal Vetos

The Office of Economic Opportunity has been fighting a series of legal vetoes in an attempt to implement the Great Society programs. A key issue is the funding for the Anti-Poverty Program, which has been opposed by several Congress members who argue that it is too big and too expensive.

Animals Like People

Dr. Robert K. Mathews, a psychiatrist at New York University, has published a book arguing that animals, like people, experience emotions like pain and fear. Mathews' work has been controversial, with some psychologists arguing that it is premature to make such claims about animal emotions.
