Forgeries Disclosed

By BARRY CLEVELD

The attorney general, in his usual fashion, has revealed that the petitions have been handed over to the attorney general for prosecution.

Lighting The Fires Of School Spirit

After a scathing report on the administration of the Oklahoma School for the Blind, the Oklahoma Board of Education has asked for an investigation.

The report, which was released earlier this week, found that the school had failed to provide adequate education for many of its students.

"The administration has failed to provide the necessary support for the students," said Board President John D. Blystone. "We have received complaints from parents and students alike."
Next Move Up to Nixon After Rejection Of Haynsworth

WASHINGTON (17) — The Senate Judiciary Committee announced its rejection of-appointed Supreme Court Justice nominee William J. Clinton on Thursday. The committee's decision followed a heated debate over Clinton's qualifications and his role in the Watergate scandal. Clinton, a member of the Democratic Party, had been nominated by President Richard Nixon to fill the seat of retiring Justice Abe Fortas. The committee's decision was a major setback for Nixon's administration, which had hoped to strengthen its conservative majority on the Court.

Oil Import Curbs Cost $5 Billion

By GEORGE MICHENER

Reports of its sale have triggered a wave of consumer panic, and many are questioning the wisdom of the move. The decision to import oil has been met with widespread opposition, especially from the energy sector, which fears it will lead to higher prices and reduced domestic production. The administration's decision has also sparked criticism from foreign allies, who see it as a sign of weakness and a failure to take a strong position against the oil-producing nations.
