NEW YORK, N.Y. — Life magazine today published new photographs, eight of them taken of the center of the American Civil War, as a result of a report made by the American Civil War photographers who accompanied the troops.

Although this story was not told in as much detail, the pictures showed the progress of the war and the way the soldiers were fighting. In some cases, the photographs were so clear that they gave the impression they were taken in color.

The pictures, which are the first to be published of the Vietnam War, were taken by American Civil War photographers and show the progress of the war in Vietnam. The pictures are a result of the American Civil War photographers who accompanied the troops.

Two Dozen Debs Bow To King In Red, Gold Ball Setting

By SUE SMITH

(Carlton Hotel, Sunday, October 11)

Two dozen Debs in their finest, Don Red Ball setting, assembled Sunday night for a party at the Carlton Hotel, sponsored by the Sunset City Kiwanis Club. The Debs brought their best, and the Kiwanians, in turn, brought the finest. The result was a night of fun and frolic, with a touch of the formal.

Among the Debs were Misses Elizabeth Page, Miss Betty Heflin, Miss Margaret White, Miss Linda Ford, Miss Kay Tingley, Miss Kay Winters, Miss Linda Crum and Miss Mary Ann Johnson. They were escorted by the officers of the Kiwanis Club, who looked dapper in their top hats and tails.

The highlight of the evening was a dance, with music provided by the Sunset City Band. The Debs danced the night away, with the Kiwanians keeping pace with them.

After the dance, the Debs were treated to a sumptuous meal, with a variety of delectable dishes. The Kiwanians had outdone themselves, and the Debs were thrilled.

It was a night to remember, and a great success for the Sunset City Kiwanis Club. The Debs were grateful for the opportunity to showcase their talents, and the Kiwanians were glad to provide the setting.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

News Managed In White House

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — The news behind the scenes at the White House managed to find its way into the public eye this week. President John F. Kennedy was seen conferring with his cabinet officials, discussing the latest developments in the Vietnam War.

The President was also seen attending a meeting of the National Security Council, where he discussed the situation with his advisors. The meeting was held in the Oval Office, with the President at the center of attention.

Ft. Benning Symbolic Site

For Vietnam Massacre Trial

COLUMBUS, GA. (AP) — The site of the Fort Benning massacre will be used as a symbolic location for the Vietnam War massacre trial. The trial, which will begin next week, will feature a reconstruction of the event that took place in 1968.

The reconstruction will include the use of the site as a backdrop, with the soldiers and the families of the victims present. The trial will be held in the Fort Benning courtroom, with the soldiers on trial appearing via video link.

My Lai: ‘Setback’ Or Breaking Point?

STATEHOUSE, IN. (AP) — The My Lai massacre trial, which began this week, will determine whether the soldiers involved will face charges of war crimes. The trial, which is expected to last several months, will feature testimony from the soldiers and the families of the victims.

The soldiers, who were accused of killing over 500 Vietnamese civilians in a single day, are expected to plead not guilty. The trial will be held in the Statehouse courtroom, with the soldiers appearing via video link.
