Huge School Boost Sought

By HARLEY CULVER

The Oklahoma Education Association (OEA) on Thursday requested Friday to throw a baseball bat of support for the state's schools.

The request was made at an emergency meeting of the 13,000-member association in an attempt to bring state government and school administrators together to discuss the economic crisis in Oklahoma.

At the meeting, held in the OEA's conference room, OEA President R. P. Martin said the association had reviewed the state budget and the financial data and had determined that new taxes were needed to support education.

Mr. Martin said the state could save $3 million a year if it would consider raising taxes. He estimated that a 1-cent sales tax would bring in $2.5 million a year in revenue.

The OEA also asked for the state to increase its share of the property tax from 10% to 15%.

Senate Acts Cigarette Ad Ban Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Senate Appropriations Committee today reported a bill to ban cigarette advertisements on radio and television that target the youth market.

The bill, if passed, would strengthen the existing Federal Trade Commission's (FTC) ban on cigarette advertisements on radio and television.

The bill authorizes the FTC to issue regulations to enforce the ban.

The FTC has already proposed regulations to enforce the ban, but the bill would give the FTC more authority.

The bill would also prohibit cigarette advertisements in magazines and newspapers.

Violence Panel Makes Report

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The United States Senate's SubCommittee on Criminology and Criminal Justice today opened a probe into the deaths of two black Panthers who were killed by police.

The probe was prompted by a request from the Senate's Subcommittee on Criminology and Criminal Justice, which has jurisdiction over police and law enforcement.

The Subcommittee's chairman, Rep. Robert B. Dornan (R-Calif.), said the Subcommittee had received information that police had used excessive force.

The Subcommittee is investigating whether the deaths of the two black Panthers were racially motivated.

Don't Bet On Snow

Dreaming of a white Christmas is about all an Oklahoma City resident can do this year. The normally snow-covered city will not see snow this winter, according to the National Weather Service.

The city's weather forecasters predict that temperatures will remain above freezing for the next few weeks, and there will be no chance of snow.

The forecast is based on the expected warm weather conditions that will persist throughout the winter months. The United States has experienced several years of above-average temperatures, which have resulted in a decrease in the amount of snowfall in many areas.

The lack of snowfall is expected to continue for the next few months, and the National Weather Service is advising residents to prepare for the possibility of warmer than normal temperatures.

States Denied Control

WASHINGTON - The Supreme Court today denied a petition for certiorari filed by a group of states challenging the federal government's authority to regulate interstate commerce.

The petition was filed by the states of California, New York, and Texas, who argued that the federal government has no authority to regulate commerce that takes place solely within their borders.

The court's decision is a victory for the federal government, which has long sought to expand its authority over commerce that takes place across state lines.

The court's ruling means that the federal government can continue to regulate commerce that takes place across state lines, even if the commerce is conducted entirely within one state.

The court's ruling is expected to have a significant impact on the way in which the federal government regulates commerce, and it could lead to increased regulation of commerce that takes place across state lines.
Design for Profits Electrically!

Since 1946, there have been more than 25,000 commercial installations of electric heat in the OG&E service area. Among these are office buildings, large and small, schools, libraries, homes, churches, retail stores, factories, etc. With the energy crisis, electricity is becoming more and more important to the profit-conscious business manager. In addition, the cost of energy is increasing at a rapid rate, making it even more important to consider using electricity for heating purposes. Moreover, electricity is a clean, efficient, and reliable source of energy. It is also a cost-effective option compared to other types of heating systems. In conclusion, electricity is a viable and attractive option for businesses looking to reduce their energy costs and improve their bottom line.

Hardin Says Nixon Support Grows

The number of people supporting Richard Nixon in the presidential election is growing, according to recent polls. Nixon's campaign has been focusing on his strong record of achievement and his promise to bring peace to Vietnam. The incumbent president, Lyndon B. Johnson, is facing challenges from several Democratic candidates, including Robert Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy. Despite the competition, Nixon seems to be maintaining his lead in key battleground states. The election is set for November 8, and the nation is eagerly waiting to see the outcome.

City Shows Big Hike In Murder, Robbery

The recent surge in violent crimes, particularly murders and robberies, has alarmed the city. City officials have attributed the increase to a variety of factors, including economic hardship and increased drug use. The city is currently under pressure to increase police presence and allocate more resources to crime prevention. The mayor has called for a meeting with law enforcement officials to discuss strategies for addressing the rising crime rates.

Right To Learn Recognized

In another statement in 1968 by President Johnson, he expressed the necessity of providing a "right to learn" for all children. This right should not be taken for granted, as it is a fundamental aspect of education.

"There is no place in society for the education of children who have not been taught the basics of life." - President Johnson

The following article appears to be discussing the importance of education and its recognition as a fundamental right.
