Many Have Long Wait For Flights

HOLIDAY TRAVELERS CROWDING CITY AIRPORT

By LIZZY FRIED

It was a dark and stormy night, at 1020 Rogers Way Airport. Travelers were plagued by delays as a series of severe thunderstorms and heavy rain caused flight cancellations. The airport was struggling to keep up with the demand, leading to long lines and frustrated travelers. Among them, University of Oklahoma students from California, Oregon, and Washington were particularly affected. The students were returning home for the holidays and were experiencing delays of up to five hours. The university administration had issued a travel advisory for students, urging them to be patient and consider alternative transportation options. The airport officials apologized for the inconvenience and assured travelers that they were working to resolve the situation as quickly as possible.}

Senators Reject Aid Bill

WASHINGTON - Congress struggled to reach a last-minute deal on aid to states hit by natural disasters, but get-hugged dancing in speeches from Senate and House leaders was often the only gesture of support for the legislation. Democratic leaders held a final meeting late Thursday night, promising to try again Friday for a bill that would provide $10 billion in emergency funds for states hit by hurricanes and tornadoes.

CMI Agrees To Acquisition

CMI Corp. and a bad Abu Dhabi oil company are in talks about a possible merger or acquisition. The companies have not yet released any details about the talks.

King Belches 'We'll Move'

A articulated, talking, rubber duckie, called 'Builder of the Year' for the second year in a row, has been installed at the company's new headquarters in Oklahoma City. The duckie, which was designed by the company's engineers, is expected to attract many visitors.

'Manhattan' Forces Issue

Canada Fears Dispute

Canada has sent a diplomatic note to 'Manhattan' warning of the potential for a dispute over the sale of a Canadian oil company to a foreign buyer. The note has caused some concern among Canadian officials.

Carter Confirmation, Two Gassers Finaled

President Carter has confirmed two new gas discoveries, one in Texas and one in California. The companies involved are hoping to begin production soon.

Experts View Spill Threat

Oil industry experts have warned of the potential for a major oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico. The experts say that the spill could cause significant environmental damage.

New Acid Treatment Offered

A new acid treatment technology has been offered by the company. The treatment is said to be more effective and safer than existing methods.

Sooner Operators Stake 8 Wildcats

Several oil companies have announced plans to drill new wells in the Oklahoma Panhandle. The companies are hoping to find new oil reserves.

Sun Directors Revise Bylaws

The directors of the Sun company have revised the company's bylaws. The changes are expected to cause some controversy.

CS Vice President Named

A new vice president has been named for the company. The new vice president is expected to take over the company's operations.

Libyan Oil Link Tapped

A new link has been established with the Libyan oil industry. The link is expected to improve relations between the two countries.

Oakland, Oilers Mix

Oakland 17 — The Oakland Raiders, a free-swinging, high-scoring team, moved into the Western Division lead yesterday when they defeated the New York Giants 47-14. The Giants, who had just one touchdown, were unable to stop the powerful Oakland offense. The Raiders, led by quarterback Joe Namath, scored four touchdowns and two field goals. The victory improved the Raiders' record to 6-1-1.

Hill Named Top Rookie In Runaway

Paul Hill of the Buffalo Bills was named the NFL's top rookie player for the first half of the season. Hill, a running back, led the league in rushing with 1,020 yards and 12 touchdowns. The Bills, who are in second place in the Eastern Division, are hoping to make a playoff run.

Doll' NFL Closes Out Play Today

The NFL season will come to a close today with a number of close games. The Los Angeles Rams and the Dallas Cowboys are both looking to secure a playoff berth, while the San Francisco 49ers and the New England Patriots are trying to finish the season with a win.

Dolly's Decor, Old, Ornate

Barbara B mintehi enjoyed the most spectacular decor ever seen in the history of the Oklahoma Journal. The home was named "Dolly's Den," and the entire house was covered in a light-colored natural material. The interior design was reminiscent of a cozy country cottage, with a mix of rustic and modern elements. The walls were painted in soft, warm tones, and the furniture was made of natural woods and fabrics. The overall atmosphere was one of comfort and elegance, making it a perfect retreat for a weekend getaway.

THE SEVEN MUTES by Irving Wallace. them. Then by LEE PRICE.

The seven deaths of the person who was to be 'The Seven Murders'... Irving Wallace was then a young up-and-coming author, but his work was not yet widely recognized. He had written a few successful novels, but his latest, 'The Seven Murders', was still in the early stages of publication. Despite the success of his previous works, Wallace was facing financial difficulties and was struggling to make ends meet. He was determined to make his new novel a success, and he spent countless hours poring over the manuscript, making revisions and edits. The pressure was intense, and the author was often left feeling exhausted and drained. As the deadline approached, Wallace became increasingly anxious, and he began to lose sleep over the project. Despite the challenges, he remained committed to his work, and he continued to push himself to complete the manuscript. In the end, his hard work paid off, and 'The Seven Murders' became a bestseller, launching Wallace's career to new heights.

Hinges On 'Game'

By SHERLEA GRAHAM

It's Christmas and it's the annual tradition: "A Christmas Carol"! The film that first brought the story of Scrooge to the screen will be shown on "Liz's Film Return". The movie, directed by John M. Stahl, stars Charles Laughton as Scrooge, with Rosemary DeCamp as Miss Fezziwig and Ralph Bellamy as Ebenezer Scrooge. The film is presented in its original black and white format, recreating the atmosphere of the early 20th century when the tale was first brought to life on the screen. It's an opportunity to enjoy a classic holiday movie, perfect for families and friends to gather around and watch together, creating memories that will last a lifetime. Don't miss this special screening of a beloved holiday tradition.

The Christmas Party I Never Wanted and Will Never Forget

This noted novelist found his yacht overcrowded with holiday guests; he wasn't too happy about it—not until a memorable midnight surprise.

By SLOAN WILSON

M y m o s t m e m o r a b l e C h r i s t m a s s t a r t e d o u t t o b e a d i s a s t e r .

My wife Betty, our two-year-old daughter Jessica, and I had recently moved our family from the city of Bar Harbor, Maine, to the beautiful town of St. Augustine, Florida. We were looking forward to spending our first Christmas in our new home.

The day before Christmas, we had invited a few friends and neighbors to join us for a dinner party. We had planned a simple affair, with a small tree and some simple decorations. But as the party approached, we began to realize that we had made a serious mistake.

"Don't worry," Betty said, trying to sound reassuring. "It will all work out in the end."

My anxiety grew as the guests began to arrive. We had invited more people than we could comfortably accommodate. The living room was cluttered, and the guests were standing in groups, talking loudly.

In the end, we ended up with a small group in the living room and a larger group in the dining room. We tried to make the best of it, but the atmosphere was far from festive.

When I got up on deck, I found the children and Betty eating Christmas cookies around the evening's perpetual gloom.

The new year brought a new beginning. The Christmas spirit began to take hold, and we were able to enjoy the holiday with our friends and family.

Our Christmas in the Wilderness

A city family takes a camper into the isolated North Woods for a yuletide with the deer and porcupines—and nature at its best and worst

By BILL THOMAS

To us, Christmas has always meant a warm, comfortable home with a tree, decorations, and the children running around in their pajamas and slippers.

Set last year changed that. Our old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Allens, invited us to spend Christmas on their farm in the North Woods section of Michigan. Along with the decorations, our bedding was comfortable and unmentionable—unmentionable by past times.

We turned our home in Canton, Ohio, into an El Dorado campsite outfitted with a hot-water heater, gas refrigerator, four-burner range, double sink, bathroom and shower, and beds for six. It was to be our holiday home.

After four months of concern about the cold, we decided (with the help of the U.S. Forest Service) to head south on the west end of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. We drove the 1,200 miles in three days, stopping for overnight rests. We reached the campsite in Watermouth and settled in. The next morning we picked up a evergreen tree and drove five miles to Symphony, where we cut a medium-sized pine tree and made our own tinsel.

Of the site, the snow was a fine, powdery snow. We marked our spots with trees, and snow was abundant in the surrounding area. We enjoyed setting up the campsite, and we enjoyed the wilderness around us. We were surrounded by trees and bushes, and we were surrounded by nature. We enjoyed the peace and quiet of the wilderness.

But we did explore several miles in Symphony that day, and on several occasions we spotted fresh deer tracks. The bells of the campers were found by the children, but the snow was so deep. We also spotted the tracks of porcupines we were often seeing animals...

Mark Luter, U.S. Forest Ranger, came by to see us on the night of an impending snowstorm. He asked if we had seen something...

The snow was not too deep for a drive along a snowy back road, and this particular one leading to the lake was passable. Our campsite, located in the woods, was occupied by the members of the Winter Sports Club from Wisconsin.

We stopped and the only sign of life was in the fancy framework of their one-person tent. The snow that formed the walls was melting, but the wood-burning stove was still there, and we warmed at the cooker.

The snow was too deep for a drive along a snowy back road, and we saw a few domestic scenes. There were no snowmobiles in those days. It might have been because it was Christmas Day, or it might have been because it was so cold—there was no sign of life.

That night we had Christmas dinner. We planned to spend another day at Symphony, but after dinner, the ranger came by to warn us about a snowstorm. We talked about it and decided not to make any firm decisions on leaving until morning. But when we awoke, it was snowing heavily again. We decided to stay where we were, and we were glad we did.

Christmas Eve the snow stopped, leaving a 6-inch blanket of white on the ground. It was perfect for skiing, but we were unable to ski because of the snow.

On Christmas Day, we awoke to a fine morning. The snow was not too deep, and we decided to spend the day skiing. We skied from the campsite, and we were able to ski back to the campsite in the afternoon. It was a fine day to ski, and we were glad we did.

The skis were packed with snow, and we were able to ski back to the campsite in the afternoon. It was a fine day to ski, and we were glad we did.

Christmas Day was a beautiful day to ski, and we were glad we did.

Our Christmas ended earlier than we had planned—but even so, it was the most cherished of all.
SELF-HELP QUIZ

What's the Truth About Lying?

HAVE YOU ever told a lie? Can you tell when you are being lied to? Was that a truthful answer?

Lying is a problem that modern science has been looking into with some interesting results. Let's look at a few of these test results first, then you can judge for yourself.

1. The best way to tell whether a person is lying is to watch his eyes carefully as he’s talking.
2. Lying has a physical effect on you.
3. A man is more accurate when a woman is talking.
4. In general, a man is less likely to lie than a woman.
5. If a person is sharing a secret, he’s less likely to lie.
6. Women lie about their age more than men do.
7. Physicians lie to the patients about their death.
8. Beautiful people always have stories.
9. The truth that men dislike men in women is lying and titles, unless she’s an actress with a similar mindset.
10. People who are happy with themselves, wise with high self-esteem, address the truth.

ANSWERS

1. False. A lie is not a lie if the lie is not told to a person.
2. True. Lying has a physical effect on you.
3. False. A man is more accurate when a woman is talking.
4. False. In general, a man is less likely to lie than a woman.
5. True. If a person is sharing a secret, he’s less likely to lie.
6. False. Women lie about their age more than men do.
7. False. Physicians lie to the patients about their death.
8. True. Beautiful people always have stories.
9. False. The truth that men dislike men in women is lying and titles, unless she’s an actress with a similar mindset.
10. True. People who are happy with themselves, wise with high self-esteem, address the truth.

READ WHAT PEOPLE SAY ABOUT DIAMONDS

The jeweler remarked that diamonds have always been popular and that they were particularly popular in the current market. However, he also pointed out that some people were not as fond of diamonds as they used to be. He suggested that this was due to the fact that diamonds were no longer the only option for people who wanted to purchase expensive jewelry.

In addition, the jeweler noted that there were a number of other factors that could influence a person's decision to purchase a diamond. For example, some people might prefer other types of jewelry, such as gold or silver, while others might be more interested in the symbolism or historical significance of certain types of jewelry.

Finally, the jeweler emphasized the importance of doing one's research before making a purchase. He recommended that people consider factors such as the quality and clarity of the diamonds, as well as the cost and durability of the jewelry. He also suggested that people seek out reputable jewelers who could provide guidance and assistance throughout the process.

IMPOSSIBLE?

Since 1970, prices of diamonds have increased significantly. As a result, it is now impossible to afford a diamond for every occasion.

However, this does not mean that diamonds are not still a valuable and desirable option. In fact, diamonds remain a popular choice for engagement rings, wedding bands, and other special occasions. They are also used in many industries, such as the aerospace and electronics industries, due to their hardness and durability.

It is important to remember that the cost of diamonds is not the only factor to consider when making a purchase. Other factors, such as personal preference and budget, should also be taken into account. Ultimately, the decision to purchase a diamond should be based on what is most meaningful to the individual.

THIS DIAMOND IS NOT A DIAMOND!

Imagine paying under $100 for a perfect two-carat diamond ring... under $100 for a perfect two-carat diamond ring...

A 62.92 carat Diamond costs $1,000,000. A 62.92 carat Diagem costs $2,500.

Don't Compare

Compare prices with similar items, e.g., in gold or silver. A perfect two-carat diamond ring... under $100 for a perfect two-carat diamond ring...

PAWN SHOPS SEWEGU (FROH T HIAH)

When a diamond is first discovered, it is often appraised and sold at a higher price than its actual value. This is because diamonds are considered a precious and rare commodity, and the demand for them is high.

However, as diamonds become more common and widely available, their price tends to decrease. This is because there is a larger supply of diamonds available, which makes them less valuable as a commodity.

As a result, it is important to be aware of the value of a diamond before making a purchase. It is also important to be aware of the potential risks associated with purchasing diamonds, such as counterfeit diamonds or diamonds that have been treated or altered in some way.

Money Back Guarantee

If you purchase a diamond from us and are not satisfied with its quality or value, we will refund your money. We stand behind our diamonds and believe that they are the best value available on the market.
Traditional Christmas Dinner

FAMILY WEEKLY COOKBOOK

PETE DE PROFT Food Editor

MELANIE DE PROFT

Silly Merry Christmas! As you plan and prepare your Christmas dinner, the roast goose and seasonal pudding may well remind you of a dinner long years ago—one conjuring up visions of your legs and "A Christmas Carol.""

Roast Goose with Stuffing

Rice ’N’ Fiddle Stuffing (see recipe)
2 pork ham cuts (6 oz. ea.)
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. nutmeg
8 servings

Rice ’N’ Fiddle Stuffing
2 cups cooked rice or 6 oz. (1/2 cup) uncooked white and wild rice mix, tossed with the以上 all ingredients

1. Rinse ham cuts, remove any large layers of fat from the body cavity. Pare dry with absorbent paper. Rub body and leg cavities with a mixture of the salt, pepper, and nutmeg.
2. Skewer lightly stuffing into the neck and body cavities. Overlap neck cavity with the skin, and cover to keep from burning. Close body cavity with a skewer and tie with cord.
3. Roast, covered, about 1 hour and 30 minutes, remembering to turn in the middle.
4. Place goose, breast side down, on a rack in a shallow roasting pan.
5. Brush with melted butter, and bake, covered, 30 minutes in an oven preheated to 350° F.

Old-Fashioned Plum Pudding

1 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup raisins
1/4 cup currants
1/4 cup chopped nuts
1/4 cup chopped prunes
1/4 cup chopped dates
1/4 cup orange juice
2 eggs
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. cloves
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. allspice

1. Sift the first 6 ingredients together in a bowl.
2. Add the remaining dry ingredients and mix well.
3. Beat the eggs, add milk, and beat thoroughly, stirring to blend. Pour into a serving dish.

Vanilla Sauce

2 cups milk
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. vanilla extract
2 tsp. cornstarch

1. Combine the milk and sugar in a saucepan.
2. Add the cornstarch and vanilla extract.
3. Cook and stir until thick and bubbling.

QUIPS AND QUOTES

The first-grader arrived home from school and ran to hug his mother in the kitchen. "Oh, Mommy," he said excitedly, "we won a prize in the store, and it's so much bigger than a first-grade book!"

"You mean," gasped his mother, "he's going to school last year!" the little girl replied.
