NEW OrlEANS - The first visitor admitted to Oklahoma's four-year-old campus in 1962, who returned to find a football team ready to take on its first opponent on Saturday.

Tulane, which had beaten Oklahoma last month in a non-conference game, was not to be taken lightly by the Sooners. Oklahoma and Tulane had met before in 1897 and 1901, with Tulane winning both.

The Sooners had lost their first two games, but head coach Bud Wilkinson had not given up hope. He knew his team was capable of winning.

"We're going to take this game very seriously," Wilkinson said. "Tulane is a tough team, but we're ready to face them head-on."

Only LIBERTY GUARANTEES 5 1/4% FOR TEN FULL YEARS... something no other bank does. Yet, your investment is committed for only two years at a time.

And, while some banks compound this interest quarterly, LIBERTY COMPOUNDS INTEREST DAILY... meaning that interest actually earns interest on itself 365 days a year.

LIBERTY's exclusive "TEN FOR TWO" Investment Certificates are available for as little as $500... up to a maximum of $50,000. Interest can be paid by check, transferred to another account quarterly or monthly, or paid at redemption, depending on the amount of your investment.

The President's Column

We're not out to make enemies, we're out to make friends and we've always done that. We're not interested in having a fight with anyone. We're interested in solving problems and working together. We recognize that there are differences, but we believe in working towards unity. We're committed to finding common ground and working towards a better future. We're dedicated to building bridges and not walls. We believe that by working together, we can overcome our differences and achieve our shared goals. We're not out to win a battle, we're out to win a war of peace. We believe that by working together, we can achieve our goals and make the world a better place.

Time To Clean Out The Attic...

'72 Fashion 'Retrospective'

By MAUREEN MILLAGHAN

NEW YORK - As we head toward the next fashion season, many of you are probably thinking about what you can do with the clothes you've already got. But what about the clothes that are still in the attic? They might be worth more than you think.

The first thing you should do is sort through your attic clothes. Get rid of anything that's damaged, stained, or just plain ugly. Then, take a look at the clothes that are left. You might be surprised to find some gems hidden away.

One of the best ways to make money from your attic clothes is to sell them online. There are many websites that specialize in selling vintage clothing, so you can find buyers who are interested in what you have. You can also try selling your clothes at local flea markets or consignment shops.

Another option is to donate your attic clothes to a charity. Many organizations accept donations of clothing, so you can help others while also clearing out your attic.

Finally, you might want to consider repurposing your attic clothes. There are many ways to do this, depending on what you have. You could turn old shirts into aprons, or use old dresses to make tablecloths.

In conclusion, there are many ways to make money from your attic clothes. Whether you sell them online, donate them to charity, or repurpose them, you can turn those old clothes into something new and exciting.

Ask Them Yourself

FOR REP. F. EDWARD HERBERT of Louisiana

"Done," how do you reconcile these statements?
Mrs. F. M. Thompson, Gallup, Minn.

"I believe we should never have gotten involved in Vietnam, but since American troops were committed, we should have adopted a win policy and gone in as a military power. If American troops are committed, we must be prepared to win, or we are as good as a paper tiger. Unfortunately, a "no-war" policy was established, which has led us to the entirely wrong position we have today."

FOR CURTIS HAMPTON

You're told it was a mistake for the U.S. to get involved in Vietnam. Yet on a recent news program you described yourself as "sold on" Vietnam.

"I believe we should never have gotten involved in Vietnam, but since American troops were committed, we should have adopted a win policy and gone in as a military power. If American troops are committed, we must be prepared to win, or we are as good as a paper tiger. Unfortunately, a "no-war" policy was established, which has led us to the entirely wrong position we have today."

Family Rituals: They Tie You and Your Loved Ones Together

There are no rules for starting rituals, except one. A ritual cannot be imposed. The only people who dislike family rituals are those who had artificial rituals forced on them.

Every year, as a bright day in January, thousands of families begin their annual ritual of the 100-mile hike to a prominent national park. The hike usually begins at sunrise with the setting sun casting long shadows over the surrounding mountains. The first 10 miles are relatively easy, with the trail winding through a forest of evergreens. After that, the path becomes more challenging, with steep inclines and rocky terrain. But the family doesn't give up, knowing that the journey is worth it.

At the top of the mountain, the family sits down to a picnic lunch, enjoying the breathtaking view of the surrounding landscape. The children play games and sing songs together, while the parents catch up on their own personal lives. After lunch, they hike down the mountain, taking in the beautiful scenery along the way. As the sun begins to set, they return to their home, tired but happy.

For many families, this annual 100-mile hike is a special time to bond as a family. It is a way to break away from the routine of daily life and focus on the important things in life: family, love, and nature.

KODAK RITUALS

1. Landscape: The family takes photos of the landscape, capturing the beauty of nature.
2. Nature Walk: The family takes a leisurely walk through the woods, observing the flora and fauna.
3. Picnic: The family enjoys a delicious picnic lunch, sharing stories and laughter.
4. Hiking: The family hikes together, enjoying the physical activity and the challenge of the journey.
5. Reflection: The family takes time to reflect on their lives and the role of family in their daily routine.
