Drug Sale Nets Stiff Term

By JOHN TEMPLE

The four persons arrested in Oklahoma City under the state’s new drug laws were sentenced yesterday to a minimum of 10 years each, following a jury trial on Wednesday night.

Judge Patrick S. Keane, who presided over the trial, indicated that he will hear evidence presented by the defense and then render a verdict at a later date.

The trial was the first of its kind in the state and marked the beginning of a new era in drug law enforcement.

“Drug use is a serious problem in our society,” Keane said. “We must act to stop it.”

The four defendants were charged with possession of marijuana, a controlled substance, and conspiracy to distribute the drug.

The defendants were found guilty on all counts and were sentenced to consecutive terms of 10 years in prison.

However, Keane indicated that he would consider a plea agreement at a later date.

Alabama Districts Rejected

By STEVE DOMIN

The Oklahoma Legislature will review a bill this session that would allow the state to invade Alabamians and their property without a warrant or search warrant.

The bill, sponsored by Senator Bob Smith, would give law enforcement officers the authority to search homes, vehicles, and other locations without a warrant.

“This bill is a violation of our civil liberties,” Smith said. “We must protect the rights of our citizens.”

The bill has been introduced in both the House and Senate and is expected to be debated in both chambers.

Bond Plan Is Linked To Reform

By ROBERT DAVIS

Speaker David B. Wilson, D-Oklahoma City, has announced that a bond plan will be introduced this session that would finance the construction of new state buildings.

The plan, which would be funded through a dedicated sales tax, would provide funding for the construction of new courthouses, schools, and other state buildings.

Wilson said the plan will be introduced in both the House and Senate, and he expects it to be debated in both chambers.

The plan will be part of a larger reform package that includes funding for schools, prisons, and other state programs.

Wilson said the bond plan is necessary to address the state’s infrastructure needs and to provide funding for important state programs.

He added that the plan will be a step towards creating a more efficient and transparent state government.

Blood Sugar Woes Avoided By Good Diet

By LAWRENCE LANE, M.D.

Do you know how many Americans have a blood sugar problem? If you don’t, you’re not alone. The American Diabetes Association estimates that 8.5 million people in the United States have diabetes, and that number is expected to rise. But there’s good news: By making some simple changes in your diet and lifestyle, you can avoid developing diabetes—or if you already have it, you can control it.
