OBU’s First Lady Loves University Life

After three years as OBU’s first lady, Mrs. William E. Tanner, wife of the university’s president, is finding her role as the “First Lady” to be a warm and rewarding one.

“I love the university,” said Mrs. Tanner. “It’s a wonderful place to live.”

Mrs. Tanner said she enjoys the social life that comes with being the wife of a university president. “I love to meet new people and get to know them,” she said.

But Mrs. Tanner also has some responsibilities as the First Lady. She said she spends a lot of time working with the university’s students and faculty.

“I try to get involved in as many activities as possible,” she said. “I love to meet new people and get to know them.”
