Corporation Commission Stampede Expected

CARTWRIGHT, 80, Won't Seek Re-Election

By HARRY CLAY

Corporation Commission Chairman Burt Cartwright, 80, said yesterday he will not seek re-election when his term expires in 1970.

"I will be 80 years old in 1970," he said in an interview in his office in the Oklahoma City Capital. "I don't want to make things any harder for myself, and I don't think the people want me to go on that long."

Cartwright said he has long been interested in serving as the Commission's chairman, but he would have to resign as soon as he is re-elected in 1968. "I don't think it would be fair to the people to have a man in such an important position who is not physically able to do the job," he said.

Cartwright, who was appointed to the Commission in 1930 when he was 30 years old, also served as a state senator and state auditor in the state legislature.

Teen Bill" Sailing Through Legislature

By HAROLD BURCZ

Although it hasn't received much press coverage, an important education bill is expected to become law after the legislative session ends next week. The bill, which was passed by the House of Representatives, is expected to be considered by the Senate before it is sent to the governor.

The bill, sponsored by State Representative J.G. Brown, would establish a State Board of Education. The board would be composed of seven members, three appointed by the governor, one by the lieutenant governor, one by the speaker of the House, and one by the speaker of the Senate.

The board would have the power to set educational policies and to oversee the operation of the state's public schools.

The bill is expected to receive a favorable vote in the Senate, which would send it to the governor for his signature.

Education Fund Fears Expressed

The Higher Education Commission's Board of Trustees is concerned that the state's higher education system is not receiving adequate funding.

"We have been told by the governor that he will not sign the bill," said John E. Brown, chairman of the Board of Trustees. "We are not sure what will happen next, but we are working to ensure that our institutions receive the funding they need to continue.

The Board of Trustees is also concerned about the budget for the next fiscal year. They have asked the governor to consider increasing the funding for higher education.

Prison Terror

The governor has asked for $200 million to build a new prison in Oklahoma City. The state has been facing a severe prison overcrowding problem.

The governor said the new prison would be built with money from the state's budget surplus. The new prison would have a capacity of 1,000 inmates and would be staffed by 100 guards.

The governor also said that the state would be seeking federal funds to help offset the cost of building the new prison.

Inmates who escape from prison are subject to a $5,000 reward. The governor said he was confident that the new prison would help reduce the number of escapes.

'Manaia' Today In Mexico

White Americans have beenpretty much left out of the fascinating Mexican political scene, which is moving rapidly toward 1982. The W.P. Eckenrode, the multi-millionaire rancher from Oklahoma, has been a prominent figure in recent years. He is now reportedly visiting Mexico to study its politics and economy. His trip comes amid a growing interest in Mexico's future among U.S. investors and policymakers.

Nature Fights Back

Paul Harvey

There are few things more beautiful than a sunset, and few places more scenic than the desert. But when nature retaliates, it can be a devastating force. In the Arizona desert, a sandstorm raged for several hours, causing damage to crops and homes.

Nongraded Classes Popular

Tom Braden

The idea of nongraded classes is gaining momentum in some schools. Instead of traditional grades, students are assessed on their progress and mastery of the material. This approach is believed to be more effective and less stressful for students.

Surprises In Store For Tuesday’s NFL Draft

In a year of surprises, Tuesday’s NFL Draft is bound to be a whirlwind of transactions. The Dallas Cowboys, who were predicted to have a quiet night, are now looking at early rounds to make significant picks. The New England Patriots are expected to make a splash, while the San Francisco 49ers are preparing to surprise the league. The Denver Broncos could also be active, looking to bolster their roster. Expect the unexpected as the NFL Draft unfolds.

Cowboys’ Proficiency Now Under Analysis

In a recent examination of the Dallas Cowboys, analysts have noted a decline in their performance. The team’s offensive line, which was once considered a strength, has struggled in recent games. The defense, which has been inconsistent, is also under scrutiny. The Cowboys’ coaching staff is now facing pressure to make changes that will improve the team’s overall performance. With a new season just around the corner, the Cowboys need to address these issues if they hope to compete for a playoff spot.

City To Host Gal Netters

The city is gearing up for a major event as Gal Netters, a popular women’s basketball team, is set to host a tournament. The event will feature top players from across the country, and fans are excited to see the action. The city council has invested heavily in the event, and the expectations are high. The tournament is expected to attract a significant number of visitors, boosting the local economy.

State Seeking New Hunting Locations

The state is on the lookout for new places to host hunting activities. With the prospect of expanding the hunting season, the state is looking to increase revenue. The new locations are expected to attract more tourists, and the state is hoping to increase the economic impact of the hunting industry. The state wildlife department is working on identifying new areas that will meet the criteria for hunting.

Kelly Now Has Different Attitude

Kelly, a well-known figure in the community, has undergone a significant change in attitude. After years of controversy, Kelly is now focused on making a positive impact. The change has been noticed by many, and the community is hopeful that Kelly will continue to make a difference. Kelly’s new attitude is expected to inspire others to make positive changes in their lives.

Berrigan Trial Makes Impact On Harrisburg

The Berrigan trial has had a significant impact on Harrisburg. The case, which involved peaceful protests against the Vietnam War, has sparked debates about free speech and the role of the government. The trial has also highlighted the importance of protecting civil rights. The impact of the trial is expected to last for years to come, shaping the discourse around social issues.

Hijacker ‘James Bond Type’

A man who hijacked a plane has been described as a ‘James Bond type’. The man, who is believed to be a trained pilot, used the hijacking as an opportunity to get away from his criminal activities. The man has been linked to several heists and is suspected of being involved in other criminal activities. The authorities are now trying to track him down and bring him to justice.

Mansfield Urges Delay On Welfare

Mansfield has called for a delay on welfare reform. The proposed changes would have a significant impact on vulnerable populations, and Mansfield believes that more time is needed to assess the potential consequences. The delay is expected to last for several months, giving Mansfield and others time to work on a more equitable solution.

Slayings Conspiracy?

A man who killed five people in a small town is being investigated for a possible conspiracy. The man, who has a history of violence, is believed to be involved in a larger criminal network. The investigation is ongoing, and the authorities are working to gather evidence to prove the conspiracy.

JAN 30
FOR BILLY FRICK

I understand you listed the Adolf Hitler installment for the "Appointment with Destiny" series in Germany. How did the people respond to this because of your role as Hitler in the movie? —Thaddeus Jackson, Sacramento, Calif.

I saw the film and I agree that it was a good effort. However, I think you might have overlooked the fact that the series was about the experience and legacy of Hitler in Germany. While your portrayal was certainly effective, I believe there were some inaccuracies in the depiction of his personal life and political career. It's important to remember that the film was intended as a dramatic interpretation, rather than a historical documentation.

FOR SHIRLEY JONES of "The Partridge Family"

You were so nice to me during the filming of "The Partridge Family." I hope you remember me. —Carolyn Smith, Los Angeles, Calif.

I'm sorry, but I'm not sure who you are. I believe you might be confusing me with another actor. If you're referring to me, please provide more context or clarify your question so I can better assist you.

FOR MICKY SPILLANE

Why did you become a writer? —Dorothy D. Pinto, Denver, Colo.

I became a writer because I enjoyed reading and writing stories. I wanted to share my own experiences and insights with others through my writing. I believe that storytelling is a powerful way to connect with people and to explore important themes and ideas.

FOR ARA PAKHANIAN

You played the lead role in "Hollywood Behind the Scenes." How did you prepare for the role? —Alice Brown, Los Angeles, Calif.

For the role in "Hollywood Behind the Scenes," I studied the life and work of the film director during the silent era. I also worked with a historical consultant to ensure the accuracy of the portrayal. I aimed to capture the passion and dedication of the director, as well as the challenges he faced in the early days of film making.

FOR JOE FRATTER

I was having a hard time in college. What advice would you give to someone in my situation? —John Smith, Boston, Mass.

As a former student myself, I understand the challenges you may be facing. My advice is to stay focused on your goals and to seek out support from friends, family, or academic advisors. It's important to take care of yourself and to prioritize self-care. Remember, there are resources available to help you through this difficult time.

FOR EVEL KNIEVEL

I'm interested in learning more about your motorcycle stunts. Can you share some stories about your experiences? —Mark Johnson, Orlando, Fla.

I've always been fascinated by Evel Knievel's daring stunts. I've heard stories about his failed attempts to cross the Snake River Canyon on a 1973 World War I tank, and his daring Evel Knievel Stunt Show, where he supposedly rode a jet-powered motorcycle over a pack of bison. These stories highlight the risk and excitement of Knievel's performances.

FOR LINDA DAY GEORGE

I'm interested in learning more about your work in the women's liberation movement. —Martha Johnson, Los Angeles, Calif.

I was a part of the women's liberation movement, and I believe in the importance of fighting for gender equality. I've been an advocate for women's rights, and I've worked to challenge gender stereotypes and societal expectations. I believe in the power of unity and solidarity to create social change.

FOR CAY TALLES, author of "Tender for the Father"

I was surprised to learn that you were a former broadcast journalist. How did you make the transition to writing? —James Anderson, Los Angeles, Calif.

I'm glad you found my work interesting. As a former broadcast journalist, I found that writing allowed me to explore deeper themes and to shift my focus from news reporting to more personal storytelling. I've always been interested in the human experience, and I wanted to share these stories with others through my writing.

FOR BILL STEWART

What was your message in "The American Premiere"? —Robert Jones, Los Angeles, Calif.

"The American Premiere" was a movie that I directed, and it was made to highlight the challenges and opportunities faced by the new generation of American filmmakers. I wanted to show that the future of cinema belonged to those who were willing to take risks and to push the boundaries of what was possible in the medium.

What a Woman Should Know About Her Husband's Job

Do you understand your husband's work? Reassess it, even! Here, women, to women, are some insights and guidelines to help you better understand that 'mystifying male' in your life—and the eight hours a day he's absent.

By Cathy Stocky

To the woman whose husband works eight hours a day, the 24 hours of his day are divided into three parts: the hours spent at work, the hours spent on his hobbies, and the hours spent with his family. In between, there are the times when he's alone or with friends. In the eight hours he's away from home, he's still at work—trying to answer the following five questions: What does your husband do? What are his hobbies? Where does he go? What does he think? And what does he feel?

1. What does your husband do? First, you must learn the basic facts of his work. Then, you must learn how to understand what he's doing. This is easier said than done. You may not be able to understand what your husband is doing, even if he explains it to you. He may not be able to explain it to you, even if he wants to. And even if he does explain it to you, you may not be able to understand it.

2. What are his hobbies? Your husband's hobbies are important to you, but they are not as important as his work. While he may enjoy his hobbies, they are not as important as his work. Your husband's work is his main source of income, and his hobbies are his way of relaxing and having fun. If you want to understand your husband, you must understand his work.

3. Where does he go? Your husband's work may take him to places you don't know about. He may go to places you don't know about, even if he tells you where he's going. He may go to places you don't know about, even if he doesn't tell you where he's going. If you want to understand your husband, you must understand his work.

4. What does he think? Your husband's thoughts are important to you, but they are not as important as his work. While he may think about his work, his thoughts are not as important as his work. Your husband's work is his main source of income, and his thoughts are his way of dealing with his work. If you want to understand your husband, you must understand his work.

5. What does he feel? Your husband's feelings are important to you, but they are not as important as his work. While he may feel about his work, his feelings are not as important as his work. Your husband's work is his main source of income, and his feelings are his way of dealing with his work. If you want to understand your husband, you must understand his work.

A Parents' Guide to Their Teens

The fact that a performer has become a "household name" doesn't mean that everyone in the household recognizes it. Here's how:

POP ROCK

When three Dog Night decided it was time to move on, they went their separate ways, but now the members of the former band have reunited for their first ... night. The result is a new album, "Volcanic Rock," featuring the hit "Ain't No Easy Way."

VOCAL ROCK

Jackson 5 (ages 8-11)

The vocal rock sensation of the moment, the Jackson 5 have been captivating audiences with their harmonious singing and contagious energy. Their latest album, "Greatest Hits," features hits like "I Want You Back" and "Baby Love."

Recording Idols

By Loraine Alterman

poor bright-eyed parents wonder: Is this the end of an era?...it's Jackson 5's last recording session. But not before a tour of the studio...

Cat Stevens (audience ages 13-21)

When Cat Stevens performs his songs, 15-year-old girls shriek and weep. "Child's Talk," just out, is a sensitive, introspective album. Stevens, once the swinging young folk singer, is now a deep-voiced, mature artist. His songs reflect the maturity of his listeners.

Red Stewart (audience ages 13-21)

If you're a rock idol, you can go back to school and still be cool. Red Stewart, who has emerged from the college circuit, has released a new album, "Starry Eyed," which showcases his powerful vocals.

Carole King (audience ages 15-21)

On the heels of her recent success with "Tapestry," Carole King is back with a new album, "I Feel the Earth Move." Her fans are eager to hear what the singer/songwriter has in store for them.

Black Sabbath (audience ages 13-21)

The Sabbath's "self-titled" album is a hard rock masterpiece. With its heavy, driving rhythms and distorted guitars, it captivates audiences.

Three Dog Night (audience ages 12-16)

Three Dog Night has always been a hit with teenagers. Their latest album, "Never on Sunday," features hits like "Joy to the World" and "Sherry."

Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young (audience ages 14-21)

The band's latest album, "Déjà Vu," is a collection of songs that explores themes of love, nature, and the state of the world.

Hard Rock

When the crowd is up, the energy is high. In this atmosphere, rock bands like Black Sabbath and Three Dog Night can truly come alive.

Grand Funk Railroad (audience ages 13-21)

The band's latest album, "Funkier Than a Mosquito's Fart," is a hard rock extravaganza. With its powerful guitar riffs and driving bass lines, it's a must-listen for fans of the genre.

Emerson, Lake & Palmer (audience ages 13-21)

The band's latest album, "Tales of Lady Madigan," is a symphonic rock masterpiece. With its orchestral arrangements and powerful vocals, it's a true listening experience.
Cucumbers and Beauty

by ANA MAE

Cucumbers are the closest thing to youth that I have found. The skin of the cucumber is smooth, and the cucumber itself is cool and refreshing. I use it as a face mask, and I find that it helps to reduce redness and inflammation. It also helps to tighten the skin, which I find beneficial for acne-prone skin.

The cucumber is rich in antioxidants, which help to protect the skin from damage caused by free radicals. It is also high in fiber, which can help to improve digestion and keep you feeling full longer.

In addition to these benefits, cucumbers are also a good source of vitamin K, which helps to promote healthy skin and bone health. Overall, cucumbers are a great addition to any skincare routine.

Gloria Swanson: "The Right Food Can Be Our Best Medicine"

"At my age, everyone should be in the shape of his or her best self," said Gloria Swanson, who turns 70 this month. "I try to eat a balanced diet and exercise every day to maintain my health." Swanson believes that nutrition plays a key role in maintaining her youthful appearance.

She credits her good health to a strict diet and regular exercise. "I eat mostly natural foods, such as fruits and vegetables, and I try to avoid processed foods," she said. "I also try to drink plenty of water and get plenty of sleep." Swanson is a firm believer in the healing power of food and believes that it is essential for maintaining good health.

Swanson's philosophy is not only for the elderly. "Everyone should eat a healthy diet and exercise regularly," she said. "It's never too late to start taking care of your body."

The actress is known for her love of food and her attention to detail. "I'm a very particular eater," she said. "I like to know exactly what's in my food and how it's prepared." Swanson is aordonatee of the American Museum of Natural History in New York City.

Do You Really Know The Rules Of Good Health?

"I eat a lot of fresh fruits and vegetables, and I try to limit my intake of processed foods and sugary drinks," she said. "I also try to get plenty of exercise, whether it's a walk or a workout at the gym."

Swanson's philosophy is not only for her personal health. "I think it's important for society to take a stand against unhealthy products," she said. "We need to promote a culture of health and wellness, and I believe that starting with yourself is the best way to do that."

Swanson's message is one of hope and encouragement. "Age is just a number," she said. "It's never too late to start taking care of yourself."

PET CORNER/By Felicia Ames

like It or Not, Pup Needs These Shots

The first of the year may mean many new dog owners welcoming into their homes a new member of the family. However, just like any new addition, these furry friends need to be properly vaccinated to ensure their health.

The American Animal Hospital Association recommends that dogs receive a series of vaccinations starting at about 6 to 8 weeks of age. These vaccines help to protect against diseases such as distemper, parvovirus, and hepatitis.

It is important to follow the vaccination schedule provided by your veterinarian. It is also important to keep your pet up-to-date on booster shots throughout their life.

Many pet owners also choose to have their dogs vaccinated against rabies. This vaccine is important to protect against this deadly virus, which can be transmitted to humans.

In addition to vaccinations, it is also important to keep your pet up-to-date on heartworm prevention. This is a parasite that can cause serious health problems in dogs.

If you have any questions about your pet's health or vaccines, be sure to speak with your veterinarian. They can provide you with the information you need to keep your pet healthy and happy.

The first of the year may mean many new dog owners welcoming into their homes a new member of the family. However, just like any new addition, these furry friends need to be properly vaccinated to ensure their health.

The American Animal Hospital Association recommends that dogs receive a series of vaccinations starting at about 6 to 8 weeks of age. These vaccines help to protect against diseases such as distemper, parvovirus, and hepatitis.

It is important to follow the vaccination schedule provided by your veterinarian. It is also important to keep your pet up-to-date on booster shots throughout their life.

Many pet owners also choose to have their dogs vaccinated against rabies. This vaccine is important to protect against this deadly virus, which can be transmitted to humans.

In addition to vaccinations, it is also important to keep your pet up-to-date on heartworm prevention. This is a parasite that can cause serious health problems in dogs.

If you have any questions about your pet's health or vaccines, be sure to speak with your veterinarian. They can provide you with the information you need to keep your pet healthy and happy.

I went on the warpath and lost 55 pounds.

By Shirley Paul—As told to Ruth L. McCarthy

At 180 pounds, you're pushing up if you're not used to wearing a suit anymore.

Pizza chips, pop, pie, layers of bread and butter, even the smallest snacks add up to 100 pounds in 21 years.

"Shana fi" is what I used to call all the junk I withheld during my pregnancy. I'd had a baby, but I had to be careful.

I'd made a pact with my husband and my doctor, and I'd made it clear that I was going to lose weight.

"Aphrodite" is what I called my new body. I was still not satisfied, though, so I started exercising and eating healthier.

I'd been through so much in my life, and I knew I had to take control of my weight.

I've been on the warpath ever since, and I've lost 55 pounds. It's been a long battle, but I've finally come out on top.
